REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee, to whom was referred the duty of framing a code of rules for this convention, have had the subject under advisement, and instruct me to report the result of their deliberations on the subject.

Your committee have prepared, and instruct me to tender herewith, a code of rules which they think will be found to answer the ends intended. The convention will observe that their committee have had an eye, in the frame of rules submitted, to simplicity and perspicuity, feeling unwilling to trammel the officers or the convention with unnecessary restrictions or rules, which in any way may conduce to stifle investigation and free discussion of the great questions likely to arise during the deliberations of this convention.

Your committee desire also to say that the rules prepared are submitted with the unanimous approval of their entire body, and beg leave to recommend that as few amendments be made by the convention as may be, feeling assured, as your committee are, that efforts to amend, to any considerable extent, will result in deranging the entire code as proposed; all of which is respectfully submitted, and your committee ask to be discharged from further duties in the premises.

HANLY, Chairman.

Which was read and received.

Mr. Fishback moved to amend the first clause of the third rule, by striking out the words, "the president may speak to points of order in preference to other members," and inserting, "the president shall decide questions of order without debate, subject to appeal to the convention."

After the reading of the report of Mr. Hanly, as chairman of the above named committee, Mr. Fishback moved that the rules governing the General Assembly be adopted, while the report is under consideration.

Mr. President decided the motion out of order, but leave being granted, Mr. Fishback renewed his motion, which was carried.

Mr. Fishback also proposed to amend the 20th rule, as reported by said committee, by striking out the words, "and a call of the previous question shall not be allowed in this convention," and inserting, "and the previous question may be called and decided by a vote of the convention, without debate; Provided, also, That such previous question shall apply only to incidental questions, and not to the main question."

Mr. Garland, of Hempstead, moved to amend the 35th rule, by striking out the words, "the business of the convention shall be suspended until those absent are brought in," and inserting in lieu thereof, "on the call of the house the business then pending, shall be suspended for one hour, and the absent members sent for, at the end of which time the roll shall again be called, the absent members noted, and the business suspended, upon the call, shall progress, if it appear that a quorum be present; Provided, however, That should the absent members appear sooner, the business then pending shall progress before the expiration of the time."

Which three amendments were severally accepted, and the report, as amended, was adopted.

Mr. Floyd moved that the code of rules adopted be engrossed, and that 200 copies be printed for the use of the convention; which motion prevailed.

Mr. Garland asked and obtained leave to withdraw the resolution offered by him on yesterday, relative to appointing three committees.

Mr. Grace then withdrew the substitute for said resolution, offered by him on yesterday.

Mr. Stillwell offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the President appoint a sergeant-at-arms, in accordance with the rules.

Which resolution was adopted, and Mr. President thereupon appointed Mr. T. J. Hampton, as such sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. Batson offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That all ordinances which may be passed, and such resolutions as may be adopted by the convention, in relation to the state of the country, shall be enrolled, and that the secretary be required to have the same done in a proper manner.

Which resolution was adopted.

Mr. Floyd moved to adjourn, but by request withdrew the motion.

Mr. Batson moved that the President appoint an engrossing and enrolling clerk, but objections being made, withdrew the same.

Mr. Turner offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the President do now appoint a committee on elections, and that such committee be instructed to report at the earliest hour practicable, upon the election of members of this convention.

Which was adopted, and Mr. President thereupon appointed Messrs. Kennard, Bussey, Jester, Bush and Ray, such committee.

On motion of Mr. Floyd, the convention adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

President.

The journal of yesterday was read, approved and signed.

Mr. Kennard, from the committee on elections, appointed by the President on yesterday, made the following

REPORT :

MR. PRESIDENT—

Your committee on elections respectfully report that they have examined the official returns of the votes cast for delegates to this convention, in each county in the state, as the same are on file in the office of the secretary of state, and that, from said returns, it appears that the report of the secretary of state, laid before the convention heretofore, in response to a resolution calling on him for a list of the names of delegates to this convention, correctly states the names of the delegates elected from all the counties in the state, except the county of Fulton. In Fulton county, no person having received a majority of all the votes cast, no delegate to this convention was elected.

Your committee are of opinion, however, that S. W. Cochran, who, as returning officer, brought up here the vote of the county of Fulton, and has been admitted to a seat on the floor of the convention during its preliminary proceedings, under all the circumstances of the case, should be allowed mileage, and per diem pay, as other delegates, for the time he has waited the action of this committee.

Your committee recommend the adoption of the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That there being no delegate elected to this convention from the county of Fulton, the President of this convention is hereby required to appoint a day for holding an election in said county to elect a delegate from said county to this convention, and that the governor issue his proclamation to the sheriff of said county, to hold said election on the day appointed, in conformity to the provisions of the act of the legislature calling this convention.

KENNARD, Chairman.

Which report was received.

Mr. Hanly, as chairman of the committee appointed on yesterday, to wait upon Hon. A. C. Spain, commissioner from South Carolina, then introduced him to the President, who, in turn, introduced him to the convention; who, after a few remarks, took his seat within the bar of the convention.

Mr. Johnson, from a similar committee, appointed to wait upon the Hon. D. P. Hill, commissioner from the State of Georgia, introduced him to the President and the convention, who also took his seat within the bar of the convention.

Mr. Turner moved the adoption of the resolution reported by the committee on elections.

Mr. Totten of Prairie, offered the following as a substitute:

WHEREAS, The vote in the county of Fulton, between S. W. Cochran and S. H. Wren, competing candidates for a seat in this convention, was a tie vote; by reason whereof, the said county of Fulton has no full representation in this convention; and whereas, it is desirable that every county should be represented on the momentous issues now pending before this convention; and whereas, it is deemed impossible to have a new election held in the said county of Fulton, preceded by due notice to the people thereof, in time to be available for this convention; therefore,

Resolved, That the said S. W. Cochran, and the said S. H. Wren, be each entitled to a seat on this floor, with the power of casting but one vote between them; and that the power of voting, on the part of the said S. W. Cochran, be in abeyance until the arrival of the said S. H. Wren; and that each of the said delegates be entitled to the like mileage and per diem as other members of this convention.

Mr. Mansfield moved to lay the substitute on the table.

Mr. Gould offered to amend the substitute of Mr. Totten, by adding the words: "providing the sitting delegate shall retain his seat here until the other delegate from Fulton shall arrive;" which amendment, Mr. President decided out of order, and stated the question to be upon laying the substitute of Mr. Totten on the table.

On which, Mr. Thomason called for the yeas and nays, and the call being sustained, was ordered, and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Austin, Baber, Bolinger, Batson, Bradley, Bush, Bussey, Campbell, Carrigan, Cypert, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Fishback, Fort, Garland of Hempstead, Garland of Pulaski, Griffith, Gunter, Hill, Hobbs, Hobson, Jackson, Jester, Kelly, Kennard, Mansfield, Mayo, Murphy, Parks, Patterson of Jackson, Patterson of Van Buren, Robinson, Smith, Stallings, Stillwell, Stirman, Stout, Thomason, Turner, Walker, Watkins, Williams, Yell and Mr. President—45.

YAYS—Adams of Phillips, Clingman, Crenshaw, Cryer, Echols, Flanagan, Floyd, Fuller, Gould, Grace, Hanly, Hawkins of Ashley, Hawkins of Sevier, Hilliard, Johnson, Lanier, Laughinghouse, Ray, Rhodes, Shelton, Slemmons, Smoote, Tatum, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie, and Wallace—27.

So the substitute was laid on the table.

Mr. Gould offered the following amendment to the resolution reported by the committee:

“ Provided, That until a delegate is elected from Fulton county, by virtue of such election, the sitting delegate shall be entitled to his seat.”

Mr. Cypert moved to lay said amendment on the table.

On which motion, Mr. Jester called for the yeas and nays; which call being sustained, was ordered, and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Austin, Baber, Batson, Bolinger, Bradley, Bush, Bussey, Campbell, Carrigan, Cypert, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Fishback, Flanagan, Fort, Garland of Hempstead, Garland of Pulaski, Griffith, Gunter, Hill, Hobbs, Hobson, Jackson, Jester, Kelley, Kennard, Laughinghouse, Mansfield, Mayo, Murphy, Parks, Patterson of Jackson, Patterson of Van Buren, Smith, Stallings, Stillwell, Stirman, Stout, Thomason, Totten of Arkansas, Turner, Walker, Watkins, Williams, and Mr. President—47.

So the amendment was laid upon the table.

Mr. Mansfield moved to adopt the original resolution.

Mr. Thomason called for the yeas and nays; which call being sustained, was ordered, and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Austin, Baber, Batson, Bolinger, Bradley, Bush, Bussey, Campbell, Carrigan, Clingman, Crenshaw, Cypert, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Fishback, Flanagan, Floyd, Fort, Fuller, Garland of Hempstead, Garland of Pulaski, Gould, Griffith, Gunter, Hanly, Hawkins of Ashley, Hill, Hilliard, Hobbs, Hobson, Jackson, Jester, Kelley, Kennard, Lanier, Laughinghouse, Mansfield, Mayo, Murphy, Parks, Patterson of Jackson, Patterson of Van Buren, Ray, Rhodes, Robinson, Shelton, Slemons, Smith, Smoote, Stallings, Stillwell, Stirman, Stout, Tatum, Thomason, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie, Turner, Walker, Watkins and Williams—62.

NAYS—Messrs. Adams of Phillips, Cryer, Echols, Grace, Hawkins of Sevier, Johnson, Wallace and Yell—8.

So the resolution was adopted.

Mr. President, under the rule adopted by this convention, laid before it the following list of committees:

On Federal Relations—Messrs. Turner, Hanly, Johnson, Garland of Pulaski, Totten of Prairie, Watkins, Desha, Patterson of Jackson, Flanagan, Hobson, Cypert, Batson and Carrigan.

On State Affairs—Messrs. Mansfield, Stirman, Adams of Phillips, Dinsmore, Stillwell, Hilliard, Totten of Arkansas and Smith.

On Militia—Messrs. Yell, Campbell, Fishback, Mayo, Hawkins of Sevier, Wallace, Baber, Hobbs, Bradley, Walker and Fuller.

On Ways and Means—Messrs. Stallings, Gunter, Griffith, Floyd and Smoote.

Mr. Totten, of Arkansas, presented the following

RESOLUTIONS:

Resolved, That the inaugural of Mr. Lincoln, President of the United States, is, and should be, regarded as a menace, involving the inhuman doctrine of coercion, against which Arkansas should pledge herself to resistance, by all she holds sacred on earth, as long as she has a dollar to spend or a son to defend her.

Resolved, That the assembling of an army at Washington, under the plea that there would be an attempt on the capital, was but a miserable pretext, poorly disguised—the true object being, first, to intimidate us into submission; and if that failed, then to carry out the policy indicated in his inaugural address, which is both humiliating to southern honor and destructive to southern interest.

Resolved, That the vast preparations for war, manifested in assembling the navy from foreign stations—the building of new ships of war—the passage of the laws by Congress authorizing the raising of large bodies of troops, and the collection of military stores—the appropriation of large sums of money from the federal treasury—the declared purpose of the President in his inaugural, to recapture the forts, arsenals and public buildings in the seven States that have seceded from the Federal Union, are an unquestionable declaration of war against those States, and afford unmistakable evidence that it is the intention of the administration of the federal government to precipitate the people of those states into all the horrors incident to a civil war, and that the declared intention of the President also contained in his late inaugural, to collect the revenues and duties in those states, is a further manifestation of said purpose.

Resolved, That in so trying an emergency there is but one path left for Arkansas to tread with honor, and that is found in the instant dissolution of those ties that bind her to her oppressor, and the assertion of her rights, by all the means which God has given her—making a common cause with those who are ready to live or die with her.

Mr. Kelley moved that the resolutions be referred to the committee on federal relations.

Mr. Totten stated that he had moved to adopt the resolutions, and spoke some time in their favor; when

Mr. Thomason, by leave, moved to adjourn until 10 o'clock.

Mr. Floyd moved to adjourn until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

On which motion, Mr. Mansfield called for the yeas and nays; which call being sustained, was ordered, and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Adams of Phillips, Baber, Bussey, Cryer, Echols, Floyd, Fuller, Hanly, Hawkins of Ashley, Hilliard, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie, and Yell—14.

NAYS—Messrs. Austin, Batson, Bolinger, Bradley, Bush, Campbell, Carrigan, Clingman, Crenshaw, Cypert, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Fishback, Fort, Garland of Hempstead, Garland of Pulaski, Gould, Grace, Griffith, Gunter, Hawkins of Ashley, Hill, Hobbs, Hobson, Jackson, Jester, Johnson, Kelley, Kennard, Lanier, Laughinghouse, Mansfield, Mayo, Murphy, Parks, Patterson of Jackson, Patterson of Van Buren, Ray, Rhodes, Robinson, Shelton, Slemons, Smith, Smoote, Stallings, Stillwell, Stirman, Stout, Tatum, Thomason, Turner, Walker, Wallace, Watkins, Williams and Mr. President—57.

So the convention refused to adjourn until 10 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. Watkins moved to take a recess until 2½ o'clock, p. m., which motion prevailed, and the convention adjourned until that hour.

Resolved further, That his excellency be, and he is hereby requested to communicate, at his earliest convenience, to this convention, all the information in his possession touching the seizure of the United States arsenal at this place, and of the causes, if any, which "precipitated" that movement.

Which amendment was accepted by Mr. Floyd, and the resolution, as amended, was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Yell, the convention adjourned until to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

Journal of yesterday read, approved and signed.

Mr. Dinsmore asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Jackson.

Mr. President then laid before the convention the following communication from the governor:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Little Rock, }
March 8th, 1861. }

Hon. DAVID WALKER,

President of the State Convention:

I have had the honor of receiving a resolution passed by your honorable body as follows:

Resolved, That there being no delegate elected to this convention from the county of Fulton, the president of this convention is hereby required to appoint a day for holding an election in said county, to elect a delegate from said county to this convention, and that the governor issue his proclamation to the sheriff of said county, to hold said election, on the day appointed, in conformity to the provisions of the act of the legislature calling this convention."

With all deference to the views of the convention, the executive perceives no authority under the constitution or laws of this state, by which he is authorized to issue a proclamation requiring an election to be held for a delegate to this convention on any other than the 18th day of February last, which duty he has performed as required by an act of the General Assembly, 14th January.

That act makes no provision, however, for a second election in case of a tie vote, and the executive possessing no political power except that with which he is clothed under the existing constitution, the right of the people to assemble in convention to change their status with the federal government, or to consider and pass upon the propriety of doing so, is among the reserved rights delegated to no department of the government and to be exercised upon their own volition and by their authority.

The bill passed by the legislature and sanctioned by me, would seem to derogate from this principle; but in co-operating with that body in this particular, I hold the act passed calling the people together as merely suggestive, directory in its nature, as matter of convenience, coming from the law making power, entertaining no doubt now or then, that a majority of the people themselves, or through delegates chosen at their own will, could assemble in convention and pass upon the future status of their government, relatively considering the formation of new governments or the preservation of old ones.

If I am correct in these opinions, it follows necessarily that a proclamation issued by me, without law, requiring a subordinate officer to do an act which the people have not authorized him, nor myself, to perform, would trench upon their reserved rights, and savor strongly of usurpation.

The right does exist somewhere to perform this necessary act, and, in my opinion, is clearly within the scope of powers resting in the convention; it is the prerogative of the people to form and remodel governments; the duty of the legislature to enact the laws, with a judiciary to expound, and an executive to enforce them.

But again; can the convention empower the governor (as by this resolution) to perform a ministerial act? I think not under our present system.

The questions involved, however, are by no means free from doubt and difficulty, and I present them for your consideration, hoping that a reconsideration of the resolution may relieve the subject from its present embarrassments.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HENRY M. RECTOR.

Governor of Arkansas.

Mr. Turner moved the reference of the communication to the committee on elections; which motion prevailed, and the communication was referred.

Mr. Floyd asked and obtained leave to present the following report from a select committee:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The select committee, to whom was assigned the duty to call on his excellency, Gov. Henry M. Rector, and request him to lay before the convention any information in his possession touching the political condition of the State of Arkansas, would most respectfully

REPORT:

That they have performed the duty required of them, and his excellency, Gov. Rector, requested them to say to the convention that he will be ready to make his communication at 10½ o'clock this day.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

FLOYD, Chairman.

Which report was received.

Mr. Smith offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the committee on state affairs be requested to investigate and report as to the amount annually expended out of the treasury of the United States, for the purpose of regulating our intercourse with the Indian nations, on our western frontier. To contractors and others, for the transportation of the mails in this state, over and above or under the receipts for said transportation; for the maintenance of the federal courts in this state, and also for any and all other purposes whatsoever, within and for the use and benefit of said state, and that said committee also report as to the financial means and resources of the State of Arkansas, to maintain her position, in the event that the people of this state should, at any time, for the preservation of her rights and institutions, deem it necessary to sever, and should sever their connection with the federal government of the said United States, and that said committee report on all the matters aforesaid, at the earliest practicable period, to this convention, and that the officers of this state be required to furnish said committee with any and all statistical information in their possession, relative to the matters aforesaid, when requested by said committee so to do.

On motion of Mr. Stillwell, the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Carrigan offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the president appoint a committee of five on printing, whose duty it shall be to inquire into the prices of printing and to contract with a suitable person to perform the printing of this convention.

After a short debate, Mr. Carrigan, by leave, withdrew his resolution.

Mr. Smoote offered the following resolutions, which he asked should be referred to the committee on ordinances and resolutions:

1st. Resolved, That the platform of the party known as the black republican party, contains unconstitutional dogmas, dangerous in their tendency and highly derogatory to the rights of slave states, and among them the insulting, injurious and untruthful enunciation of the right of the African race in this country to social and political equality with the whites.

2d. Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention, from the past history of the party, known as the black republican party—from the past action of its leaders, and their course in the present crisis, and from the acts, utterances and conduct of its newly elected president, that said party intends to abide by and carry out, if possible, its insulting and unconstitutional platform.

3d. Resolved, That the seceded states have ample justification for having dissolved the ties which bound them to the old Federal Union, in the constant and unconstitutional political warfare made by the party, known as the black republican party, upon the institutions of the slave states, which warfare has culminated in the election of a president by that party, by a purely sectional vote—upon an unconstitutional platform, the principles of which, if carried out, would utterly ruin the South.

4th. Resolved, That this convention cannot shut its eyes upon the fact that the government of the United States is now under the control of said black republican party, and that said party has power to use every arm of the same, except, perhaps, the judicial.

5th. Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention it is a conclusion clearly resulting from the foregoing that every feeling of honor, interest and sympathy demand that the State of Arkansas should discontinue her present political relations with the United States of America, and unite herself with the Confederate States of America.

Mr. Kelley moved to refer said resolutions to the committee on federal relations; but afterwards withdrew his motion.

Mr. Bush offered the following as a substitute:

Resolved, That if the republican party should increase in strength, and thereby be able to carry out its purposes in the federal government, Arkansas, acting in concert with her sister border states, has ample means of resistance, and is fully able at any time to resist any unconstitutional aggressions, and we have no need, therefore, to adopt, hastily, this last resort.

Mr. Floyd moved its reference to the committee on resolutions and ordinances.

Mr. Kelley moved to refer the original resolutions and substitute to the committee on federal relations; which motion prevailed.

Mr. Johnson offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That any attempt to reinforce any of the forts, now held by the government of Lincoln, in the southern states, the first gun fired, in hostility against the seceding states, will be considered as coercion, and will be resisted by all the power of the state government of Arkansas.

Mr. Smoote moved to refer said resolution to the committee on federal relations; which motion prevailed, and the resolution was referred.

Mr. Fishback rose to a personal explanation, and called the attention of the convention to a part of the proceedings, as reported in the True Democrat of the 7th inst., which, he said, were calculated to misrepresent him, and assured the convention that he intended no disrespect to any person whatever.

Mr. Echols offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That this convention fully recognizes the independence of the government known as the "Confederate States of America."

Mr. Echols moved its adoption.

Mr. Garland, of Hempstead, moved its rejection, and on the motion called for the yeas and nays.

Mr. Baber moved a call of the convention.

Mr. Gould moved that the resolution be referred to the committee on federal relations.

Mr. Garland, of Hempstead, stated that he intended moving a postponement, and not a rejection of the resolution.

Mr. President stated the question to be on the postponement of the resolution.

Mr. Echols asked leave to withdraw the resolution, for the purpose of presenting a substitute; which was decided out of order.

The following message was received from the governor, by the hands of his private secretary:

MR. PRESIDENT—

I am instructed by his excellency, the governor, to communicate to your honor, the following letter, and to your very honorable body, the accompanying message.

Respectfully,

W. M. MATHENY,

Private Secretary.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,

Little Rock, Ark.,

March 9th, 1861. }

HON. DAVID WALKER,

President of the State Convention:

SIR—I have the honor of receiving through the committee, appointed for that purpose, the resolution passed by your honorable body, requesting me to lay before the convention all the information in my possession, touching the political condition of the State of Arkansas, and further, that I communicate at my earliest convenience, all the information in my possession touching the seizure of the United States Arsenal, at this place.

In reply, I beg leave to communicate an address substantially responsive to the requests contained in said resolution.

There is one modification, however, that I desire to make, of the views expressed in said address, dated 2d March, to-wit: that intervening the passage of an ordinance—and the submission of the same to the people, for ratification, if the policy of coercion be practically adopted by the administration at Washington, that you define the condition of Arkansas to be one of neutrality, armed if necessary, until the final question shall be determined through the ballot box.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

HENRY M. RECTOR,

Governor of Arkansas.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,

Little Rock, March 2d, 1861. }

Gentlemen of the Convention:

By authority of the people, acting in their sovereign capacity, you are assembled in convention, clothed with plenary powers to “alter, reform or abolish their government” in such manner as you may think proper.

The constitution of the State of Arkansas declares, "that all power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their peace, safety and happiness," and to these ends, may be abolished or reformed at pleasure.

In deference to uniform precedent, and with great respect to an assemblage, charged with such important duties, I have conceived it to be my duty to address you touching the momentous questions that imperil the honor, the lives, and the fortunes of our people.

No period in American history, nor any connected with the administrative policy of the civilized world, has imposed more solemn, more responsible, or more delicate duties upon an assemblage of men, than those which now devolve upon you whom I have the honor of addressing—and though with infinite distrust of my own abilities, I have, in the past, and shall continue in the future, to meet the grave questions at issue—as an honest man should do, who is willing to devote his honor, his life and his fortunes to the cause of his country. Unfortunate it may prove in future for the cause of civil liberty, that the American government, made up of confederated states—peopled from a common ancestry, and deriving the inestimable blessing of republican liberty from a common fountain, have from antagonistic, domestic and social institutions become alienated—distrustful and inimical to each other—until the ligaments of the Union, once like hooks of steel, have been severed so insensibly as almost to defy realization. On the 12th of December last, then, whilst American history had not recorded the separation of the United States—I communicated to the General Assembly what seemed to my mind an inevitable result, to-wit: that the union of the states was no longer an existing fact, and which succeeding events have too well testified; and that Arkansas, surrounded by inauspicious circumstances, should not hesitate to prepare for coming events, through a council of her people assembled in convention. Procrastination, however, and delay ensued, the legislature seeming to rely chiefly upon the hand of Providence, to stay the wind and dissipate the storm. Men and governments are the architects of their own fortunes, and success crowns those generally who endeavor to help themselves.

The question at issue before the people of Arkansas is, whether their honor, their future safety and happiness now and forever, impels them to separate from the Federal Union, and unite their fortunes with the seven seceding states, or, on the other hand, whether prudential motives shall admonish them to take refuge amidst the fragments of the old Union, hoping for a reconstitution of the government upon terms of honorable equality to the slaveholding states.

Surrounding circumstances are the true indices of all human action. What might have been of dubious propriety on yesterday, often becomes of paramount importance on to-morrow.

The United States, as they originally stood, were composed of thirty-three independent sovereignties—each one the judge of its own wrongs, and of the mode and measure of its redress. Upon this principle and none other, the original compact was formed, uniting each state with the general government. It was a treaty, or alliance of separate and distinct governments, for the purposes of mutual protection against the inroads or aggressions of the more powerful European powers—each state preserving its equality with either, or all the other states combined—inferior to none—the voice of its own people being the superior and ruling authority. The right of secession so implacably assailed, is but the fruit of the American revolution, announced to the world by our forefathers in their declaration of independence, and sealed by their blood at the battles of Monmouth, Bunker Hill and Lexington.

In our own constitution, by the “bill of rights,” the right of the people to reform or abolish their government, is distinctly announced, and is the sheet anchor of their liberties; What would American liberty be worth, if the kingly prerogative existed in the general government to oppress a state, or a section of states, if the power of redress was not held in their own hands? If the states are not the judges of their rights or wrongs, who is the arbiter? Who is the umpire? Some point to the judicial arm of the government as an authority constituted to decide upon the relative rights of the states and the general government. That tribunal, organized to determine the civil rights of individuals, was never intended by its creators as a repository of political power. But whether in legal contemplation, the states have a right to secede or not, has now become entirely unimportant—they have done so, fully, emphatically, and completely—the enigma has been solved by practical demonstration. The golden chains once bracing up the loins of the Union, have been rent in twain by the very hands that forged them. Georgia and South Carolina, matrons among the original thirteen states, have thrown off the galling fetters, and struck a second time for unrestricted liberty.

Since they have exercised this abstract right, are they morally justified in what they have done? Have they in the light of heaven been sinned against, or are they sinning against others? Their offence, like our own, in the eyes of the northern people, is slavery. This institution, co-existent with the remotest periods of civilization, and sanctioned by divine authority, is declared by the president elect, to “be in the course of ultimate extinction." He has declared, and that truly, that the United States government "cannot exist half slave and half free." An irrepressible conflict, says, he, is going on between freedom and slavery. That institution is now upon its trial before you, and if we mean to defend and transmit it to our children, let us terminate this northern crusade, by forming a separate government, in which no conflict can ensue.

But if, upon the other hand, we are prepared to admit the argument, that slavery is a sin—that the melioration of the white and the black races requires us to abolish it, we shall keep in the true line of policy marked out by the incoming President, by remaining in the Union.

Great solace is indulged in by some, that it is the avowed purpose of black republican domination to permit slavery to remain unmolested in the states where it now exists; whilst it is as distinctly announced upon the other hand, that the institution shall be denied all power of expansion over territory now possessed or hereafter to be acquired.

The laws of physical science perceive no stand point, from which there is neither progression nor retrograde action. Peoples, governments, and the institutions of government, must either recede or advance. The area of slavery must be extended correlative with its antagonism, or it will be put speedily in the "course of ultimate extinction." It must invest the southern portion of North America, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, south of 36 deg. and 30 min. north latitude, to be permanent; else when hemmed in by a cordon of fire, "like a scorpion, it will sting itself to death." Put in the bounds, and it will soon have a general goal-delivery.

The extension of slavery is the vital point of the whole controversy between the North and the South, as is plainly manifested by the persistent opposition of the northern people to its being engrafted upon any newly acquired territory, whether south or north of the negro line. Does there exist inside the borders of Arkansas any diversity of sentiment, as to the religious or moral right of holding negro slaves? Do any imagine that the non-slaveholder will be less involved pecuniarily and socially, in the extirpation of this institution than the slaveholder himself. The productive portion of the soil of Arkansas is so geographically circumstanced as to preclude the idea that it can be successfully cultivated by white labor. From these more fertile regions is produced by slave labor in superabundance, the staple commodity, cotton—justly stiled commercial king of Europe and America. From the exportation of this article alone, our people receive annually an influx of capital, which permeates the hill-tops and the valleys of every section and portion of the state. The cotton planter of the South exposed to insubrious climes, indeed is but the factor for his northern neighbor—inhabiting the mountain region, blessed with health, free trade and remunerative prices for his grain, fruit, stock and other articles produced for and sold in a southern market. Who could find a market for the surplus products of North Arkansas, if the more genial soil of the South was deprived of slave labor? God in his omnipotent wisdom, I believe, created the cotton plant—the African slave—and the lower Mississippi valley, to clothe and feed the world, and a gallant race of men and women produced upon its soil to defend it, and execute that decree.

There are two prominent points pressing themselves upon the attention of the people. First—to which portion or fragment of the old Union does Arkansas, by reference to her own interests, owe her allegiance. And in solving this difficulty, I assume that seven states having gone out, there is no Union—no United States government. There being thirty-three states to the compact, if one withdraws, is the compact broken? I think so. If seven withdraw, is it not then broken? That being denied—if thirty withdraw, leaving three behind, do the remaining three constitute the Union? Surely no man would answer that in the affirmative. Then the principle is the same from first to last, whether one or thirty states withdraw—the contract—the agreement—the partnership is dissolved. And each partner, whether by his act or the act of his associate, is released, and stands intact as he did before he signed the articles of agreement. If this course of reasoning is correct, the question for Arkansas to determine, is, whether she will join her sister states of the South, with whom she has a common interest, and must have a common destiny; or whether she will turn her eyes North, to Missouri, Kentucky, Maryland, and the eighteen abolition states, for sympathy and protection. If the cotton states had formed one government, and the border slave states and the North another; when Arkansas asked for admission, to which government would she have turned her attention, seeking an alliance? Certainly not to the northern government, wherein she must perpetually remain subordinate! but to the southern, of which she would have been an equal,

Fifteen southern states have failed in the past to protect slavery—how then can the remaining eight accomplish that object by remaining in the Union? Secondly, the doctrine of coercion announced by Mr. Lincoln, and indorsed recently by the lower house of Congress on the Branch amendment, by a vote of 136 to 53, leaves the whole question of secession or no secession a barren field for argument. The doctrine of coercion now stands at the summit of the controversy. Practically with Arkansas the question is, whether she is willing to contribute men and money to subjugate her southern sisters to the condition of conquered colonies. If she withdraws, she is lawfully relieved at once from the performances of this onerous duty. If she stays in, she must perform it, or rebel against proper authority, and this, when pressed to such a necessity, I believe her people will do. Amendments to the federal constitution are urged by some as a panacea for all the ills that beset us. That instrument is amply sufficient as it now stands, for the protection of southern rigets, if it was only enforced. The South wants practical evidence of good faith from the North, not mere paper agreements and compromises. They believe slavery a sin, we do not, and there lies the trouble.

All confidence is lost and it is too late to repair it. The honor and sensibilities of southern men have been trampled upon and wounded until the two sections stand in undisguised antagonism. What house can stand divided against itself? Let us then separate in peace if possible; if it not, then let it be in war, for separation must come sooner or later, and our danger increases in magnitude.

But with the fifteen slave states combined, as must ultimately be the case, having a population of 12,433,508, and comprehending in their area 857,090 square miles—having the exclusive control of the cotton zone of the world, with the necessity on the part of Great Britain, France and other European governments of securing aliment for their cotton looms and spindles—the southern confederacy could not only soon induce peace at home, but exert an important influence upon the commercial interests of the world.

The shipping, mining and manufacturing interests of the North could not consent to lose, by incessant war, the advantages to be derived from peaceful and respectful intercourse with the agricultural states of the South.

The burthen of taxation necessarily imposed upon the people of the new government, it is said, must be onerous and oppressive. The expenses incident to a government are proportionate to its magnitude. The government of the United States, when first organized, was maintained for years at a cost of less than seven millions of dollars annually. The indirect annual tax paid by the slaveholding states, upon foreign importations, exceed an amount sufficient to maintain and operate a southern confederacy.

Cotton is king, and will open up the channels of commerce to every portion of the civilized world, free of cost, to the country which produces it. Relieved of the fishing bounties now paid by the general government to the northern states exclusively—the tax upon iron now given Pennsylvania as a peace offering and a gratuity—the annual loss of slave property abstracted from the southern by the northern states, it may readily be perceived that the new government would be less expensive to the people than the old one, kept up at an annual expenditure of $60,000,000. Then, as a matter of honor—as a matter of future security, happiness, safety and independence—or as a question of dollars and cents, I am unable to perceive that the slaveholding states, by adhering to the old Union will consult their own interests, immediate or prospective.

In expressing to you these views, nevertheless, I wish it to be understood by all means, that I offer them in all respect to the sentiments entertained by other citizens, who see the matter in a different light; and I avail myself of this occasion to say to you, and to the people of Arkansas, a majority of whom have chosen me as their governor, that whatever your deliberations may result in, whether to secede or adhere to the Union, shall be executed by all the powers of the government subject to my command. I cannot dismiss the subject, however, without urging the propriety of submitting any ordinance that may be passed to the final action of the people by a direct vote. Their voice is omnipotent and ought to be consulted upon so important an event—the majority must rule, for their decision is the law. And if there is another wish that I may be permitted to express, it is, that the people of Arkansas, my native land, and the land of my fathers, may unite in one common verdict and build up a living rampart of freemen, united in one sentiment, eschewing all geographical distinctions—seeking one common destiny now and forever.

It is not unbecoming, I presume, that I should narrate hastily the recent events connected with the surrender of the United States arsenal at this place. In November last, almost immediately supervening my inauguration, a troop of sixty United States artillery was marched from the borders of Kansas, where their services were more needed, to the Little Rock arsenal. Such a thing was unprecedented, and I believed that they were sent here, contemplating the action of the southern states touching the propriety and right of secession. I must frankly admit that this movement aroused my suspicions, and met my unqualified disapprobation, for I knew full well that their presence would prove a constant source of irritation, and in this I was not mistaken. The states of Louisiana and Mississippi having declared their independence of the general government early in January, and necessarily putting themselves by armed occupation in defiance of hostile invasion by the Mississippi river—citizens of Arkansas on the border of that stream, became sensible of the imminent peril they were in if a collision ensued. Every device was by them immediately adopted to procure arms at their own cost for their defence. The supply at the North proved to be inadequate to the demand from the southern states—restrictions were laid and impediments offered by northern people against the transportation of arms south, and none could be obtained.

In this state of insecurity, a public meeting was held in the town of Helena, expressing the opinion that it was my duty, as governor of the state, to take the arsenal at Little Rock, offering 500 men to join in the enterprise. I responded by telegraph, as I had received the intelligence, that my position was, that the arms in the arsenal should neither be removed nor destroyed, nor would I permit the fort to be reinforced by federal troops. Considering a reinforcement in the heart of the state in time of profound peace as tantamount to a declaration of war, but until one or the other of these events occurred, I should not need the services tendered by the people of Phillips county. Various rumors subsequent to this, seemingly well authenticated, reached me that United States troops were on their way to Little Rock to reinforce the arsenal. Feeling that if I permitted this to be done, without making an effort to prevent it, that I should be lacking in duty, and being anxious to avoid the necessity of coming in collision with the federal authorities whilst the state was yet in the Union, I addressed a communication to Capt. Totten, commanding the arsenal, to the purport that I could not consent that the munitions of war under his command should be removed or destroyed, or that the post should be reinforced by additional troops—adding that any assurances that he might be able to give me, touching the observance of these three points, would greatly tend to quiet the public mind, and prevent a collision between the citizens of the state and the federal authorities.

The response to this communication was, that so far as he could or dare act, to prevent a collision, he would act, but that he owed his allegiance to the federal government, and must necessarily carry out any orders made by superior authority, that he would lay my communication before the secretary of war, at Washington, and if permitted, advise me of his instructions. Ten days elapsed, and no response was communicated to me from the secretary of war. From this I felt apprehensive that reinforcements were to be sent, and was on the lookout night and day for their arrival.

In the midst of this excitement and anxiety, Mr. J. A. Ashford, a highly respectable citizen of this place, a Kentuckian by birth, and a true friend of the South, came to my office and announced that he had learned by current report in Pine Bluff the day previous, that the steamer S. H. Tucker, ascending the river, had on board three or four hundred federal troops, destined for the Little Rock arsenal. This seemed improbable, though possible by all means, and luckily, before I consented to act upon his information, I required him to reduce his statement to writing. This he did without hesitation, and it is now on file in my office. I instantly ordered cannon to be planted on the wharf, to intercept the landing of the troops, and dispatched messengers to ascertain the truth or falsity of the report. On Sunday afternoon, February 3d, they returned, reporting that there were no troops on the Tucker, as had been reported. I immediately ordered the cannon to be returned and the volunteer force commanding them disbanded.

The rumor spread, however, in various directions, and on Tuesday the 4th, volunteer troops came in from the counties of Phillips, Jefferson, Prairie, White, Monroe, Hot Spring, and other counties, numbering some eight hundred men, with the avowed purpose of taking possession of the arsenal. The excitement became intense, the town council of Little Rock assembled and passed resolutions expressing the opinion that the demonstrations made on the part of the volunteers, was disrespectful to the executive, communicating their resolves to me through a committee. In a verbal response, I announced to the committee, that I did not so regard it, that the people were the judges of their own safety, and they deeming it necessary for their own protection, to put the arsenal in the possession of state authority, until the people acted in convention, was not, by me, construed into disrespect for the constituted authorities. I advised the committee, however, that the volunteer forces were neither here by my authority, nor within my knowledge. A meeting of the citizens then took place, requesting me to demand the surrender of the arsenal by authority, tendering me their aid and sympathy if I would consent to do so. To this I assented cheerfully, and after some negotiation, Capt. Totten surrendered the post to me, to be kept intact until the people of Arkansas, through their delegates in convention, should absolve me from that trust.

The correspondence referred to, is herewith submitted for your examination.

HENRY M. RECTOR,

Governor of Arkansas.

Which, together with the address referred to, was read and received.

Mr. Kelley moved to refer the message to the committee on state affairs.

Mr. Cypert moved to amend by referring so much of the message as referred to federal relations, to the committee on federal relations; which amendment was accepted, and the motion prevailed.

Mr. Thomason gave notice that on Monday next he would introduce the following additional rule, to-wit:

Rule 39. The President shall require that debatants confine themselves strictly to the question pending before the convention.

On motion of Mr. Stillwell, the convention adjourned until Monday morning, 10 o'clock.

DAVID WALKER,
President.

The journal of Saturday was read, approved and signed.

Mr. President laid before the convention certain documents, relative to the seizure of the United States arsenal, at Little Rock; which, on motion of Mr. Gunter, were referred to the committee on state affairs, without being read. See Appendix.

Motions and resolutions were in order.

Mr. Murphy presented the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the officers of this convention be paid the same per diem that similar officers of the General Assembly received at its late session, and that the sergeant-at-arms receive the same pay as the door-keeper, to be paid out of the appropriation made by the General Assembly, to pay the necessary expenses of this convention.

Mr. Gould moved the adoption of the resolution; which motion was sustained, and the resolution accordingly adopted.

Mr. Robinson offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That it is the deliberate sense of this convention, that African negroes, and the descendants of the African race, denominated slaves by all the constitutions of the southern slaveholding states, is property, to all intents and purposes, and ought of right to be so considered by all the northern states, being expressly implied by the constitution of the United States, and a denial on the part of the people of the northern states, of the right of property in slaves of the southern states, is, and of right ought to be, sufficient cause, if persisted in by northern people, to dissolve the political connection between said states.

Which, on motion of Mr. Garland of Pulaski, was referred to the committee on federal relations.

Mr. Hawkins, of Ashley, offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention, that it is the duty of the governor of the State of Arkansas to resist, by force of arms, any attempt on the part of the federal government, to levy men or money, within the limits of, or against said state, for the purpose of coercing back into the said Federal Union, any one, or all of the seceded states, for the purpose of holding or retaking arsenals or forts in any of said states, or for the purpose of enforcing the collection of duties and imposts therefrom.

Which resolution, upon motion of Mr. Garland, of Pulaski, was also referred to the committee on federal relations.

Mr. Thomason presented the following preamble and

RESOLUTIONS:

WE, the people of the State of Arkansas, in convention assembled, in view of the unfortunate and distracted condition of our once happy and prosperous country, and of the alarming dissensions existing between the northern and southern sections thereof; and desiring that a fair and equitable adjustment of the same may be made; do hereby declare the following to be just causes of complaint on the part of the people of the southern states, against their brethren of the northern, or non-slaveholding states:

1. People of the northern states have organized a political party, purely sectional in its character, the central and controlling idea of which is, hostility to the institution of African slavery, as it exists in the southern states, and that party has elected a President and Vice President of the United States, pledged to administer the government upon principles inconsistent with the rights, and subversive of the interests of the people of the southern states.

2. They have denied to the people of the southern states the right to an equal participation in the benefits of the common territories of the Union, by refusing them the same protection to their slave property therein that is afforded to other property, and by declaring that no more slave states shall be admitted into the Union.

3. They have declared that Congress possesses, under the constitution, and ought to exercise, the power to abolish slavery in the territories, in the District of Columbia, and in the forts, arsenals and dock yards of the United States, within the limits of the slaveholding states.

4. They have, in disregard of their constitutional obligations, obstructed the faithful execution of the fugitive slave laws by enactments of their state legislatures.

5. They have denied the citizens of southern states the right of transit through non-slaveholding states with their slaves, and the right to hold them while temporarily sojourning therein.

6. They have degraded American citizens by placing them upon an equality with negroes at the ballot-box.

To redress the grievances hereinbefore complained of, and as a means of restoring harmony and fraternal good will between the people of all the states, the following amendments to the constitution of the United States are proposed:

1. The President and Vice President of the United States shall each be chosen alternately from a slaveholding and non-slaveholding state—but, in no case, shall both be chosen from slaveholding or non-slaveholding states.

2. In all the territory of the United States now held, or which may hereafter be acquired, situate north of latitude 36 deg. 30 min., slavery or involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime is prohibited while such territory shall remain under territorial government. In all the territory now held, or which may hereafter be acquired, south of said line of latitude.

slavery of the African race is hereby recognized as existing, and shall not be interfered with by Congress, but shall be protected as property by all the departments of the territorial government, during its continuance. And when any territory, north or south of said line, within such boundaries as Congress may prescribe, shall contain the population requisite for a member of Congress, according to the then federal ratio of representation of the people of the United States, it shall, if its form of government be republican, be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states, with or without slavery, as the constitution of such new state may provide.

3. Congress shall have no power to legislate upon the subject of slavery, except to protect the citizen in his right of property in slaves.

4. That in addition to the provisions of third paragraph of the second section of the fourth article of the constitution of the United States, Congress shall have power to provide, by law, and it shall be its duty so to provide, that the United States shall pay to the owner, who shall apply for it, the full value of his fugitive slave, in all cases, when the marshal, or other officer, whose duty it was to arrest said fugitive, was prevented from so doing by violence; or when, after arrest, said fugitive was rescued by force, and the owner thereby prevented and obstructed in the pursuit of his remedy for the recovery of his fugitive slave under the said clause of the constitution and the laws made in pursuance thereof. And in all such cases, when the United States shall pay for such fugitive, they shall have the right, in their own name, to sue the county in which said violence, intimidation or rescue was committed, and to recover from it, with interest and damages, the amount paid by them for said fugitive slave. And the said county, after it has paid said amount to the United States, may, for its indemnity, sue and recover from the wrongdoers or rescuers, by whom the owner was prevented from the recovery of his fugitive slave, in like manner as the owner himself might have sued and recovered.

5. The third paragraph, of the second section of the fourth article of the constitution, shall not be construed to prevent any of the states from having concurrent jurisdiction with the United States, by appropriate legislation, and through the action of their judicial and ministerial officers, from enforcing the delivery of fugitives from labor to the person to whom such service or labor is due.

6. Citizens of slaveholding states when traveling through, or temporarily sojourning with their slaves in non-slaveholding states, shall be protected in their right of property in such slaves.

7. The elective franchise, and the right to hold office, whether federal, state, territorial or municipal, shall not be exercised by persons of the African race, in whole or in part.

8. These amendments, and the third paragraph of the second section of the first article of the constitution, and the third paragraph of the second section of the fourth article thereof, shall not be amended or abolished, without the consent of all the states.

That the sense of the people of the United States may be taken upon the amendments above proposed:

1. Resolved by the people of Arkansas in Convention assembled, That we recommend the calling of a convention of the states of the Federal Union, at the earliest practicable day, in accordance with the provisions of the fifth article of the constitution of the United States.

2. Resolved further, That a committee of three delegates of this convention be appointed, whose duty it shall be to lay before the President and Congress of the United States, and before the governors and legislatures of the several states, a copy of these proceedings.

3. Resolved further, That looking to the call of a national convention, as recommended in the first resolution above, this convention elect five delegates to represent the State of Arkansas in such convention.

4. Resolved further, That a committee of five delegates of this convention be appointed to prepare an address to the people of the United States, urging upon them the importance of a united effort on the part of the patriotic citizens of all section and parties to save the country from the dangers which impend it, and which threaten its destruction—and especially to arrest the reckless and fanatical spirit of sectionalism north and south, which, if not arrested, will inevitably involve us in a bloody civil war.

Mr. Grace moved that the resolutions be received, and that 200 copies be printed for the use of the convention; which motion prevailed.

Mr. Grace presented the following resolution, which, upon his motion, was referred to the committee on federal relations:

Resolved, That this convention recognize the right of any state to withdraw from the Federal Union, when, in the opinion of such state, a longer continuance in such Union will tend to the subversion of her constitutional rights and liberties.

Mr. Kennard offered, as an additional resolution to those offered by Mr. Thomason, the following:

Resolved by the people of the State of Arkansas in convention assembled, That we deem the amendments to the federal constitution proposed in the foregoing resolutions, or amendments, substantially the same as those, as necessary to the security of the people of the southern states in their rights to slave property, and that we will make the incorporation of these amendments in the constitution, the sole and only condition upon which Arkansas will continue her connection with the federal government.

Mr. Floyd moved its reception, and that it should be printed with Mr. Thomason's resolutions; but after some discussion, Mr. Kennard withdrew the resolution.

Mr. Thomason called up the additional rule of which he had previously given notice:

Mr. Patterson, of Jackson, moved to amend by striking out the word "strictly;" which amendment was accepted, and the rule as amended was adopted.

Reports from committees were in order.

Mr. Turner, from the committee on federal relations, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on federal relations, to which was referred sundry resolutions, beg leave to report the following:

1. Resolved, That the government of the United States of America is a government of consent, and can only be administered by the will of the governed, legitimately expressed.

2. Resolved further, That the domination of a local and sectional majority tends to the despotic oppression of the minority, and is contrary to the spirit and genius of our government.

3. Resolved further, That the inauguration of the present administration of the United States, by the vote of a sectional majority, is an indignity to the southern states, grievous to be borne, and of which they justly complain.

4. Resolved further, That any attempt on the part of the federal government to coerce a seceding state, by an armed force, will be resisted by Arkansas to the last extremity.

5th. Resolved further, That we solemnly protest against the quartering of United States troops in any of the forts, arsenals or dock-yards, in any of the southern states, for the purpose of coercing any of the states that have seceded from the Federal Union, or for the purpose of preventing others from withdrawing from the same, without the consent of the state in which such forts, arsenals, or dock-yards may be situated, while the United States is at peace with other nations.

6th. Resolved further, That the execution of the federal laws in the seceded states, in the collection of revenues and duties, by other means than the local and civil authorities, or the recapturing of the forts, arsenals, and other property of the federal government in the seceded states, by an armed force, would be coercion.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

TURNER, Chairman.

Which was read and received.

Mr. Desha offered the following amendment:

Resolved, That we earnestly and respectfully remonstrate against our sister border states taking any part in any action on the part of the federal government tending towards a recapture or retaking of any of the forts, arsenals or dock-yards in any of the seceded states, but we earnestly hope that they will firmly maintain a pacificatory course and use every patriotic and manly effort to bring about an honorable and amicable adjustment of our present difficulties and to restore peace and harmony to the country.

Mr. Adams, of Phillips, also offered the following as an amendment to the report of the committee:

Resolved, That the State of Arkansas will take and hold the possession of the arsenal at Little Rock, and will not permit any force of the United States to be quartered or placed therein.

Mr. Kelley moved its reference to the committee on federal relations.

Mr. President announced that the hour for resolutions having passed, the proposed amendments would lie on the table.

Mr. Kennard, from the committee on elections, made the following

REPORT:

MR. PRESIDENT—

Your committee, to whom was referred a communication from his excellency, the governor, in which he declines to issue his proclamation to the sheriff of Fulton county, to hold an election to elect a delegate from said county to this convention, in accordance with a resolution passed by the convention, have had the same under consideration, and respectfully report as follows:

Your committee are unable to perceive the force of the reasoning by which his excellency seeks to avoid the performance of the duty enjoined upon him by the resolution referred to.

His excellency "perceives no authority under the constitution or laws of this state, by which he is authorized to issue a proclamation requiring an election to be held for a delegate to the convention, on any other than the 18th day of February." He communicates the important information that "a proclamation issued by him, without law, requiring a subordinate officer to do an act which the people have not authorized him nor the governor to perform, will trench upon their reserved rights, and savor strongly of usurpation."

It appears to your committee that this convention being, in legal contemplation, the whole people of the state, and the governor being the servant of the people, a resolution of this convention is as high a sanction as his excellency, or any other state officer, could have, or should desire, for any act required of him, especially for any act necessary to the objects contemplated by the assembling of the people in convention. And if his excellency did not hesitate to obey the direction of the legislature, contained in the act calling this convention, and did issue his proclamation, in accordance with the provisions of said act, for an election to be held on the 18th day of February, by how much this convention exceeds an ordinary legislature, in power and authority, with so much the more reason and propriety should he obey the direction of the convention, contained in the resolution referred to. And further, your committee are of opinion that, if, as his excellency suggests, the right to order and make provision for holding this election, "is within the scope of powers resting in the convention," beyond question, to make that power available, for the end desired, the convention may require of the governor, or of any other officer of the state, the exercise of any authority reposed in him by law, as in ordinary cases.

His excellency having volunteered a disquisition on the nature of government, in which he announces the novel doctrine that, "It is the prerogative of the people to form and remodel governments—the duty of the legislature to enact the laws, with a judiciary to expound, and an executive to enforce them;" your committee, on behalf of the convention, would venture to suggest to him another important corollary to these propositions, which may have escaped his observation, viz: "that a convention of the people is supreme over all the departments of government provided for by the organic law of the state, that all officers provided for by law are but servants to the people, and the people have a right to require of them the performance of any duties within their appropriate and designated spheres of action. And further, if the people may "form and remodel governments," they may alter or abolish offices also, and their will is the tenure by which all offices are held.

His excellency doubts the power of the convention "to empower the governor to perform a ministerial act," and so intimates that the act required of him by the resolution referred to, is a ministerial act. Without proposing to discuss such a technicality, your committee would simply remark, they cannot perceive how any material distinction can be made between issuing the proclamation required in this case, and issuing a similar one in any other case provided for by law; or why the people, in convention assembled, may not, in that capacity, impose a duty upon the governor, as well as by legislative enactment, or by a constitutional provision.

In view of these considerations, your committee are of opinion that his excellency has acted, if not in disregard of the authority, at least under a strange misconception of the power of this convention, and of the principles involved in the question of duty presented to him by said resolution.

In order, therefore, that his excellency may distinctly understand that the convention dissents from the views expressed in his communication, and may be assured of the wishes of the convention, in the premises, your committee recommend the adoption of the following

RESOLUTIONS:

Resolved, That his excellency, Henry M. Rector, governor of the State of Arkansas, be, and he is hereby authorized and requested to issue his proclamation to the sheriff of Fulton county, requiring him to hold an election in said county, on Monday, the 1st day of April next, in accordance with the provisions of the act of the General Assembly calling this convention, for the purpose of electing one delegate from said county to this convention.

Resolved further, That the secretary of this convention be, and he is hereby instructed to place a copy of the foregoing report and resolution in the hands of the governor forthwith.

KENNARD, Chairman.

Which was read and received.

Mr. Yell suggested an amendment to the first resolution, by authorizing the president to issue an order for holding said election.

Mr. Murphy objected.

Mr. Kelley, from a select committee, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

Your committee, appointed to confer with the ministers of the gospel resident in this city, and request them to open the sessions of this convention with prayer, have performed their duty, and report that such ministers have agreed that one of their number will be present to officiate each morning during the session.

KELLEY, Chairman.

Which was read and received.

The unfinished business on the calendar was then taken up.

On request of Mr. Floyd, Mr. Carrigan withdrew his motion to postpone the consideration of ordinance No. 1, in order that it might be referred to the committee on ordinances; which, on motion of Mr. Floyd, was done.

Mr. President stated that the proposition to postpone the consideration of the resolution introduced by Mr. Echols, would be in order.

After considerable debate, the convention, on motion of Mr. Turner, adjourned until to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

Mr. Fishback offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the president of this convention be, and he is hereby authorized to appoint one commissioner to each of the slaveholding states, to request their co-operation in an effort, through a national convention, to secure an adjustment of our political troubles, upon the basis of the resolutions offered by Mr. Thomason on yesterday.

Mr. Mayo, offered the following resolutions, as an additional amendment to those of Mr. Thomason:

Resolved, 1st. That whereas, the power of the government of the United States has passed into the hands of a strictly sectional majority, who have manifested an intention to render the commerce of the South subservient to the interests of the North; the opinion of this convention is, that it is positively necessary for the security of the South that the aforesaid government be forever prohibited, by a constitutional enactment, from levying an impost beyond a strictly revenue point, not to exceed 25 per cent. in any one case.

Resolved, 2d. That whereas, abolition incendiaries are attempting to corrupt the minds of the Indians upon our frontier, and stirring them up to hatred of the people of the South—there should be an amendment to the constitution making such acts felony.

Resolved, 3d. That having attempted, time and again, to obtain an acknowledgment of our rights in this manner, and having been repulsed as often as attempted, we are determined to make common cause with our sister seceding states to maintain our rights and liberties.

Resolved, 4th. Whereas, certain designing enemies of our country's cause have attempted to poison the minds of the people by charging upon the advocates of southern rights an attempt to build up a government founded upon property qualification, by the abandonment of principle; we denounce to the world our disbelief in any such attempt, as neither being founded in reason or fact.

Mr. Totten of Arkansas, by leave, moved the printing, both of the resolution offered by Mr. Fishback, and those of Mr.

Mayo, in connection with those offered by Mr. Thomason on yesterday, which motion prevailed.

There being no other regular business before the convention, on motion of Mr. Watkins, the special order of the day, being the resolution offered by Mr. Adams, of Phillips, relative to instructing the committee on ordinances to prepare an ordinance for the immediate and unconditional secession of the State of Arkansas from the Federal Union, and report the same to this convention, was taken up and read.

An animated discussion ensued, which was participated in by Messrs. Slemons, Smoote, Cypert and Johnson; and at the close of the remarks of Mr. Johnson, on motion of Mr. Echols, the convention adjourned until to-morrow morning at 9 of the clock.

On request of Mr. Grace, the use of the hall was granted to Hon. Robert W. Johnson, to deliver an address to-night.

Motions and resolutions were in order.

Mr. Echols offered the following

RESOLUTIONS:

WHEREAS, The remarkably strong Union sentiment which prevails in this convention, leaves us no hope of the secession of the State of Arkansas from the Federal Union, which was a blessing under Washington, but a curse under Lincoln. And whereas, This convention is consuming a considerable amount of the state funds, with no hope of obtaining value received; and whereas, the predominating sentiment of this convention seems to be submission to the administration of Lincoln; therefore,

Be it resolved, That this convention is a nuisance, and should be adjourned sine die immediately.

Resolved further, That the people be requested to take their destiny in their own hands, and determine to live as freemen, or die as soldiers.

Resolved further, That as liberty or death was the rallying cry of George Washington, it should be that of the South.

Mr. Kelley moved to postpone the resolutions indefinitely.

Mr. Turner moved to reject the resolutions.

Mr. Garland of Hempstead moved that the convention refuse to receive the resolutions.

The question was put on the motion to reject, which motion prevailed, and the resolutions were thereby rejected.

Mr. Laughinghouse offered the following preamble and

RESOLUTIONS:

WHEREAS, It has been charged by certain persons that the object and intent of the secessionists are to build up a government founded upon property qualification, at the sacrifice of principle, which is untrue, and not founded in reason or fact.

Resolved, That this convention will not indorse such heresies, and are willing so to express themselves by disapproving of such doctrines.

Mr. Laughinghouse moved their adoption.

Mr. Flanagin called for the yeas and nays.

Mr. Watkins called for a division of the question.

Mr. Hobson offered the following amendment:

Resolved, That this convention is totally indifferent to what outsiders and ultraists express of its action or intentions, and feels no interest in any rumor irrelevant to the purpose for which it was convened.

Mr. Flanagin offered the following as a substitute for the resolution:

Resolved, That the true basis of all republican government is that representation should be apportioned amongst the people according to population, and not according to the value of taxable property, and that no property qualification, for any purpose should ever be established.

After some discussion, Mr. Laughinghouse, on leave, withdrew his resolution.

Mr. Garland of Hempstead offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, As the sense of this convention, that the people of Arkansas prefer a perpetuity of this Federal Union to its dismemberment or disruption—provided it can be perpetuated upon a basis recognizing and guaranteeing equal rights and privileges to every state in the Union south as well as north.

Mr. Stillwell moved its adoption.

Objections being made, the resolution was received and placed on the calendar.

Mr. Watkins moved that the convention take up Mr. Thomason's resolutions:

Mr. Watkins afterwards amended his motion by making said resolutions the special order for to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

Mr. Thomason moved to amend the resolution introduced by

Mr. Adams of Phillips, instructing the committee on ordinances to report an ordinance for the immediate and unconditional secession of Arkansas from the Federal Union; and instructing them to report, in its stead, the resolutions introduced by him on Monday.

Mr. Watkins withdrew his motion.

Mr. Hanly offered to amend the resolution of Mr. Thomason, by striking out all after the preamble, and inserting an ordinance which he then introduced, entitled an ordinance to dissolve the Union between the State of Arkansas and the other states united with her, under the compact known as the "Constitution of the United States of America," and that the committee take into consideration the resolution of Mr. Adams of Phillips, the resolution of Mr. Thomason, and the ordinance just introduced, and report on them together.

AN ORDINANCE,

To dissolve the Union between the State of Arkansas and the other States united with her under the compact entitled "The Constitution of the United States of America."

SECTION 1. We, the people of the State of Arkansas, in convention assembled, do declare and ordain, and it is hereby declared and ordained, that the ordinance adopted by the General Assembly of this state, on the eighteenth day of October, Anno Domini, one thousand, eight hundred and thirty-six, whereby the propositions set forth in an act of the Congress of the United States, entitled "an act supplementary to an act entitled 'an act for the admission of the State of Arkansas into the Union, and to provide for the due execution of the laws of the United States within the same, and for other purposes,'" approved the twenty-third day of June, Anno Domini, one thousand, eight hundred and thirty-six, and also all acts and parts of acts of the General Assembly of this state on the same subject, and recognizing the connection of this state with the U. S. of America, under the compact entitled "The Constitution of the United States of America," are hereby repealed; and that the union now subsisting between the State of Arkansas and the other states, under the name of "The United States of America," is hereby dissolved, and all the powers and authority heretofore conferred by this state, in manner aforesaid, to the United States of America, are hereby resumed by this state, and the people thereof.

SEC. 2. That the provisions above set forth, are not to be in force or take effect until the same shall have been approved by the people of this state, to be expressed and ascertained in the manner hereinafter provided, that is to say: the president of this convention shall forthwith issue a proclamation ordering an election in all the counties in this state, submitting to the people the question of "Approval" or "Disapproval," of this ordinance, and the provisions thereof; the said election to be held on the first Saturday of May, Anno Domini, 1861, which election shall be held at the same places, and be conducted in the same manner, and governed by the same laws, that state elections are now conducted and governed; Provided, That the sheriffs of the several counties shall be required to give only ten days' notice of said election.

SEC. 3. That the ballots or tickets to be used and voted at such election, shall be indorsed, "approval" or "disapproval," from which a count shall be made, and the question determined respecting this ordinance as aforesaid.

That the judges of said election shall make returns thereof to the clerks of their respective county courts, who shall open and compare the same as now required by law, and make an abstract of the votes given, which shall be filed in his office.

SEC. 4. That each clerk of the county court, immediately after the examination and comparison of the returns aforesaid, shall deposit in the post office at his county seat, a certified copy of the abstract filed in his office of the returns of such election, directed to the secretary of state at the seat of government.

SEC. 5. If there shall be a failure to receive any of the returns of such election at the seat of government for two mails after the same is due, the secretary of state shall dispatch a messenger to the county from which returns have not been received, with directions to bring up such returns or copies thereof.

SEC. 6. That it shall be the duty of the secretary of state, in the presence of the governor, auditor, treasurer, and judges of the supreme court, or any three or more of said officers, within thirty days after the time herein allowed to make returns of such election, or sooner, if all the returns have been received, to cast up and arrange the votes from the several counties, or such of them as have made returns, and make out and file in his office an abstract, showing the number of votes cast for "approval," and the number of votes cast for "disapproval," and if it shall appear from said returns that a majority of all the votes cast shall be for "approval," then, and in that event, the governor of this state shall forthwith issue a proclamation, declaring said fact, and cause the same to be published in five or more newspapers in this state, from and after which proclamation, this ordinance shall be taken and held to be in full force and effect, as if no condition had been annexed thereto; but if, on the contrary, a majority of said votes shall be for "disapproval," then, and in that event, this ordinance shall be taken and held as if the same had never been passed.

Mr. President stated the question to be on the amendment proposed to the resolutions of Mr. Adams of Phillips, by Mr. Thomason, and the amendment of Mr. Hanly to the amendment of Mr. Thomason.

Mr. Hanly moved that the consideration of said questions be made the special order for to-day.

A RESOLUTION,

To authorize the President to send a Commissioner to the State of Arkansas.

The Congress of the Confederate States of America do resolve, That the President be, and he is hereby authorized to send a commissioner from this government to the convention of the State of Arkansas, to consult touching matter concerning their mutual interests.

HOWELL COBB,
President of Congress.

IN CONGRESS.

I certify that the above resolution was adopted by Congress, March 4th, 1861.

J. J. HOOPER,
Secretary of Congress.

To the President of the Convention of Arkansas:

SIR—The government of the Confederate States of America having an earnest desire that the State of Arkansas should unite her destinies with ours, I have been authorized to appoint, and do hereby appoint Williamson S. Oldham, a delegate in the Confederate Congress from the State of Texas, as special commissioner of this government to the State of Arkansas. And I have the honor to introduce him to you, and ask for him a reception and treatment corresponding to his station, and to the purposes for which he is sent. These purposes he will more fully explain to you. I have learned, with great satisfaction, that you, and the body over which you are called to preside, have assembled for the purpose of taking into consideration your relations to the government of the United States. Feeling that we have common interests, common wrongs and common dangers, we cordially invite you to unite with us and to adopt the only mode of redress, which, in our judgment, will secure our future tranquility and safety—separation from the United States. Hoping that through his agency these objects may be accomplished, I avail myself of this occasion to offer to you the assurance of my most distinguished consideration.

JEFF. DAVIS.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., }
March 9th, 1861.)

Which were read.

Mr. Hanly moved that a committee of three be appointed to wait on such commissioner, invite him to communicate his mission to the convention at a practicable moment, and that he be permitted to take a seat within the bar of the convention.

Which motion prevailed, and Mr. President appointed Messrs. Hanly, Stirman and Murphy such committee.

Mr. President then presented the following communication from his excellency, governor Henry M. Rector:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, }
Little Rock, March 15th, 1861. }

HON. DAVID WALKER,

President of the State Convention:

SIR—I am in receipt of the resolution passed by your honorable body, requesting me to inform the convention of the expenses per day of holding the United States arsenal at Little Rock, under the stipulations between myself and Capt. James Totten, lately in command of that post.

In response to which, I beg leave to report that the pay of the twenty-three men now stationed at said arsenal, officers and privates, amounts to $27 25 per day.....$27 25
Subsistence per day..... .. 5 00

Aggregate amount$32 55

Upon the surrender of the arsenal, 8th February, owing to the then excited condition of the public mind, and having in view the large amount of public property liable to destruction stored in the arsenal. I ordered the post to be garrisoned by one hundred men.

In a day or two subsequent, the number was depleted materially, and so on, as circumstances would permit, and quiet was restored; the command has been gradually diminished to its present number, the cost per day corresponding proportionally with the rates above given for the present number.

I beg leave further to submit for the consideration of the convention, that any directions that it may deem necessary and proper to make, touching the retention of that post, until the status of Arkansas shall in some mode be finally determined upon, will be complied with on my part, whatsoever that may be. But, if upon the other hand I am left without instructions upon this subject, I shall regard it to be my duty, knowing the exposed and defenseless condition of our citizens, to keep the arsenal under the control of state authority, until the representatives of the people in convention, or in their legislative capacity, shall absolve me from that trust.

In doing this, however, the most rigid economy will be observed that surrounding circumstances may warrant. The "Phillips Guards," now stationed at the arsenal, upon the adjournment of your honorable body—in the absence of directions given by the convention—will be relieved from duty, and the post put upon a peace footing—making it necessary only thenceforward, to retain some two or three persons to preserve the munitions of war, grounds, etc., etc., intact.

Respectfully,

H. M. RECTOR.

Which was read, and on motion of Mr. Kelley, referred to the committee on state affairs.

On motion of Mr. Garland of Pulaski, a seat within the bar of the convention was allowed to Dr. L. P. Blackburne of Louisiana.

The consideration of the amendment to the amendment to the resolution of Mr. Adams of Phillips, relative to instructing the committee on ordinances to report an ordinance for the immediate and unconditional secession of the State of Arkansas from the Federal Union, was resumed.

Mr. Adams of Phillips, who asked the floor for this morning on last evening, then discussed the question.

Mr. Yell was called to the chair.

Mr. Smith followed Mr. Adams in the debate.

Mr. President resumed the chair, and Mr. Smith yielding to a motion to adjourn, Mr. Yell moved to adjourn until 9 o'clock Monday morning, on which, Mr. Cypert called for the yeas and nays, when Mr. Yell withdrew his motion.

YEAS—Messrs. Echols, Floyd, Hanly, Hawkins of Sevier, Hill, Hilliard, Ray, Totten of Prairie and Yell—9.

AN ORDINANCE,

To dissolve the union between the State of Arkansas and the other States united with her under the compact entitled "The Constitution of the United States of America."

SECTION 1. We, the people of the State of Arkansas, in convention assembled, do declare and ordain, and it is hereby declared and ordained, that the ordinance adopted by the General Assembly of this state, on the eighteenth day of October, Anno Domini one thousand, eight hundred and thirty-six, whereby the propositions set forth in an act of the Congress of the United States, entitled "an act supplementary to an act entitled 'an act for the admission of the State of Arkansas into the Union, and to provide for the due execution of the laws of the United States within the same, and for other purposes,' " approved the twenty-third day of June, Anno Domini, one thousand, eight hundred and thirty-six, and also all acts and parts of acts of the General Assembly of this state on the same subject, and recognizing the connection of this state with the U. S. of America, under the compact entitled "The Constitution of the United States of America," are hereby repealed; and that the union now subsisting between the State of Arkansas and the other states, under the name of "The United States of America," is hereby dissolved, and all the powers and authority heretofore conferred by this state, in manner aforesaid, to the United States of America, are hereby resumed by this state, and the people thereof.

SEC. 2. That the foregoing preamble and resolutions and ordinance shall not, nor shall either of them be in force until they shall have been approved by the people of this state, to be expressed and ascertained in the manner hereinafter provided; that is to say, the president of this convention shall forthwith issue a proclamation, ordering an election in all the counties in this state, submitting to the people the question as to which they will approve, the preamble and resolutions, or the ordinance. The said election to be held on the first Saturday of —, 1861; which election shall be held at the same places, and be conducted in the same manner, and governed by the same laws, that state elections are now in this state conducted and governed; Provided, That the sheriffs of the several counties shall be required to give only ten days' notice of said election.

SEC. 3. That the ballots, or tickets, to be used and voted, at said election, shall be indorsed, "approval of the preamble and resolutions," or "approval of the ordinance," from which said ballots, counts shall be made, and the question determined as to the greater number of votes, and if it appear that the preamble and resolutions shall have the greater number of votes, they shall be declared adopted; and if it appear that the ordinance has the greater number of votes, it shall be declared adopted.

SEC. 6. If there shall be a failure to receive any of the returns of such election at the seat of government, for two mails after the same is due, the secretary of state shall dispatch a messenger to the county from which returns have not been received, with directions to bring up such returns, or copies thereof.

SEC. 7. That it shall be the duty of the secretary of state, in the presence of the governor, auditor and treasurer, or any two of them, within thirty days after the time herein allowed to make returns of said election, or sooner, if the returns have been received of said election, to cast up and arrange the votes from the several counties, or such of them as have been received, and make out and file in his office an abstract showing the number of votes cast for the preamble and resolutions, and the number of votes cast for the ordinance; and if it shall appear that the greater number of votes shall be cast for the preamble and resolutions; or if it shall appear that the greater number of votes shall be cast for the ordinance, the governor of the state, upon either event happening, shall issue his proclamation declaring the fact of the preamble and resolutions being adopted, or the fact of the ordinance being adopted as the case may be, and cause the same to be published in five different newspapers printed in different parts of this state, and if it shall appear that the majority of the votes are for the preamble and resolutions, that then and in that event they shall be held and considered adopted, as if no condition had been affixed thereto. And if it appear that the greater number of votes has been cast for the ordinance, then, and in that event, said ordinance shall be held and considered adopted as if no condition had been affixed thereto—and that either of said propositions, if adopted, shall have the force and binding effect as if adopted by this convention. Upon it being made appear that either of the foregoing propositions are adopted, the governor shall, forthwith issue his proclamation assembling this convention at the capital on a day to be named by him.

Mr. Watkins moved its indefinite postponement, and called for the yeas and nays, which call being sustained was ordered and had with the following effect:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Austin, Bolinger, Bradley, Bush, Campbell, Carrigan, Cypert, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Fishback, Fort, Garland of Hempstead, Garland of Pulaski, Griffith, Gunter, Hill, Hobbs, Hobson, Jester, Kelly, Kennard, Mansfield, Murphy, Parks, Patterson of Van Buren, Smith, Stallings, Stillwell, Stirman, Stout, Thomason, Turner, Walker, Watkins, Williams and Mr. President—36.

AN ORDINANCE

To provide for holding an election in the State of Arkansas, for the purpose of taking the sense of the people of the state on the question of "co-operation" or "secession."

SECTION 1. Be it ordained by the people of Arkansas, in convention assembled, That an election shall be held, in all the counties in this state, on Monday, the 5th day of August, 1861, at which the question of "Co-operation" or "Secession" shall be submitted to the people of this state; which election shall be held and conducted, in all respects, in accordance with the laws of the state now in force, prescribing the manner of holding elections; Provided, That the sheriffs of the several counties shall be required to give at least thirty days' notice of the time and places of holding said elections, by advertisement thereof, as required by law for ordinary elections.

SEC. 2. Be it further ordained, That the ballots or tickets to be used in said elections shall be indorsed "for co-operation," or "for secession," from which ballots, count shall be made by the judges, and they shall ascertain how many votes are cast for "co-operation," and how many are cast "for secession," at their respective precincts, and shall duly certify the result of said count, and make return thereof to the clerk of their respective counties, who shall open and compare said returns as they are now required by law to open and compare other elections; and each clerk shall make an abstract of the vote of his county upon the question of "secession" or "co operation," and file the same in his office; and shall, also, at the same time, make out, under his seal, and deliver to the delegate or delegates from his county to this convention, a copy of said abstract, to be returned by them to the office of secretary of state, as hereinafter provided.

RESOLUTIONS:

WHEREAS, The States of Virginia and Missouri, in conventions assembled, have called upon the border slave states, to-wit: Delaware, Maryland, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky and Arkansas, to unite with them in an effort to accomplish a satisfactory adjustment of the sectional differences which threaten ruin and destruction to our once happy and prosperous Union: And whereas, the State of Virginia, through her convention, has named the 27th day of May next, at Frankfort, Kentucky, as a suitable time and place for holding a conference or convention of said border slave states, for the purpose, if possible, of determining upon a plan of adjustment which shall be fair and equitable to all the states.

And whereas, The State of Missouri, animated by a like patriotic desire to obtain a speedy adjustment of our difficulties, has appointed commissioners, instructed to represent her in such border state convention, at such time and place as may be agreed upon by two or more of said border slave states:

Resolved 1, by the people of the State of Arkansas in convention assembled, That we accede to the propositions of the States of Virginia and Missouri, for the holding of the convention of the border slave states, declaring it to be our desire and purpose to co-operate with said border states in an earnest effort to settle the unhappy controversies now distracting our country, in the spirit in which the constitution of our Union was originally framed, and consistently with its principles, and in such a manner, and upon such a basis, as shall secure to the people of the southern or slaveholding states, adequate guarantees of their rights.

Resolved, 2. That in accordance with the suggestion of the State of Virginia, we propose Frankfort, Kentucky, and the 27th day of May next, as a suitable place and time for holding said conference or convention of the border slave states.

Resolved, 3. That this convention elect five commissioners, or delegates, whose duty it shall be, when notified by the president of this convention, that a majority of said border slave states have acceded to the proposition of the States of Virginia and Missouri, for holding a border state convention, to repair to the city of Frankfort, or to such other place as may be agreed upon, on the day designated in the foregoing resolution, or on any other day that may be agreed upon, to meet such commissioners, or delegates, as may be appointed by said border slave states, for the purpose of deliberating upon the matters hereinbefore referred to.

Resolved, 4. That if said commissioners or delegates, after full and free conference, shall agree upon any plan of adjustment, or upon any course of action to be pursued by said states, then the commissioners or delegates hereby appointed, shall report the same to an adjourned session of this convention heretofore provided for.

Resolved, 5. That the president of this convention be instructed to transmit, immediately, copies of these resolutions to the executives of the several states hereinbefore named, with the request that said executives inform him, as soon as practicable, of the action of their respective states in reference to the proposition for a border slave state convention, and that, when informed that a majority of said states have agreed upon a time and place for holding said convention, he shall forthwith inform the commissioners or delegates elected under the provisions of the third resolution above, of that fact.

Resolved, 6. That the commissioners or delegates herein provided for, shall receive for their services, whilst in attendance on the sittings of said border state convention, the same pay, both as to per diem and mileage, as is allowed by law, to members of this convention, to be paid upon the certificate of the president of this convention, out of any moneys in the state treasury, not otherwise appropriated.

Mr. Thomason moved their adoption, and Mr. Smoote moved a call of the house, but the absentees appearing in a few moments within the bar of the convention, withdrew the motion.

Mr. Batson then, on leave, withdrew the substitute offered by him to the resolutions of Mr. Thomason.

Mr. Watkins, from a select committee, on leave, recorded the votes of the absentees, on the vote taken this morning on the resolutions offered by Mr. Watkins, as instructed by such absentees:

Mr. Mayo offered to amend the resolutions offered by Mr. Thomason, by inserting between the 7th and 8th proposed amendments to the constitution, the following:

Resolved, 1st. That whereas, the power of the government of the United States has passed into the hands of a strictly sectional majority, who have manifested an intention to render the commerce of the South subservient to the interests of the North; the opinion of this convention is, that it is positively necessary for the security of the South, that the aforesaid government be forever prohibited, by a constitutional enactment, from levying an impost beyond a strictly revenue point, not to exceed 25 per cent. in any one case.

Resolved, 2d. That whereas, abolition incendiaries are attempting to corrupt the minds of the Indians upon our frontier, and stirring them up to hatred of the people of the South—there should be an amendment to the constitution making such acts felony.

Mr. Mayo then moved the adoption of the amendment, and called for the yeas and nays on the motion, which call being sustained, was ordered and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Batson, Clingman, Cryer, Flanagan, Floyd, Gould, Hilliard, Lanier, Mayo and Totten of Arkansas—11.

Mr. Mayo then moved to amend by inserting between the 7th and 8th proposed amendments to the constitution of the United States, as follows:

Resolved, That whereas, the power of the government of the United States has passed into the hands of a strictly sectional majority, who have manifested an intention to render the commerce of the South subservient to the interests of the North; the opinion of this convention is, that it is positively necessary for the security of the South, that the aforesaid government be forever prohibited, by a constitutional enactment, from levying an impost beyond a strictly revenue point, not to exceed 25 per cent. in any one case.

Mr. Patterson, of Jackson, asked to be and was excused from voting.

So the motion to amend the resolutions did not prevail.

Mr. Smoote offered to amend by adding after the third recital of grievances, in the preamble to Mr. Thomason's resolutions, as follows:

"They have clearly indicated by their platform and policy—by their state legislation—by the acts and declarations of their leaders, and by their attacks, in various ways, on the institution of African slavery in the states where it now exists, that it is their intention to finally extinguish slavery in the slave states."

Mr. Smoote moved its adoption.

On which Mr. Hanly called for the yeas and nays; which being sustained, was ordered and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Phillips, Batson, Bussey, Clingman, Crenshaw, Cryer, Dollardhide, Echols, Flanagan, Floyd, Fuller, Gould, Grace, Hanly, Hawkins of Ashley, Hill, Hilliard, Johnson, Lanier, Mayo, Patterson of Jackson, Ray, Rhodes, Robinson, Shelton, Smoote, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie and Wallace—29.

Provided, That no state shall be admitted whose territory shall be south of 36 deg. 30 min., unless it is provided in the constitution of such state that slavery shall be perpetual, unless abolished by a majority of all the southern states.

Mr. Patterson, of Jackson, then moved its adoption; which was lost.

Mr. Robinson offered the following amendment:

To strike out the first and second sections of the proposed amendments to the constitution of the United States, to-wit: the election of President and Vice President, and the formation of a geographical line; and insert, in lieu of said sections, that property in slaves of the African race be placed on the same footing with all other kinds of property, such as ships, manufactories, etc.

Mr. Robinson moved its adoption, and called for the yeas and nays, which being sustained, was ordered and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Adams of Phillips, Batson, Bussey, Crenshaw, Cryer, Dollarhide, Floyd, Fuller, Grace, Hanly, Hilliard, Johnson, Lanier, Mayo, Patterson of Jackson, Ray, Rhodes, Robinson, Shelton, Smoote, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie, Wallace and Yell—25.

Messrs. Echols, Gould, Hawkins of Ashley, and Slemons, asked to be and were excused from voting.

So the motion to amend did not prevail.

Mr. Hanly offered the following amendment to the second specification in Mr. Thomason's resolutions:

Amend by adding—

“They have, by their prominent men and leaders, declared the doctrine of the irrepressible conflict, or the assertion of the principle that the institution of slavery is incompatible with freedom; that both cannot exist at once; that this continent must be wholly free, or wholly slave. They have in one or more instances refused to surrender negro thieves to the constitutional demand of the constituted authority of a sovereign state.”

Which amendment was accepted by Mr. Thomason.

Mr. Adams, of Phillips, offered to amend the second proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States, by striking out the words “with or without slavery, as the constitution of such new state may provide;” and insert, “with slavery fully provided for in and by the constitution of such new state, and not otherwise.”

Mr. Adams, of Phillips, moved its adoption; on which,

Mr. Thomason called for the yeas and nays, which call being sustained, was ordered and had with the following effect:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Phillips, Batson, Crenshaw, Cryer, Dollarhide, Floyd, Grace, Hanly, Hilliard, Johnson, Lanier, Mayo, Patterson of Jackson, Ray, Rhodes, Robinson, Shelton and Totten of Prairie—18.

So the amendment was not adopted.

Messrs. Echols, Smoote, and Totten, of Arkansas, asked to be and were excused from voting.

Mr. Mayo offered the following amendment as an additional resolution to those introduced by Mr. Thomason:

“A RESOLUTION OF REDRESS.

The President and Vice President shall be required to receive the majority of the electoral votes of both the slave and non-slaveholding states; failing in that, a majority of both the slaveholding and non slaveholding states in Congress.”

Mr. Mayo moved its adoption.

Mr. Thomason called for the yeas and nays; whereupon Mr. Mayo withdrew the proposed amendmont, and offered to amend by adding, after the 7th proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States:

Resolved, That whereas, the power of the government of the United States has passed into the hands of a strictly sectional majority, who have manifested an intention to render the commerce of the South subservient to the interests of the North; the opinion of this convention is, that it is positively necessary for the security of the South that the aforesaid government be forever prohibited, by a constitutional enactment, from levying an impost beyond a strictly revenue point.

After some discussion, Mr. Mayo, on leave, withdrew his amendment.

REPORT:

Mr. President—

Your committee on enrollments respectfully report that they have compared the ordinance entitled "an ordinance to provide for holding an election in the State of Arkansas, for the purpose of taking the sense of the people of the state on the question of "co-operation," or "secession," as enrolled, with the original, as it passed the convention, and that the same is correctly enrolled.

GRIFFITH, Chairman.

Which was read and received.

Upon motion of Mr. Thomason, the convention proceeded to an election for five delegates to the Border State Convention; and Mr. President announced that nominations would be in order, whereupon,

Mr. Kelly nominated Hon. Albert Rust.

Mr. Carrigan nominated Hon. S. H. Hempstead.

Mr. Turner nominated Hon. T. H. Bradley.

Mr. Hobson nominated Hon. E. A. Warren.

Mr. Campbell nominated Hon. J. P. Spring.

There being no other nominations, the above named gentlemen were elected by acclamation.

Mr. Floyd offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That this convention tenders its thanks to the Revs. Messrs. Wheat, Welch, Stanley, Watson and Plattenburg, for their services in opening its sessions with prayer.

Which, on motion of Mr. Garland of Pulaski, was adopted.

Mr. Thomason offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the President of this convention be, and he is hereby authorized, and required, to fill by appointment any vacancy that may from any cause occur in the delegation of five elected to attend the border slave states convention, pursuant to resolutions heretofore adopted.

Which, upon motion of Mr. Thomason, was adopted.

Mr. Garland of Hempstead offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, As the sense of this convention, that the people of Arkansas prefer a perpetuity of this Federal Union to its dismemberment, or disruption—provided it can be perpetuated upon a basis guaranteeing equal rights and privileges to all the states alike, south as well as north.

Resolved further, That whenever time shall have proven the Constitution of the United States to be in any particular deficient; or whenever disputes shall arise upon questions touching which the constitution is not explicit; it is more in accordance with the spirit and genius of our government, as understood by its framers, to meet in conventions of the people for the purpose of taking into consideration the causes and nature of our complaints, and of amending the constitution to meet the exigency, than to overthrow or change our present form of government.

Mr. Cypert moved the adoption of the resolutions.

Mr. Mayo offered to amend the resolutions as follows:

But in making this declaration of a mere abstract opinion, truth and justice compels this convention to declare the power of the federal government now being entirely in the hands of a sectional black republican party, who are entirely unfriendly to the domestic institutions of the south, and there is almost a positive certainty that emissaries are now being sent to the Indians on our frontier, to spread the dreadful heresy of abolition among them; Mr. Dale, a notorious abolitionist, being appointed to the head of that department; and who has declared the power of this government shall be used to destroy African slavery whenever the power of the federal government could be brought to bear upon it, and who has announced a policy destructive of southern commerce—all attempts having failed of adjustment, longer delay to dissolve the ties that bind Arkansas to the Federal Union, is fraught with serious danger, both to domestic quietude and prosperity.

Mr. Cypert moved to lay the amendment on the table, on which motion, Mr. Mayo called for the yeas and nays, which call being sustained, was ordered, and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Austin, Baber, Bolinger, Bradley, Bush, Campbell, Carrigan, Cypert, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Fishback, Fort, Garland of Hempstead, Garland of Pulaski, Griffith, Gunter, Hobbs, Hobson, Jester, Kelley, Kennard, Mansfield, Murphy, Parks, Patterson of Van Buren, Slemmons, Smith, Stallings, Stirman, Stillwell, Stout, Thomason, Turner, Walker, Watkins, Williams, Yell and Mr. President—39.

NAYS—Messrs. Adams of Phillips, Batson, Bussey, Clingman, Cryer, Dollarhide, Echols, Flanagan, Floyd, Gould, Hawkins of Sevier, Hill, Hilliard, Johnson, Lanier, Mayo, Patterson of Jackson, Ray, Rhodes, Robinson, Shelton, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie and Wallace—24.

So the amendment was laid on the table.

The question was then stated by Mr. President, to be on the adoption of the resolution, on which, Mr. Carrigan called for the yeas and nays, which was sustained, ordered, and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Austin, Baber, Bolinger, Bradley, Bush, Campbell, Carrigan, Cypert, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Fishback, Flanagan, Fort, Garland of Hempstead, Garland of Pulaski, Griffith, Gunter, Hobbs, Hobson, Jester, Kelley, Kennard, Mansfield, Murphy, Parks, Patterson of Van Buren, Robinson, Smith, Stallings, Stirman, Stout, Stillwell, Thomason, Turner, Walker, Watkins, Williams and Mr. President—40.

NAYS—Messrs. Adams of Phillips, Batson, Bussey, Clingman, Cryer, Dollarhide, Echols, Floyd, Gould, Hawkins of Ashley, Hawkins of Sevier, Hilliard, Johnson, Lanier, Mayo, Patterson of Jackson, Ray, Rhodes, Shelton, Slemmons, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie, Wallace and Yell—24.

Mr. Hill asked to be, and was excused from voting.

Mr. Flanagan explained his vote as follows, and asked that it be spread on the journals, which was so ordered.

"I assent to the abstract declarations in the above resolutions, but hold that we cannot get sufficient guarantees to remedy the present evils, and if we could, they would not be observed."

Mr. Kennard offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That every delegate in this convention be authorized and requested to write out in full his views upon every conceivable question connected with the present condition of affairs, and have them spread upon the records of the convention, or published in the newspapers, ad libitum, at his own expense.

Mr. Yell moved its adoption.

Mr. Watkins moved to postpone the resolution indefinitely, which motion prevailed.

Mr. Floyd offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That 5,000 copies of the journals of this convention be printed at as early a day as possible, and that the public printer be required to send to each member of this convention, by mail, the equal share he is entitled to.

The sergeant-at-arms reported that the absentees were within the bar of the convention.

Mr. President stated the question to recur upon the amendment offered by Mr. Smith, to the resolution offered by Mr. Patterson of Jackson, which had been postponed under the rule for one hour.

Mr. Smith then called for the yeas and nays on the motion to amend, which was sustained, ordered, and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Austin, Baber, Bolinger, Bradley, Bush, Campbell, Carrigan, Cypert, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Fishback, Fort, Garland of Hempstead, Garland of Pulaski, Griffith, Gunter, Hobbs, Hobson, Jester, Kelley, Kennard, Mansfield, Murphy, Parks, Patterson of Van Buren, Robinson, Smith, Stallings, Stillwell, Stirman, Stout, Thomason, Turner, Walker, Watkins, Williams and Mr. President—39.

NAYS—Messrs. Adams of Phillips, Batson, Bussey, Clingman, Cryer, Dollarhide, Echols, Flanagan, Floyd, Gould, Hanly, Hawkins of Ashley, Hawkins of Sevier, Hill, Hilliard, Johnson, Lanier, Mayo, Patterson of Jackson, Ray, Rhodes, Shelton, Slemons, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie, Wallace and Yell—27.

So the amendment to the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Totten of Prairie, moved to amend the resolution as follows:

Amend by inserting after the words "cotton and other slave states," the words "which may join them."

Which was adopted.

Mr. Patterson, on leave, then withdrew the resolution, and Mr. Smith withdrew the amendment.

Mr. Watkins offered the following as an amendment to the resolution offered by Mr. Floyd:

Resolved, 1. That the secretary of this convention be, and he is hereby required, immediately after the adjournment of this convention, to file, or cause to be filed in the office of the secretary of state, the journal of this convention, and that the secretary of state have, as hereafter provided for, five thousand copies of the same printed and distributed in the respective counties.

Resolved, 2. That the secretary of state be, and he is hereby instructed to enroll and file in his office, the ordinances and resolutions of this convention; also, furnish the public printer with a certified copy thereof, superintend the printing of the same at the earliest day possible; and that the secretary furnish the clerks of the counties in this state, with such number of copies, in proportion to the representation thereof, in this convention.

Resolved, 3. That for copying, reading proof, superintending, printing and distributing the journals as above specified, the secretary of state shall be allowed the same fees in proportion to the work done, as he is now allowed by law for similar services, in copying, reading proof and distributing the acts and journals of the legislature of this state.

Which amendment was accepted by Mr. Floyd.

Afterwards, on leave, Mr. Watkins withdrew the amendment, and Mr. Kennard offered the following as a substitute for the resolution:

Resolved, That the secretary of this convention be, and he is hereby instructed to file the journals of this convention, when the convention shall adjourn, in the office of the secretary of state.

Resolved, That the secretary of this convention superintend the printing and distribution of the journals of the convention, and that for his services in copying said journals, furnishing the same to the public printer, reading the proof-sheets, and distributing them when printed, he be allowed the sum of — dollars.

Resolved, That two thousand copies of the journals be printed and distributed to the several counties, in the same manner and in the same proportion that the acts of the General Assembly are now required by law to be distributed.

Resolved, That the secretary of this convention furnish a copy of the journals, as soon as printed, to each of the delegates of the convention, to be sent to them by mail.

Which substitute, on motion, prevailed.

Mr. Gould moved that the blank in the 2d resolution be amended so as to allow the secretary the same pay proposed to be allowed to the secretary of state, in the resolution offered by Mr. Watkins; which motion prevailed.

Mr. Griffith, from the committee on enrollments, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

Also, the ordinance providing for the president to convene this convention between this time and the 19th of August next; and instruct me to report the same correctly enrolled.

GRIFFITH, Chairman.

Which was received.

Mr. Campbell offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the thanks of this convention be tendered to the Hon. David Walker, for his prompt and efficient services as presiding officer over our deliberations; and also to the secretary, assistant secretary, door keeper and other officers for the faithful performance of their respective duties.

Which, on motion of Mr. Gould, was adopted.

Mr. Cypert moved that 5,000 copies of Mr. Thomason's resolutions be printed for the use of the members of the convention; which motion prevailed, and the secretary was instructed to transmit the same by mail to the delegates in proportion to the representation.

On motion of Mr. Totten of Arkansas, the convention adjourned until the 19th day of August, A. D., 1861.

Mr. President presented the following communication:

LITTLE ROCK, May 6th, 1861.

HON. DAVID WALKER, President of the Arkansas State Convention:

SIR—During my absence, I was chosen by the convention, of which you are president, as one of the five delegates from Arkansas to a border states convention, proposed by Virginia, to be held this spring at Frankfort, Kentucky.

I avail myself of the occasion, to express to the members of your body, through you, my grateful thanks for this unsolicited mark of confidence, and the honor thus conferred, for so it ought to be considered. And surely, if I could be of any use to Arkansas, in that position, I would most cheerfully and zealously devote whatever ability I possess to her service. For Arkansas is my own, and the home of my family; I neither look to, have, nor desire any other. A continuous residence here of twenty-five years duration, has indissolubly attached me to her soil, and taught me to appreciate and admire the worth, patriotism, hospitality and chivalry of her people. Arkansas is endeared to me by affection towards the living, and regretful memories for the dead; some of whom, near and dear to me, sleep peacefully in her soil. All my interests, hopes and feelings are, from voluntary choice, inseparably identified with Arkansas, and wherever she may lead, I will follow cheerfully, contentedly and with no grudging or measured loyalty. I sincerely say of her: may she always be right, but right or wrong, I am for her, and with her.

Recent and startling events, occurring since my election, render it proper, in my opinion, that I should yield back to the convention the trust with which I was honored. I do not stop to speculate upon the probabilities of the border states convention being held; but, if I understand the original purpose of it, it would now fail to accomplish it; recent events having entirely changed the position of the border states, and of Arkansas also.

When I was chosen, I was a Union man, and opposed to a disruption of the Federal Union, as long as there remained a hope or prospect of preserving it, and of securing our just rights, and privileges, and of maintaining our honor under, and in it. And I fondly believed that prudence, patriotism, peace, justice and concession prevailing, that result might ultimately be accomplished.

But that hope has now vanished. The war cloud has risen, and is fast spreading over our country north and south, east and west. Preparations for civil war, are witnessed everywhere, and hostile squadrons are ready to meet each other in deadly conflict. President Lincoln, the nominal head, and urged on and sustained by at least the most violent of the black republican party, has, without authority and without necessity, committed himself to the criminal folly of prosecuting a coercive and warlike policy towards the seceded states, and the people thereof. In point of authority, it is a palpable violation of the constitution he professes to respect. In point of policy, it is unwise and short-sighted; because, if persevered in, must eventually result in forcing every border state out of the Union; and pitiless and cruel, because it must inevitably bring an unnatural civil war upon the country—the most dreadful and desolating of all wars, recorded in history. And it is contrary to the implied, if not express, pledges, repeatedly and solemnly given to the American people, to the effect that his administration would be peaceful and conciliatory towards the seceded states. It is a fatal error, on his part, if he supposes that he can coerce or subdue the southern states, or find men in them to aid him, or sympathise with him, in such a criminal and unholy work. The very hills and valleys will swarm with multiplied thousands of brave hearts and valiant arms, eager to resist him, and his marshalled hosts, in the defence of their own and their sister states.

It was only under a peaceful, prudent and conciliatory course towards the seceded states—the policy of leaving them undisturbed and unmolested—avoiding the use of force—that Arkansas was willing to remain in the Union; and this, with the hope that, in due time, there might be a reconstruction of the Union on fair, just and honorable terms; or that the present difficulties and troubles—perhaps not just now, but at no distant period—might be satisfactorily and honorably adjusted. And such, in my opinion, would have been the result of a peaceful policy, and of just and statesmanlike measures on the part of the administration. But unfortunately the war policy—the coercive policy has prevailed; and on the heads of the black republicans be the bloody consequences. Being in the possession of the government, and all its departments, the supreme court excepted—they held the power to save the Union, but would not do it. They had the power to prevent the effusion of blood, but would not do it; and now the responsibility rests with them.

By such means the Union sentiment in Arkansas has been completely changed. The honest differences of opinion that have existed among us, in reference to immediate secession—arising from expediency rather than principle, have passed away. The South has become a unit; all of us standing pledged to resist force; well knowing that no free government can live if force is required to keep it together.

I am a southerner by choice and by adoption. I have lived in a slave state nearly all my life. All my interests and feelings and hopes are bound up with the South. For weal or for woe, I am with her, and for her. Not having been heretofore, I never expect to be, unmindful of her rights, true interests, or honor.

The black republican policy of war being now clearly indicated, Arkansas cannot see it with unconcern, nor submit to it without resistance. Every one must now take sides for or against coercion. There can be but one voice in our state on that proposition. We shall all stand by the South; nor do I believe there are any who would think of acting otherwise. We are now a unit, and ready now, and at all times, to defend the people of the South, their homes, firesides, property and rights to the last extremity, if need be, and against all foes.

Respectfully, your ob't serv't,

S. H. HEMPSTEAD.

Which was read and received.

Mr. Flanagin offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to wait upon the governor and inform him the convention is in session, and invite him to make any communication he may deem proper.

Which was adopted; and Mr. President appointed Messrs. Flanagin, Spivey and Tatum such committee.

On motion of Mr. Totten, of Prairie, the convention took a recess until 3 o'clock, p. m.

Mr. Grace, from the committee on ordinances and resolutions, made the following

REPORT :

Mr. PRESIDENT—

Your committee, in obedience to the instructions of this convention, have directed me to report the accompanying preamble and ordinance, and recommend their adoption.

Respectfully,

W. P. GRACE, Chairman.

ORDINANCE No. 2.

AN ORDINANCE to dissolve the Union now existing between the State of Arkansas and the other states united with her under the compact entitled "The Constitution of the United States of America."

WHEREAS, In addition to the well founded causes of complaint set forth by this convention, in resolutions adopted on the 11th March, A. D. 1861, against the sectional party now in power at Washington city, headed by Abraham Lincoln, he has, in the face of resolutions passed by this convention, pledging the State of Arkansas, to resist to the last extremity, any attempt on the part of such power to coerce any state that had seceded from the old Union, proclaimed to the world that war should be waged against such states, until they should be compelled to submit to their rule, and large forces to accomplish this have, by this same power, been called out, and are now being marshalled to carry out this inhuman design; and to longer submit to such rule, or remain in the old Union of the United States, would be disgraceful and ruinous to the State of Arkansas.

Therefore, we the people of the State of Arkansas, in convention assembled, do hereby declare and ordain, and it is hereby declared and ordained, that the "ordinance and acceptance of compact," passed and approved by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas, on the 18th day of October, A. D. 1846, whereby it was, by said General Assembly, ordained that, by virtue of the authority vested in said General Assembly, by the provisions of an ordinance adopted by the convention of delegates assembled at Little Rock, for the purpose of forming a constitution and system of government for said state, the propositions set forth in "an act supplementary to an act entitled an act for the admission of the State of Arkansas into the Union, and to provide for the due execution of the laws of the United States within the same, and for other purposes, were freely accepted, ratified and irrevocably confirmed articles of compact and union between the State of Arkansas and the United States," and all other laws, and every other law and ordinance, whereby the State of Arkansas became a member of the federal union, be, and the same are hereby, in all respects, and for every purpose herewith consistent, repealed, abrogated and fully, set aside; and the union now subsisting between the State of Arkansas and the other states, under the name of the United States of America, is hereby forever dissolved.

And we do further hereby declare and ordain, that the State of Arkansas hereby resumes to herself all rights and powers heretofore delegated to the government of the United States of America—that her citizens are absolved from all allegiance to said government of the United States, and that she is in full possession and exercise of all the rights and sovereignty which appertain to a free and independent state.

We do further ordain and declare, that all rights acquired and vested under the constitution of the United States of America, or of any act or acts of Congress, or treaty, or under any law of this state, and not incompatible with this ordinance, shall remain in full force and effect, in no wise altered or impaired, and have the same effect as if this ordinance had not been passed.

Which report was received; and Mr. Yell moved that the ordinance be adopted.

Mr. Dinsmore offered the following amendment:

"And that the above ordinance be submitted to the citizens of the State of Arkansas for their acceptance or rejection, by a writ of election, issued by the president of this convention, to be held on the 1st Monday of June next."

Mr. Patterson of Jackson moved to lay the amendment of Mr. Dinsmore on the table.

On which Mr. Totten, of Arkansas, called for the yeas and nays, which call being sustained, was ordered and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Adams of Phillips, Austin, Baber, Batson, Bradley, Bush, Bussey, Carrigan, Clingman, Crenshaw, Cryer, Cypert, Cochran, Dollarhide, Echols, Flanagan, Floyd, Fort, Fuller, Garland of Hempstead, Garland of Pulaski, Gould, Grace, Hanly, Hawkins of Ashley, Hawkins of Sevier, Hill, Hilliard, Hobbs, Hobson, Johnson, Kennard, La-

nier, Laughinghouse, Mansfield, Mayo, Patterson of Jackson, Ray, Rhodes, Robinson, Shelton, Slemmons, Smith, Smoote, Spivey, Stillwell, Stout, Tatum, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie, Walker, Wallace, Watkins, and Yell—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Bolinger, Campbell, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Fishback, Griffith, Gunter, Kelley, Murphy, Parks, Stallings, Thomason, Turner and Mr. President—15.

So the amendment was lost.

The question was then stated to be on the adoption of the ordinance, upon which Mr. Cryer called for the yeas and nays, which being sustained, was ordered and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Adams of Phillips, Austin, Baber, Batson, Bradley, Bush, Bussey, Carrigan, Clingman, Crenshaw, Cryer, Cypert, Cochran, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Dollarhide, Echols, Fishback, Flanagan, Floyd, Fort, Fuller, Garland of Hempstead, Garland of Pulaski, Gould, Grace, Griffith, Hanly, Hawkins of Ashley, Hawkins of Sevier, Hill, Hilliard, Hobbs, Hobson, Johnson, Kennard, Lanier, Laughinghouse, Mansfield, Mayo, Parks, Patterson of Jackson, Ray, Rhodes, Robinson, Shelton, Slemmons, Smith, Smoote, Spivey, Stallings, Stillwell, Stout, Tatum, Thomason, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie, Turner, Walker, Wallace, Watkins, Yell and Mr. President—65.

Adopted and passed in open convention, on the sixth day of May, Anno Domini, 1861.

Attest:

ELIAS C. BOUDINOT, Secretary of the Arkansas State Convention.

Mr. President then ordered the galleries to be cleared, and the doors of the convention to be closed, which being done, the president laid before the convention the following communication:

OFFICE OF THE ARK. STATE TELEGRAPH CO., }
Little Rock, May 6th, 1861. }

of the Arkansas State Convention:

GENTLEMEN—As a means of defence, and to better guard the interests of the state by placing the capital, and the northern and western frontiers in direct and almost instantaneous communication with each other, we propose to extend the Arkansas state telegraph line (now in successful operation from Little Rock to Helena and Memphis), to Van Buren and Fort Smith, via Clarksville, the proposed route—say about 180 miles. A good line of telegraph, constructed under ordinary circumstances, costs about one hundred dollars per mile; but owing to the great difficulty at present in obtaining wire and other requisite materials from the north (where alone they can be procured), this line may cost more—say one hundred and ten dollars per mile, or a total of twenty thousand dollars. We propose to raise half this amount, say ten thousand dollars, ourselves, provided the convention will at once appropriate to our use for the purpose herein set forth, the other half, viz: ten thousand dollars. We say at once, because, if the line is to be built at all, there is not an hour to be lost in getting the wire, etc., into southern territory, if it can be got at all. We propose to make the line from Memphis to Helena, Little Rock and Fort Smith, a common interest; the State of Arkansas to hold stock in the same to the amount of her appropriation. We further propose to give the telegraphic business of the state priority and preference in transmission and delivery, over all other dispatches; and, in case the said line should be constructed, we pledge ourselves to operate and work it so as to guard the interests of the State of Arkansas and of the South, employing for that purpose only those operators who are known to be southern in both interest and feeling, and are ready to serve their country against the common enemy.

The vital importance of such a line of telegraph at this time, when our state may be at any moment invaded from the north or west; must certainly be felt and appreciated by every citizen of Arkansas and of the south; the value of quick and reliable communication between the different portions of the state, in one single instance of invasion, would unquestionably be a thousand fold greater to Arkansas than the total cost of building the line.

Believing the convention will not hesitate to give the assistance asked for, we have secured the exclusive right to the use of the Morse instrument on said line (the only reliable instrument, and the universal one of the country).

Your immediate action in the premises is respectfully solicited.

Your ob't serv'ts,

C. P. BERTRAND,

President, etc.

H. A. MONTGOMERY

Contractor.

Which communication was read, and, upon motion, referred to the committee on state affairs.

Mr. President, at the same time, presented the following telegraphic dispatch:

MAY 7, 1861.

[By telegraph from Camp Rector, via Memphis]

To the members of the Arkansas State Convention:

To the Honorable State Convention of Arkansas—

The subscriber respectfully represents that he is an agent of the Pine Bluff telegraph company, a corporation existing under a charter of the legislature of the State of Arkansas; that the said telegraph company contemplated the construction of several lines of telegraph within the state, as authorized in said charter, and amounting in all, near a thousand miles; that the said company have now in operation a line from Pine Bluff to Little Rock; that the stock in the extension of the line from Pine Bluff to Napoleon, is now short of the amount desired.

That the subscriber has been engaged the past two months in soliciting stock for the extension of the line from Pine Bluff to Princeton, Camden, Eldorado and Magnolia, to the state line of Louisiana, and from Princeton to Arkadelphia and Washington, and state line of Texas, and that the amount of stock thus far subscribed will not warrant the undertaking of immediate construction.

The subscriber, therefore, in behalf of said telegraph company, solicits a stock subscription from the State of Arkansas, and to advance the amount so subscribed, in order to facilitate said extensions to immediate completion, and for the part purchase of wire, etc.

By the state subscribing the following amounts on routes designated, the lines can be completed within 60 or 90 days after the receipt of the wire—several miles of wire now being on hand at Pine Bluff.

The number of miles would be 292, and the stock subscription desired		$8,250 00

HON. DAVID WALKER,

Herewith I beg leave to present a communication and accompanying papers, touching the state of the country, which it will be well perhaps, to exclude at this time, from general circulation.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
LITTLE ROCK, ARK., May 6th, 1861. }

HON. DAVID WALKER,

President of the State Convention:

In response to the invitation given me by your honorable body to communicate to it any views that I might desire to submit, I avail myself of the opportunity to present the following, touching the military and financial condition of the government, having as its executive officer been intimately connected recently in important movements necessary for its defence and safety.

Unexpectedly by the late proclamation of president Lincoln, a state of war has been provoked, involving each and every state of the old confederacy.

That document I regard as a declaration of hostilities as well against the states seceded as those still lingering in the old Union; each slaveholding or southern state having annouced distinctly an utter repugnance to the doctrine of coercion or subjugation of American freemen in or out of the union.

Upon this point at least, we are and have been a unit, for it strikes away the corner-stone from the temple of American liberty.

Immediately following the proclamation issued by the President, I had the honor of receiving from the Hon. Simon Cameron, secretary of war for Mr. Lincoln's government, a requisition for seven hundred and eighty men to be raised from my fellow-citizens of Arkansas, for the very humane and christian purpose of "wiping out" and desolating the south by fire and sword, and other select appliances conceived of by the horde of motley mercenaries now marshaled under and desecrating the flag of the American Union.

To the communication of Mr. Cameron, I returned the following reply—brief but clearly indicative of what I, as the executive of this free people, conceived to be a fitting response to such a piece of presumption and ignorance. For I take it for granted that whatsoever is evolved from so high a political circle as the cabinet at Warhington, is put forth at least in a spirit of candor and not in hypocritical pretence and parade.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
Little Rock, Ark., April 22d, 1861. }

HON. SIMON CAMERON,

Secretary of War, Washington Cily, D. C.

In answer to your requisition for troops from Arkansas, to subjugate the southern states, I have to say, that none will be furnished. The demand is only adding insult to injury.

The people of this commonwealth are freemen, not slaves, and will defend to the last extremity their honor, lives and property, against northern mendacity and usurpation.

HENRY M. RECTOR,

Governor of Arkansas.

The purpose declared by President Lincoln of retaking the forts and arsenals being peculiarly pertinent to the attitude assumed by Arkansas in reference to such properties, I, as precautionary against any movement contemplated for the recapture of the Arsenal at this place, took immediate steps to inform myself if a concentration of troops should be attempted at Fort Smith, assuming that such a movement would be clearly indicative of a present intention to repossess the arsenal here.

On the 19th April, I received intelligence direct from Fort Smith, and from a source that I esteemed reliable, to the effect that a reinforcement of 1,000 United States troops had been ordered to repair promptly to that post. A sense of duty prompted me to take steps to intercept the additional command, and that said fort might not in future become the nucleus of an imposing force, I thought it best to reduce it to statue authority, and convert it into an encampment, fort or barracks, for the accommodation and security of an army of friends instead of a "masked battery," manned by astute and agile enemies.

Col. Solon Borland, a gentleman in whom I, and those whom he commanded had the most implicit confidence, was, as my aid-de-camp, put in command of the expedition with instructions to reduce Fort Smith and its contents, whether reinforced or not to the possession and authority of the state, which was done to my entire satisfaction, and I hope to that of every citizen who has the honor and welfare of his country at heart.

Brigadier-general N. B. Burrow is now in command of this post and public property captured with it, with directions to detach a sufficient force from his brigade to secure it against recapture by the United States forces.

Very shortly subsequent to Mr. Lincoln's declaration of war, the people of Cincinnati having instinctive proclivities towards public plunder, arrested as it is understood, a portion of arms and equipments contracted for in New York by Messrs. Danley and Churchill, commissioners appointed by the legislature to perform that service; four pieces of artillery, ammunition and fixtures therefor, and some cavalry accoutrements being the articles detained, the residue of the goods bought in New York having been received here previous to the inauguration of the Cincinnati policy. Self-preservation being the first law of nature from which the lex-talionis is well established, our citizens very properly, as I think, followed the precedent set by the people of Cincinnati, and captured for detention, not confiscation, several vessels northward bound, and belonging exclusively to the people of that city—and upon inquiry made of me upon this subject, I gave an order to Major General James Yell to take charge of said steamboats, "Mars" and "Ohio Belle"—to secure them and their cargoes against waste or damage until restitution should be made of the property captured in Cincinnati. So far no exchange has been made, and the boats remain under and subject to the proper authorities of Arkansas.

STEAMBOATS SEIZED AT NAPOLEON.

Steamboat "Ohio Belle," about 1000 tons burden; well fitted for transporting troops on the Mississippi river. Her cargo consists of 1500 sacks of salt.

Steamboat "Hetty Gilmer," about 150 tons burden—well adapted for the Arkansas and White rivers—light draught. Has a valuable cargo of assorted produce.

In connection with this subject, I will mention also that the citizens of Napoleon and Pine Bluff, upon their own volition, have recently captured a large amount of government subsistence stores and some cavalry equipments. Which transpiring subsequent to the late proclamation of Mr. Lincoln, I also approbated and consented to receive in the name of the state, and pay the current charges due for freight out of the public treasury.

Regarding it as almost providential that in time of great scarcity, and when positive inhibition is enforced against even the transportation south of the necessities of life, that these cargoes should be lodged amongst our people—who are as justly entitled to them as those inhabiting any other portion of the original Union. But immaterial as the legal right, the act I conceive to be fully justifiable upon the score of self-defence and self-preservation, nature's first, noblest and universal law.

On the 2d ult., intelligence was received from the authorities and the people of East Arkansas and West Tennessee, that a large force of Mr. Lincoln's troops were assembling rapidly at Cairo, having heavy ordnance, horses, and adjuncts necessary for aggressive warfare. Universal alarm and uneasiness prevailed upon the eastern border, evincing a well grounded apprehension that a descent from Cairo was contemplated down the Mississippi for the avowed purpose of laying waste to all which might perchance be in the way. Believing that even short delay might invite an attack upon our citizens, and knowing their utter destitution of the means of defence if invaded, I dispatched a message to Gov. Harris enquiring whether he by authority would co-operate with Arkansas in the defence of the Mississippi. His assent to the proposition was prompt and fully to the point. Gen. Yell was called immediately into service, and orders issued by me to rendezvous such forces as in his opinion became necessary, opposite or near the city of Memphis, and to act in conjunction, as far as possible, with that city and the people of Tennessee in the common defence of that portion of the country; confining his operations however to our own limits and not for aggression, but for defensive purposes.

From his verbal report, I learn that he has five hundred men under arms at Mound City, under strict discipline, armed and equipped for the most efficient service. This much, in a military point of view, I deemed it my duty to do; the constitution and laws passed in conformity thereto authorizing and directing me "to protect the state against invasion," in such manner as the exigency may require, and to employ the army thereof for that purpose.

The timely convocation of your honorable body, possessing plenary powers under the scope of its delegated authority, representing the entire people of the state, evades the necessity of assuming further responsibilities on my part touching these important movements, until the status of the government shall be authoritatively fixed, and a policy indicated for the future guidance of those who may be charged in future with the maintainance and defence of the state. If left to me, it must not be anticipated else than that the last sinew in the last arm of the last man in Arkansas, myself with the rest, shall be brought in requisition rather than a flag of conquest and dishonor shall be unfurled over our people. For to us, it is a war of successful defence or extermination—one of liberty or death—between which I cannot doubt that Arkansians will hesitate to choose.

War, though no luxury, is nevertheless an expensive indulgence, and requires money to conduct it successfully, or even at all.

Arkansas I regard as being in the most exposed condition of any state in the Union. Her contiguity to the Indian territories west, which countries are regarded by the opposing governments respectively, as important—nay, indispensable adjuncts, will make her western border almost the exclusive theatre of war west of the Mississippi. The germ of present difficulties was found in Kansas, and their solution will be had in a great battle to be fought upon the same soil, I predict.

Nor are we less, but more exposed on the shores of the Mississippi. The topography of the country there is inauspicious for defence, insalubrious for troops, and presenting formidable obstacles for their transportation or necessary local movements or evolutions.

With the co-operation of Tennessee, however, our security is much increased, and successful defence made practicable.

Amongst others to the state, there is a serious difficulty in the lack of arms. The supply consists in 10,000 stand of infantry, cavalry service for one regiment, with thirty pieces of artillery, all told—the latter generally of small calibre, and many pieces unfit for service.

A moiety of these given to the eastern and western borders, would afford each section or locality, arms for 5,000 men. This force, though formidable under ordinary circumstances, might nevertheless be confronted by an army of six times their number, making an unequal contest or precipitate retreat inevitable.

I would suggest, therefore, that renewed efforts be made for the acquisition of additional guns, to the extent at least of the unexpended balance appropriated by the legislature for arming the state, amounting, as will be seen by the accompanying report of the auditor marked "E," and herewith submitted, $63,045 74, subject of course to the fulfillment within the time limited of contracts already existing, and entered into by said commissioners. A compliance with which, however, need now be scarcely anticipated.

In connection with this communication, I present the report of Adjutant General Burgevin, (marked "A,") reciting as far as practicable, the existing organization of the militia of the state, and offering some suggestions pertinent to the defence of the western frontier, which I commend to your attention.

If I may venture to suggest any definite mode of operations for the defence of Arkansas, it is that from the volunteer forces now organized in different portions of the state—commissioned, uniformed, and in many instances equipped and well drilled in company discipline—there be called into immediate service, and rendezvous at the arsenal at this place; a number sufficient to form five regiments, having proper regard to the necessary proportions of cavalry, artillery and infantry. This force to be organized under existing laws into battalions and regiments; and after complete organization and discipline to be equipped and marched to the point where danger seems most to threaten. And so again, if circumstances require it, others be called to undergo the same training and preparation to make them effective soldiers. Without training and preparation of this kind at some point previous to entering the field, the most disastrous consequences must be entailed upon our troops if an engagement ensues. The arsenal grounds afford ample room for field exercises—the barracks, comfortable, roomy, with equipments and subsistence at the place to supply them.

The militia forces in many counties being very well drilled and commanded, in others, very poorly—to be held in reserve for emergencies. Our people are full of patriotism and chivalry, and if the needful care be taken to prepare them for the conflict, will give, I vouch-safe, a good account of themselves. Thousands of gallant spirits among us are clamorous for service, that thus far have not been accepted:

In anticipation of the fact, however, that Arkansas must as the best and only hope of permanent protection, unite her fortunes with other seceded states ere long, and thus be relieved in a great measure of the expense incident to a war with the federal powers, I look confidently to the resources of the state in men and money, as sufficient to defend her soil from successful invasion. Blessed by providence with a genial soil and climate, and the promise of an abundant harvest, she can and will succeed in her struggle for independence.

“ And though few are their lights in the gloom of the hour,
Yet the hearts that are striking below,
Have God for their bulwark, and truth for their power;
And they stop not to number the foe.”

I submit also for your information, reports prepared by the commissary, General M. L. Bell, marked “B and C,” showing in detail the amount of public property belonging to the state pertaining to the war department, designating that at Fort Smith, the arsenal, and Hopefield, which has been captured from the United States, giving an approximate estimate of its value.

As legitimate and proper under existing circumstances, I recommend that an agent be dispatched to each and every United States land office, with instructions to seize all moneys that may be on hand, and that the same be appropriated to public use. And further, that the swamp land, internal improvement, seminary and all other specific funds be retained in the treasury for defensive purposes.

That the collection of debts by execution, foreign and domestic, be suspended until peace shall have been restored, or until such time in future as the ability of the people will warrant their collection.

I present herewith also statements D, E and F, prepared by the auditor. The first shows the amount disbursed and for what purpose out of the contingent fund. “E” shows the balance unexpended of appropriation made for arming the state. “F” shows the amount of specie in the state treasury on the 4th May, and the aggregate of internal improvement, saline and swamp land fund now on hand, exclusive of $122,000 yet to be paid in by the sheriffs of the state revenue. It is proper to remark that there are subsisting contracts made by my predecessor for levee and ditch work still unfinished, situated mostly in the Jacksonport swamp land district, which will, of necessity, have to be provided for in land or money of said district, there being no cash on hand pertaining thereto at this time. A small amount ought to be retained of this fund for the payment of contingent expenses accruing heretofore, and others unimportant in amount that will obviously occur hereafter.

Our present and future relations with the two sections of the original Union having been determined upon, it will become at once important that we should pay due regard to our red neighbors of the west. By securing their sympathy and co-operation, we will acquire valuable allies and be able to reciprocate favors by affording them protection against the abolition crusade, that is held in store for them by the northern government. The country occupied by the Indians immediately west of Arkansas, is regarded with intense solicitude by the government at Washington and that of the Confederate States. Fertile, salubrious and most inviting in character and topography, in its geographical position indispensably requisite to the southern government, it ought not and cannot be abandoned to the North if it is in the power of the South to retain it. And I regard it now as being in the most precarious condition; demanding from Arkansas, as matter of security to herself, immediate and prompt action.

I earnestly recommend, therefore, the appointment of commissioners familiar with Indian character, and such as will command the respect and confidence of that people, delegated with authority to enter into preliminary arrangements preparatory to definite treaty stipulations hereafter to be ratified and solemnized with the Confederate States.

I regard this as of pressing importance, because of the utter incapacity on the part of the Indians to resist alone the occupation of their country by federal troops or federal agents.

As the only means of attaining definite information as to the feelings and purposes of these people touching the southern movement, I sent in January last, Maj. J. J. Gaines to confer in person with the chief men of the Cherokees, Creeks and Choctaws. The result of which was, that the two latter nations were found to be the fast and enduring friends of the South; though by no means, in the unsettled condition of their monetary affairs, and the lack of means and preparation of defence courting difficulty with the federal government—yet declaring their sympathies and attachments for the South and southern institutions, with the announcement that when it become necessary to make a choice, that they would share a common destiny with the people of Arkansas, their natural friends and allies. The Cherokees, however, then, and still do occupy a more dubious attitude; and encouragement and assurances of the most explicit character will be required by them from the South to secure their support. With their assent, these nations ought to be admitted as states in the southern government.

Complexity of business and pressing current events demanding immediate attention from me, has left much less time and opportunity for the preparation of this communication than the importance of the subjects referred to merit. It is submitted nevertheless, respectfully, as a summary of information, which may, in some degree, lessen the labors of the convention in arriving at conclusions touching the interests and welfare of the government.

Which was read and referred to the committee on state affairs.

Mr. Patterson of Jackson, offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the committee on state affairs be instructed to report an ordinance whereby an agent may be created to act in behalf of the state, and who shall be fully empowered to negotiate a contract with James S. Smith, within the scope and meaning of the several propositions included in his memorial, presented by him to this convention, touching the manufacture of powder.

Mr. Garland of Pulaski, moved to amend the resolution by striking out the words "instructed to report," and inserting in lieu thereof, the words "directed to enquire into the propriety of reporting;" which was accepted, and the resolution as amended, was adopted.

Mr. Floyd offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That no money or property of any kind whatever, now in the hands of the Superintendant of Indian affairs, or of any Indian agent, being placed there or designed for the Indians on the western frontier of Arkansas, shall be seized. But that the same shall so remain to be applied to and for the use of the several Indian nations, faithfully, as was designed when so placed in their hands for disbursement.

And the people of the State of Arkansas, here in sovereign convention assembled, do hereby pledge the sovereignty of the State of Arkansas, that every thing in their power shall be done to compel a faithful application of all money and property now in the hands of persons or agents designed and intended for the several Indian tribes west of Arkansas.

Which was adopted, and on motion of Mr. Floyd, certified copies of the resolution were ordered to be sent to such superintendent and agents.

Mr. Stillwell offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That all proceedings in civil cases in the circuit courts, or before justices of the peace, within this state, and all final process issued therefrom, are hereby suspended; Provided that this resolution shall not be in force in any county until the judge of the circuit court thereof, (to whom the secretary shall forthwith transmit copies hereof,) shall be advised of the adoption thereof.

But, after some discussion Mr. Stillwell withdrew his resolution.

On motion of Mr. Carrigan the convention took a recess for one hour, at the expiration of which time the convention met and was called to order by the President.

And the colonel of such regiment shall appoint his own staff-officers, including one surgeon and an assistant surgeon.

Mr. Gould moved to amend by inserting after the words "form themselves into a regiment," the words "to be called the second regiment of Arkansas volunteers."

Which was accepted, and the resolution as amended was adopted.

Mr. President laid before the convention the following communication, from his excellency, the governor:

Hon. DAVID WALKER,

President of the Convention:

SIR—The enclosed telegram just received, I desire instructions from the convention.

Respectfully,

H. M. RECTOR.

[By telegraph from

PINE BLUFF, May 9th, 1861.

To Gov. H. M. RECTOR:

Have stopped steamer Arago, nothing contraband on board but she is owned two-thirds in Pennsylvania and one-third in Missouri. Shall I detain her or let her pass up.

THOS. S. JAMES,

Brig. General.

Which was read and

Mr. Hanly offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the governor be requested to instruct the brigadier general holding the steamer Arago, detained at Pine Bluff, to release said steamer without further delay—and that the President of this convention lay a copy of this resolution before his excellency.

Which was adopted, and a copy of the resolution transmitted to the governor.

Mr. President also, at the same time, laid before the convention the following communication:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Little Rock, }
May 9th, 1861. }

Hon. DAVID WALKER,

President of the State Convention:

SIR—I have recently received petitions numerously signed by citizens of the Jacksonport land district, stating that quite a number of good citizens have settled upon and improved tracts of swamp land recently confirmed, having by said settlement pre-emption rights thereto, and that in consequence of the universal scarcity of money, coupled with the fact that many men already, and more would, in all probability be called away from home in defence of their country, they would be unable to pay out their land if offered for sale at this time, and thus lose their labor, and leave their families without a home and in a state of destitution—praying that by executive authority, I direct such sales from being had—having no authority to do this under the law, I replied accordingly, but consented to lay the facts before your honorable body, for such action, if any, as it saw proper to take, which is accordingly done.

There is another matter which I deem it proper to mention. The transportation of troops called into action by the state, being chiefly for the north-eastern or western, and north-western borders is by water carriage, and constitutes a large proportion of the expense incident to army operations; ninety per cent of this money can be saved by using some of the steam craft plying on the Arkansas river, and owned chiefly, and in some instances entirely by citizens of the northern states.

Such ownership being clearly established, I suggest the propriety of confiscating one or more of low water adaptation, for the public use, including any sold by citizens of said northern states to citizens of Arkansas, within the last fifteen days; Provided however, Nothing has been paid thereon, or in case a mere nominal amount has been paid by one of our citizens, he being reimbursed in that sum.

A number of boats suited to the purpose spoken of, have recently left this trade, and there are others which will do so shortly, unless prevented.

HENRY M. RECTOR,

Which was read, and on motion of Mr. Garland of Hempstead, was referred to the committee on state affairs, with instructions to report on the propositions referred to in said communication.

Mr. Mayo introduced the following

ORDINANCE No. 14.

Be it ordained by the people of the State of Arkansas in convention assembled, That the governor of the State of Arkansas be, and he is, hereby authorized to issue commissions to the officers of the "Hampton Rangers," a volunteer company in the county of Monroe, without regard to any state law of the State of Arkansas concerning elections, upon his being informed as to the names and grade of the officers; and that after they are commissioned, they are to remain subject to the militia law of the State of Arkansas, as other volunteer companies are now.

Which, after some discussion, was withdrawn.

The hour having arrived for the special order of the day, Mr. President announced that it would be taken up.

On motion of Mr. Garland of Pulaski, the special order was postponed, and made the special order for to-morrow, immediately after the reading of the journal.

Mr. Adams, from the committee on state affairs, made the following

REPORT:

To the President and Members of the Convention—

The committee on state affairs, to whom was referred the ordinance offered by Hon. Mr. Totten of Prairie, in regard to foreign indebtedness in the State of Arkansas, and in regard to other objects, have instructed me to report the following ordinance as a substitute therefor, and recommend the passage of the same.

Respectfully,

CHAS. W. ADAMS,
one of the committee.

ORDINANCE No. 15.

To prevent giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

WHEREAS, War exists between the United States of America and the Confederate States of America, by the act of the former; and whereas, the State of Arkansas, by dissolving the union between herself and those states which continue to be the United States of America, and by offering to contract an alliance with and in due time to become one of the said Confederate States, has become a party to the said war: Now, therefore,

The people of the State of Arkansas, in general convention assembled, do ordain:

1st. That every citizen of any one of the said United States of America is, and shall henceforward be taken and regarded as an alien enemy of the people of the State of Arkansas, so long as the state whereof he is a citizen shall continue to be one of the United States, or at war with the said Confederate States; and all the consequences and incidents of such status of alien enemy shall, during the whole of such time, attach to him or her: and the same law and rule shall apply to all residents of the District of Columbia and of any territory of the United States, so long as such district or territory shall continue to be held and occupied by the said United States, until said state of war shall cease.

2d. That all personal property, of all such alien enemies, within this state, is hereby declared forfeited to the state, and confiscate; including all goods, wares and merchandize in the hands of any person in this state, belonging to any such alien enemy, and for sale on commission: and this convention will appoint, or authorize the appointment of, the proper number of commissioners, in the different portions of the state, to take possession of and keep and make sales of all such property hereby confiscated.

3d. A board of escheats and confiscations is hereby created, to sit permanently at Little Rock, and to be composed of three proper persons, appointed by the convention, which shall have control over all the commissioners aforesaid, direct sales of property, and prescribe the rules to govern such sales, and receive and account for the proceeds of sales.

4th. The said board shall appoint the commission at Little Rock, for the county of Pulaski, to consist of two persons; and these, being commissioned by the board, shall forthwith enter on the discharge of their duties; and it shall also, after the adjournment of this convention, appoint commissioners for any counties in which they may be needed, and for which the convention shall not have provided commissioners.

5th. Each commission shall proceed, as speedily as possible, within its own county and any other county in the same judicial district for which no commissioner may have been appointed, to search and inquire for and take possession of all such property as aforesaid, and to make out complete invoices or schedules thereof, and to appraise the same at its selling value in cash, to return these to the board of escheats and confiscations, and safely to keep and preserve the property so seized, until and subject to the order of such board.

6th. The board shall cause to be turned over, to the proper military officers, all of such property as may be available for military purposes, and all other of such property shall direct and cause to be sold by such commissioners.

7th. Each such commission, or either member of each, shall have power to administer oaths, and to examine upon oath persons in possession of any property supposed to be held on commission or in trust for alien enemies, and any other persons, in regard to the ownership of such property; and their warrant to any sheriff or constable directing him to seize any such property, shall authorize and require him to do so, and shall empower him, if necessary, to call on the force of the county or on the military for assistance. And any person swearing falsely, and doing so wilfully and intentionally, in his testimony or responses so given on oath before any such commission or commissioner, shall be deemed guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury.

8th. From the decision of any commission, in regard to the title of any such property, the party in possession, or any claimant of the property, may appeal to the board of escheats and confiscations, which shall re-hear the case, upon the testimony taken in writing before the commission, and upon any new testimony offered; and its decision shall be final, saving the constitutional right of revision and direction by the supreme court. It shall have power to prescribe all needful rules and regulations in regard to such appeals, regulating the manner of taking, and the conditions of granting the same, requiring security in cases where it may be necessary, and providing for the safe keeping of the property, or the sale of perishable property during the appeal.

9th. The attorney of the state for the judicial district of each commission shall appear for and represent the state in all cases of contested ownership before such commissions, and give his opinion and advice to each such commission, in these and all other cases, when requested, without fee. And the attorney general shall represent the state in all such cases on appeal, before the board of escheats and confiscations. And the state may, by the attorney of the state, appeal from any final decision of any commission, to such board; the decision whereof against it shall also be final, with the saving aforesaid.

10th. The commissions and board aforesaid are hereby declared to be of the same dignity as prize courts and courts of admiralty; and their proceedings, if impeached, shall receive the same favorable construction; and shall be deemed to be proceedings in rem, whereof all the world has notice; and their decisions and judgments to be binding on all the world, and sales under their orders to give complete title to the purchaser.

Mr. Dinsmore then renewed ordinance No. 18.

Mr. President laid before the convention the following communication:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, }

HON. DAVID WALKER,

President of the State Convention:

SIR: As directed by the convention, the steamer Arago has been brought from Pine Bluff, and is now moored at this port under guard.

Upon examination, I find that two-thirds is owned by Geo. P. Sloane, her captain, the remainder by Benjamin Johnson. In an interview with Capt. Sloane, he announced that although his family reside in Brownsville, Pennsylvania, yet that he was, and has been, for many years engaged in the southern trade, and is a southern man in feeling; that he intends to bring his family immediately and settle in St. Louis.

The Arago is one of the line of boats built for, and is running in the St. Louis and Arkansas river trade. The other owner, Johnson, is a resident of Missouri, and Kentuckian by nativity.

Under these circumstances, I submit to your body whether it is not proper that the Arago should be released. Her entire cargo was taken on at St. Louis, and is consigned to various of our own citizens at different points on the Arkansas, except, say seventy-five tons, produce owned by Capt. Sloane individually. The freight for our own people, I have directed to be delivered, and that belonging to Sloane, I submit, ought to be released also, he paying the expense incurred by the state in fixing his status, and giving him a passport through our waters.

Respectfully submitted, with request for action as early as may be.

H. M. RECTOR,
Governor of Arkansas.

Which was received, and on motion of Mr. Griffith, the president was requested to instruct the governor to permit the steamer "Arago," to pass unconditionally and immediately—which was accordingly done.

Mr. President, at the same time, presented the following communication from the president and directors of the Cairo and Fulton railroad company.

OFFICE CAIRO & FULTON R. R. Co., }
Little Rock, Ark., Wednesday evening, 4 p. m. }
 May 8th, 1861.

The board of directors met pursuant to adjournment of yesterday, and was called to order by the chairman.

PRESENT.—Daniel Ringo, Vice President; Messrs. Geo. C. Watkins, Edw. Cross, Chas. B. Mitchel, Jas. L. Witherspoon, H. C. Dye, Geo. W. Hughes, H. C. Ashley and R. H. Johnson, Directors.

Mr. Watkins submitted the following memorial, which was unanimously adopted, and on motion, it was ordered that the same be signed by the directors and secretary, and that the chairman of the board of directors present a copy of the same to the president of the general convention, now in session.

MEMORIAL.

OFFICE OF THE CAIRO & FULTON R. R. Co., }
Little Rock, Ark., May 8th, 1861. }

To the Convention:

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN—

The stockholders of the Cairo and Fulton railroad company, in ———— Arkansas, represented by their board of directors, now in session at Little Rock, would respectfully represent.

That in the present condition of our country, there is no immediate hope or prospect of our being able to construct any work of so much magnitude as the Cairo and Fulton railroad, nor under existing circumstances, and in view of events that seem inevitable, would it be the interest or policy of any company, or of the people of Arkansas to make the efforts necessary to carry on the enterprise.

The company has an undisputed title to 1,111,343 68-100 acres of land, granted for the purpose of constructing the road.

We believe, if judiciously managed and sold, said lands can be made to yield several millions of dollars.

The company owe for expense of perfecting their land grant, cost of an artistic and accurate survey and location of the line of road, for salaries of officers and other incidental expenses, for grading and other work done, for money borrowed and for instalments paid in on stock subscriptions by individuals and counties, not exceeding one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars.

We believe that it is important to the welfare, prospects and strength of Arkansas that these lands should be offered for sale, so as to pass into private hands to actual settlers, to furnish homes to those who may be called upon to aid in the defence of our country.

We are convinced that the State of Arkansas does and will need all the avails and proceeds of these lands, as well as every other available source of revenue in providing for the defence and general welfare of the commonwealth.

At the same time it would be just and equitable, that the company should be placed in a condition to pay its liabilities contracted in good faith, and reimburse to those counties and individuals the moneys they have advanced in a liberal and public spirit, and with the hope of constructing the road.

We propose to your honorable body to relinquish to the state all of said land to be disposed of in such manner as the convention may direct, so as to constitute a separate fund, and upon the sole condition, that out of the first proceeds of the lands sold, the obligations of the company, including cash paid in on stock subscriptions and amounting as above stated to not exceeding one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars, shall be paid off and discharged.

We are fully persuaded that after doing so, the state can realize over two millions of dollars from the sale of the lands.

We make this proposition with feelings of profound sorrow, that there should be any occasion for so great a sacrifice of a cherished enterprise, and we trust your honorable body will appreciate the patriotic spirit by which we are actuated.

It may be your pleasure to declare the proceeds arising from the sale of these lands a trust fund, to be held, accounted for, and appropriated by the state, to the same or some kindred work of internal improvement whenever more auspicious times may indicate the propriety of such a course.

Should this proposition be favorably entertained, we request a committee of conference to verify the details and accuracy of our statements, of which your honorable body may desire to be entirely satisfied.

We have the honor to be, very respectfully,

CHAS. B. MITCHEL,
HENRY C. ASHLEY,
GEO. C. WATKINS,
EDW. CROSS, SR.
DANIEL RINGO,
HENRY C. DYE,
JAS. L. WITHERSPOON,
GEORGE W. HUGHES,
RICHARD H. JOHNSON.

Attest:

F. A. STARRING, Sec'y.

Which, on motion of Mr. Thomason, was laid on the table for the time being.

On motion of Mr. Floyd, the convention then proceeded to the election of the two brigadier generals, provided for in the ordinance adopted this morning.

Nominations being in order for such officer for the 1st division, Mr. Dinsmore nominated Mr. N. B. Pearce.

Mr. Totten, on leave, then presented the following preamble and

RESOLUTIONS:

WHEREAS, The system of privateering and the granting of letters of marque and reprisal is a legitimate mode of civilized warfare, recognized not only by European governments and international laws, but by the practice and fundamental law, both of the United States of America and the Confederate States of America; And whereas, In accordance with this well-established and universally recognized system of civilized war, the government of the Confederate States of America has proceeded to the issuing of letters of marque and reprisal, and the fitting out of privateers as a means of self defence, and of prosecuting successfully the war which has been forced upon them by the government at Washington; And whereas, Abraham Lincoln, at present President of the United States, in obedience to the suggestions of the commercial interest of the North, as conveyed to him through imposing meetings of the New York chamber of commerce and other channels, has issued a proclamation declaring that any person privateering under the authority of letters of marque and reprisal issued by President Davis, "shall be held amenable to the laws of the United States for the prevention of piracy."

Resolved, That we indorse and approve the action of President Davis and the government at Montgomery in the premise, and that we will sustain it with the whole moral and physical power of the sovereign State of Arkansas; and that we recommend to the government of the Confederate States, that they retain the person of every alien enemy taken as a prisoner, and hold it personally responsible to the people of the South if President Lincoln shall execute his infamous threat to treat a recognized usage of civilized warfare as piracy.

Resolved, That we are a free and independent nation, and have not by conventional agreement or treaty stipulation, parted with any of the essential rights of nations, and that in conducting the war which has been forced upon us by the government at Washington, we are perfectly free to select whatever weapon or mode of warfare is recognized by the laws of nations, and that in that selection we believe it to be the best policy to choose, that method which will most seriously damage and cripple the material interests of the enemy.

Which were read.

Mr. Cypert moved to refer said resolutions to the committee on military affairs, on which motion, Mr. Totten called for the yeas and nays, which call was sustained, ordered and had with the following result:

The question was stated to be on the adoption of the resolution.

On which Mr. Totten, of Prairie, called for the yeas and nays, which call being sustained, was ordered and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. So the resolution was adopted.

On motion, the special order of the day was suspended, and the consideration of ordinances touching the military affairs and condition of the state, were taken up.

On motion of Mr. Batson, Mr. Stirman was allowed to record his vote and affix his signature to the ordinance dissolving the union between the State of Arkansas and the United States of America, which he accordingly did.

The convention then closed the doors and its deliberations were continued in secret.

Ordinances No. 20, 20½, 22, 23 and 30, were then taken up.

On motion of Mr. Kennard, the consideration of ordinances No. 20½, entitled "an ordinance to create a military board for the State of Arkansas," and No. 21, entitled "an ordinance to establish a military board for the State of Arkansas," were made the special order of the hour.

Which, after some discussion, was withdrawn.

The question was then stated to be on the adoption of the amendment proposed by Mr. Totten; which was adopted.

There being no other amendments offered, Mr. President pro tem. stated the question to be on the adoption of the section as amended, whereupon,

Mr. Cypert offered the following as a substitute for the entire section:

Be it ordained by the people of the State of Arkansas in convention assembled, That there shall be established an efficient military corps of the State of Arkansas, for war and active service, which corps shall recognize the governor as commander-in-chief, and be under the control of one major general and two brigadier generals, to be elected by this convention, and commissioned by the governor, who shall hold their offices during good behavior, or until they are found incompetent. The major general shall rank above all military officers of the state, and shall have power, when necessary, to control them and even bring them into actual service of the state. The major general shall have for his staff one adjutant general, who shall rank as brigadier general, one quartermaster general, one commissary general, one judge advocate, one surgeon general, and such aids-de-camp during actual service as he may see proper to appoint; all of whom shall rank as lieutenant colonels of cavalry.

After some discussion, the question was stated to be on the adoption of the substitute.

Mr. Stillwell then moved to recommit the whole subject to a select committee of thirteen, with instructions to report at their earliest possible convenience.

Mr. Yell moved to lay the motion upon the table; which did not prevail.

The question was then stated on the motion to refer; which was lost on division.

Mr. Gould moved the adoption of the first section of the ordinance, as amended.

Mr. Yell was called to the chair.

At the suggestion of Mr. Hanly, Mr. Baber withdrew the proposed additional section.

Mr. Desha, on leave, called up a memorial of the president and directors of the Cairo and Fulton railroad company, proposing to relinquish certain lands to the state, and asking for a conference.

Which was read and referred, on motion of Mr. Kennard, to a select committee, and Mr. President pro tem. appointed Messrs. Patterson, of Jackson, Adams, of Phillips, Desha, Cypert and Flanagan, such committee.

On motion of Mr. Baber, Mr. Robinson was added to the committee.

CORRESPONDENCE:

LITTLE ROCK, May 11th, 1861.

DEAR SIR—The undersigned committee, appointed by the sovereign convention of the people of the State of Arkansas, on this day, under the provisions of an ordinance, also passed this day, by said convention, entitled "an ordinance for raising and equipping a military force in the north-western and north-eastern portions of the state, for the immediate protection of those frontiers," to select and deliver to the two brigadier generals, provided for by, and elected under the provisions of said ordinance, two thousand, five hundred stands of arms each; together with accoutrements, munitions and other things deemed necessary by said committee, and also one complete battery to each of said generals, consisting of six pieces of artillery, and all necessary accompaniments, which ordinance has been submitted to the inspection of your excellency, have the honor to inform your excellency that they are ready to discharge that duty, and respectfully solicit your excellency's co-operation in that behalf.

We have the honor to be,

Your excellency's ob't serv'ts.,

J. P. JOHNSON, Chairman.

T. M. GUNTER,

F. W. DESHA.

JAS. YELL.

To his Excellency,

H. M. RECTOR, Governor.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Little Rock, }
May 12th, 1861. }

To Messrs.

HONs. J. P. JOHNSON,

" T. W. GUNTER,

" JAS YELL,

" FRANK DESHA,

Committee.

GENTLEMEN—I am in receipt of your communication of yesterday, 9 o'clock p. m., wherein you are pleased to inform me that an ordinance has been passed by the state convention, creating the offices of brigadier general for the 1st and 2d division of the state, and directing you to select and deliver from the arsenal, to the brigadier general respectively elected, the necessary arms, accoutrements, ammunition, etc., deemed necessary for the eastern and western portion of the state, advising me that you are ready to discharge that duty in co-operation with myself.

In furtherance of the views of the convention, and especially in discharge of the duty incumbent on me, as the commander-in-chief of the army of the state, I have ordered from the arsenal two thousand of the best guns on hand, six pieces of artillery, with accoutrements and ammunition corresponding with the service and danger anticipated on the western frontier. Five hundred additional guns will be sent, some of them improved arms, so soon as they can be prepared for transportation.

The danger in the west seeming now more imminent than in the eastern portion of the state, I have deemed it proper to employ all the available force to supply the west first, and to send as soon as need be those required for the better security of the Mississippi.

In respect to my co-operation, touching the provision in the ordinance referred to, creating the office of brigadier general. I respectfully submit that it is wholly dependent upon the authority and prerogatives assumed by the incumbents of those offices of which I have so far not been able to acquaint myself. And it is proper to remark that I have had no official information of the appointment of any one to those stations, but received from Col. N. B. Pearce, the following communication:

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., }

Gov. H. M. RECTOR:

I have the honor to resign my commission as colonel of the second regiment of Arkansas militia. Having been created brigadier general, by the state convention, I expect to proceed to the western frontier immediately, and put it in the best condition for defence that I can.

Very respectfully,

N. BART PEARCE,

Brig. Gen'l Army of Arkansas.

To which I replied.

HEAD QUARTERS, A. M. }

Col. N. B. PEARCE:

SIR—You will be good enough to define your authority as brigadier general, and the relations you bear to the commander-in-chief to enable me to determine upon the propriety of granting your resignation this day tendered, and to give such orders to you or to other subordinate officers as the defence of the country requires.

Respectfully,

H. M. RECTOR,

Commander-in-chief A. M.

To which the Colonel has not so far favored me with a response. -

By the constitution and laws of this government, which as its executive officer, I am sworn to support and to "see executed." I am, for and during the term for which I have been elected by the people, commander-in-chief of the army of the state, knowing or recognizing no equal or superior in military rank, except in the post, such officers as the constitution of the old Union set over me, in the future, such others as by authority of the Confederate States, may be assigned to the command of troops mustered from Arkansas into the Confederate service.

The appointment of officers for military purposes (other than those in authority, under existing laws,) in due respect to the action of the convention, seems to me to be less important than might otherwise be the case, from the fact that in a very few days all military action on the part of this state must be superseded and become subordinate to the Confederate powers.

In the detail of the ordinance, I perceive also objections of a constitutional character, to which I beg leave to call to the attention of the convention through you as their committee.

The constitution of the State of Arkansas declares that "perpetuities are contrary to the genius of a republic, and shall not be allowed!!"

This ordinance passed by the convention defines no limit or period to the tenure of office conferred upon the brigadiers general.

Again: that instrument provides, that the commissions shall emanate from the president of the convention. The constitution declaring that all commissions emanating from the State shall "be sealed with the seal of the state, attested by the secretary of state, and signed by the governor."

The constitution again provides that "all officers, both civil and military, acting under the authority of the state shall, before entering on the duties of their offices, take an oath to support the constitution of the state."

The ordinance requires nothing of this kind to be done on the part of the officers thereby provided for.

These objections, constitutional in their character, and in my opinion violative of an instrument that is, until another is substituted, the law of the land, and which I am sworn to support, renders it necessary in yielding my co-operation in the execution of said ordinance, to protest, nevertheless, in the name of the people of the state, whose servant I am, to "see the laws executed," as they are found in a constitution enacted and solemnized by them, and which, until altered, must be that to which I owe obedience.

And I beg further to present in the name and in behalf of the military officers under my command, numbering some five thousand in the state, that although their tenure of office is derived from legislative enactment, not by constitutional right, and may be reformed, subordinated or abolished by legislative authority, yet to do this, when in many instances the commandants of our brigades and regiments have incurred expense, bestowed much labor and time in fitting themselves for service, and, considering also that many of them are accomplished officers, inferior to none who might be selected in the state, to say the least, is quite a hardship, and must engender dissatisfaction produce discord and heart-burnings, and impair morally and physically the effectiveness of our army.

For myself, I repeat what I have often announced, that I will co-operate cheerfully and zealously with the convention in all things, promotive of the success and welfare of the country, so long as it is possible to preserve self respect, my own manhood and the liberties and constitutional rights of the people, whose officer and servant I am.

All which is respectfully submitted.

HENRY M. RECTOR,

Governor and Com.-in-chief A. M.

Since the preparation of the above the response of Col. Pearce has been received, a copy of which is herewith sent, leaving the query propounded unanswered, and quite as much in uncertainty as it was before.

H. M. R.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., }

To His Excellency, HENRY M. RECTOR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the reception of your communication, calling on me to define my authority as brigadier general. My appointment to that office is from the state convention of Arkansas, and my authority is defined in the ordinance passed by the convention, of this day, a copy of which was handed you by the select committee this evening.

I have the honor to remain,

Very respectfully,

Your ob't servant,

N. BART PEARCE,

Brig. General Arkansas.

Mr. Griffith, from a select committee, on leave, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

Your committee, appointed to report to this body a suitable person to be sent to the Indian country on the western border of Arkansas, as a commissioner to confer with such Indians, for the purpose of counteracting any influences which may be used with said Indians prejudicial to the interest of this state, respectfully report and recommend to this convention the name of Col. Mark Bean, of Washington county, whose long acquaintance with the principal men of the several tribes, eminently qualifies him for that important position.

GRIFFITH, Chairman.

Which was read and received.

On motion of Mr. Tatum, the convention took a recess until 3 o'clock, p. m.

Be it further ordained, That no execution shall issue against the property of any citizen of this state while in the military service of this state or the Confederate States, unless the plaintiff or some person for him, shall, at the time of applying for such writ, make and file an affidavit that the property of defendant is about to be removed from the county.

Be it further ordained, That judgments before justices of the peace shall be a lien on personal property, and judgments and decrees of the circuit court shall be a lien on personal property as well as upon real estate.

Be it further ordained, That this ordinance may be repealed in part or in whole by legislative enactment.

Mr. Hanly also made the following report from the committee on judiciary:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on judiciary instruct me to report the accompanying resolution back to the convention and recommend its adoption.

• HANLY, Chairman.

Resolved, That this convention should not assume legislative powers further than are necessary as incidents growing out of the change of our federal relations, and providing for the immediate defence of the state by placing her militia upon a war footing.

Which report was read and received, and the resolution placed upon the calendar.

Mr. Hanly, from the same committee, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on judiciary, to whom was referred the accompanying ordinance, have had the same under consideration, and instruct me to report that they recommend the passage of the ordinance herewith submitted, as a substitute.

HANLY, Chairman.

Which report was read and received, and the following ordinance recommended, was placed upon the calendar:

ORDINANCE No. 41.

AN ORDINANCE To suspend the sale of lands mortgaged to the state to secure stock subscriptions to the Real Estate Bank of the State of Arkansas.

1. Be it ordained by the people of the State of Arkansas in convention assembled, That the act of the General Assembly of this state, entitled “an act to aid the foreclosure of the stock mortgages given to secure stock subscriptions to the Real Estate Bank of the State of Arkansas,” approved the 16th day of January, 1861, be, and the same is hereby so amended as to prohibit the sale of any and all lands under any decree of foreclosure, under said act, until after the expiration of six months from the time that peace may be declared between the government of the United States and the Confederate States of America.

2. Be it further ordained, That any sale made of any lands mortgaged to the Real Estate Bank of the State of Arkansas, to secure stock subscriptions, under a decree rendered in pursuance of the act aforesaid, prior to the time aforesaid, be and the same is hereby declared to be utterly void and of no effect.

SEC. 11. Be it further ordained, That this ordinance may be repealed at any time by legislative enactment.

Mr. Hanly, from the same committee, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on judiciary, to whom was referred the ordinance entitled “an ordinance to amend the third article of the constitution of this state,” have had the same under consideration, and instruct me to report that they do not approve the policy of the ordinance in question, thinking, as they do, that the military exigencies of the times do not require the blending of the departments of the government of the state in the same individual; for your committee feel well satisfied, from their knowledge of the state of popular feeling that is abroad throughout the land, that all the military wants can be supplied without drawing upon those who are in the employment of the state, in either of the other two departments of the government. Whilst your committee are disposed to commend the military zeal and patriotism of their fellow-citizens, they cannot but express their unwillingness to encourage those holding civil offices, belonging to the other departments, to relinquish their service for the purpose of taking upon themselves the performance of military office duties, deriving and receiving pay or compensation for like offices at the same time. Your committee, therefore, in view of these considerations, respectfully recommend to your honorable body not to pass the ordinance in question, but to leave the constitution, in this respect, unchanged.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HANLY, Chairman.

Mr. Smith offered the following

Mr. President presented the following petition of John D. Adams, a citizen of Pulaski county, Arkansas, praying that certain steamboats of which he was part owner, be excepted from confiscation:

To the President and members of the convention of the people of Arkansas:

The petition of John D. Adams, a citizen from childhood of Arkansas, and native of Tennessee, respectfully represents:

That six years since, when your petitioner had been about three years engaged in steamboating, and found himself embarrassed with debt, without means successfully to carry on his business, and without a single friend in his own state who was able to assist him, he found such a friend in Thomson Dean, of Cincinnati, in the State of Ohio, who, with a generous confidence, formed a partnership with your petitioner in the owning and running of steamboats, and furnished him with ample means to carry on that business in Arkansas with energy and success, and your petitioner gratefully acknowledges that to this generous patron he owes all the success he has achieved.

Your petitioner further represents that during the whole time of their partnership, he and the said Thompson Dean have been engaged in carrying the mails in the State of Arkansas, and are still carrying them by steamboats between Little Rock and Memphis' in which business are employed the only two boats in which the said Thomson Dean has any interest with your petitioner, to-wit: the "Chester Ashley" and "Frederick Notrebe," in which his interest is one-fourth of the former and three-eighths of the latter.

Your petitioner further represents that the said Thomson Dean desiring, or being willing at least, to part with that remaining interest, your petitioner shortly before your reassembling, bargained with him for his interest in those two boats, the purchase to date from a settlement made between them about the 25th of March last; and the said Thompson Dean appointed a person in Little Rock to consummate the sale for him, its terms being that your petitioner was to pay him for his interest the sum of seven thousand five hundred dollars, as of the 25th March, 1861.

But your petitioner, apprehensive that if he created this debt it would be confiscated, or at least suspended, upon the dissolution by the State of Arkansas of the compact of union between herself and the others of the United States, has delayed consummating the purchase, and the interest of the said Thomson Dean in said two boats, still continues unchanged.

Your petitioner represents that he could, in anticipation of the withdrawal of Arkansas from the union, have removed the said boats permanently beyond the state, or could have done so at any time since; but as this would have worked injury to the public by stopping the mail service on the Arkansas river, he has refrained from doing so, and he submits that the said Thompson Dean, having, through his confidence in the justice of Arkansas, permitted this to be done, and the state having accepted the services thus rendered, it would be ill faith on her part now to confiscate his interest in said boats thus engaged in her public service.

Your petitioner further represents that although the said Thompson Dean is a resident of the State of Ohio, he is also largely engaged in business in Memphis, in the State of Tennessee, and in Galveston, Texas, and has no desire to withdraw his property from, or cease his business in Arkansas.

In consideration of all of which your petitioner most humbly prays that the people of the State of Arkansas in general convention, will not deem it necessary for the public interest to confiscate the property of his benefactor engaged in their service, but will, by special exception, if necessary, exempt the same from confiscation, and authorize your petitioner to purchase the same, and to pay the debt which shall be so incurred, or to continue said partnership, as to him may seem best; which being granted, your petitioner will continue the said boats upon the Arkansas and Mississippi rivers, between Little Rock and the cities of Memphis and New Orleans, with them render such service to the people of Arkansas in carrying the mails and carrying munitions of war, as the authorities of the state may require, and as in duty bound will ever pray.

JOHN D. ADAMS.

Little Rock, May 18, 1861.

Which was read.

Whereupon, Mr. Floyd introduced the following

ORDINANCE No. 43.

AN ORDINANCE for the relief of John D. Adams.

Be it ordained by the people of the State of Arkansas in convention assembled, That all the steamboats, either commanded or owned in whole or part, by John D. Adams, a citizen of the county of Pulaski, in the State of Arkansas, be, and the same are hereby made exempt from all and every kind of seizure or confiscation, by any person or persons whatever: and that said Adams shall not be molested in the enjoyment of the use of his boats by any person or authority of this state.

Which was read and adopted.

Mr. Graves, from a select committee, appointed to enquire into certain claims for storage, drayage, etc., incurred in seizing government stores at Pine Bluff, returned the papers and moved that they be referred to the committee on military affairs.

Mr. Johnson, from a select committee, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The select committee to whom was referred the resolution indorsing the action of the citizens of Pine Bluff, Helena and Napoleon in the seizure of certain boats and cargoes, have instructed me to return the same and recommend its passage. The committee would further recommend that said property be taken possession of by said convention. The committee have failed to receive as full information as they would have desired, as to the amount of property taken. The report of Col. W. Warner Johnson of an account taken at Napoleon is herewith submitted.

JOHNSON, Chairman.

List of property seized at Napoleon, Arkansas, by order of Col. W. Warner Johnson.

119,000 catridges—property of the United States government.
20 boxes cavalry equipments do do

This property has since been sent to Little Rock, by order of brigadier general James.

One steamboat, called the "Ohio Belle," of about 1000 tons burden, in good order, and well suited for the transportation of troops and supplies, having an excellent cabin, and the lower deck filled with bunks; she can transport comfortably 2000 troops. Her estimated value $15,000. The cargo consists of 1500 sacks salt, worth $2,000.

Also, the steam boat "Hetty Gillmore," about 100 or 150 tons burden, nearly new, and well adopted for the navigation of the White and Arkansas rivers, worth from $8 to $10,000. She has an assorted cargo of produce, flour, etc., supposed to be worth $4 or $5000. The above boats papers show that they were owned by citizens of Cincinnati, and for that reason are seized for the benefit of the State of Arkansas, and are now held at Napoleon, subject to the order of the executive.

W. WARREN JOHNSON,
Col. 6th Reg. A. M.

Mr. Fishback, from said committee, made the following minority

REPORT:

The undersigned, one of the select committee appointed by your honorable body to inquire into the seizure and confiscation of the boats "Mars," "Hetty Gillmore," "Ohio Belle," and "Queen of the West," together with certain private property connected therewith, differing from his fellow-committeemen as to the propriety of said seizure, would beg leave respectfully to submit the following as a minority

REPORT:

The facts into which your committee were called to inquire so far as they have been able to gather them, are as follows:

Mars and Queen of the West seized about the last of April. So much of the cargo of both as belonged to citizens of northern states, transported to Mars and still retained. The Queen of the West released. Mars belongs to citizens of Cincinnati.

Boat Hetty Gillmore, owned by citizens of Cincinnati; seized in the latter part of April last, together with certain private property, owned by citizens of same city.

Boat Ohio Belle, also seized about same time and owned by citizens of Cincinnati, having certain private property as well as some property belonging to the government of the United States.

The undersigned fully appreciating and earnestly disposed to encourage the patriotic motives which induced the captors of the boats Mars, Hetty Gillmore, Queen of the West and Ohio Belle, together with the private property accompanying them, would yet respectfully suggest to your honorable body, that in the limited research, the undersigned has been able to afford the subject, he has been wholly unsuccessful in finding in the rules which govern modern civilized warfare, even one approved precedent for the confiscation of property strictly private, and in no sense contraband of war, and especially of such property found within the limits of the belligerent before or at the time of the declaration of war. And apart from precedent, a decent regard for the opinions of mankind, not less than considerations of enlightened humanity and of sound policy, demand, in the humble judgment of the undersigned, that when nations are at war, all the rights of private individuals, whether of person or of property, should be rigidly observed, except perhaps in cases of absolute necessity, or of urgent expediency. Nor is it any answer at all to a position so just, and which so commends itself to our sense of right, that our enemy are pursuing a different course.

The undersigned finds himself unable to appreciate either that system of ethics or the reasonings upon which it is based, which makes the conduct of others the rule of our own.

The lex-talionis, before the lights of religion and the humane demands of our enlightened civilization, is, and surely it is not to be deplored that it is, fast failing of its efficacy, as a plea before the tribunal of an enlightened public opinion. If, indeed, there be a difference between savage and civilized warfare which deserves to be termed characteristic, it consists in that it is the constant aim of the latter to effectually circumscribe with checks and restraints all those unholier passions of our nation to which the law of retaliation gives at once vitality and scope. To conduct a war, and more especially a civil war upon terms in which our feelings of revenge find no restraint, and individual rights no protection from the hand of encouraged plunder, would be to inaugurate a system of warfare as cruel and unjust in its nature, as it would be devastating in its consequences.

And the undersigned is equally at a loss to understand that it is at all consistent with sound and enlightened policy for belligerent nations thus wantonly to invade the sanctity of private rights, when in no sense, or in no adequate sense, necessary for the objects of the war. Neither the advantage accruing to the belligent, nor the injury befalling the enemy can possibly compensate the enervating effects which an outraged public opinion, not less than a consciousness of having done violence to our own sense of right, is but sure to superinduce. It but nerves our enemy while it but weakens ourselves!

In the present instance the boats and property alluded to were in our midst before war had been formally declared under the plighted public faith, and by virtue of that entire freedom all civilized nations are so disposed to extend to commercial intercourse. The mere pecuniary value, therefore, lost to the one side, or gained by the other, constitute the least important consideration connected with this, as the undersigned is forced to regard it, most unfortunate seizure.

But the undersigned feeling that he would be performing but a superfluous work to do more than to call the attention of your honorable body to conclusions so entirely consonant with all our ideas of national duty, would, without further discussion, recommend the passage of the following

RESOLUTIONS:

Resolved, That the governor of the State of Arkansas be, and he is hereby ordered to cause a schedule of the boats above mentioned, and the property captured with them, belonging to private individuals, and not contraband of war, and that the same be, and is hereby restored to their proper owners.

Resolved, That if circumstances have rendered it impossible to return the property itself, the governor be, and he is hereby authorized to have the same appraised by three householders, and to give the owners a full equivalent therefor from any moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Respectfully submitted, etc.,

W. M. FISHBACK.

Which was read.

Mr. Tatum moved to lay the minority report on the table.

Upon which Mr. Fishback called for the yeas and nays, which call was sustained, ordered, and had with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Adams of Phillips, Baber, Batson, Bush, Bussey, Carrigan, Clingman, Crenshaw, Cryer, Cochran, Desha, Dollarhide, Flanagan, Floyd, Fort, Fuller, Garland, Gould, Grace, Hanly, Hawkins of Ashley, Hawkins of Sevier, Hill, Hilliard, Hobson, Johnson, Kennard, Lanier, Mayo, Patterson of Jackson, Patterson of Van Buren, Ray, Rhodes, Robinson, Slemons, Smith, Smoote, Spivey, Stallings, Stillwell, Stirman, Tatum, Totten of Arkansas, Wallace, Yell and Mr. President—47.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

STALLINGS, Chairman.

Which was read and adopted.

Mr. Hobson, on leave, introduced

ORDINANCE No. 44.

AN ORDINANCE to authorize the governor to commission certain military officers, and for other purposes.

Be it ordained by the people of the State of Arkansas in convention assembled, That the governor of the State of Arkansas is hereby authorized to commission all the officers elected by the volunteer regiment, "Arkansas Rifles," without regard to any law of the State of Arkansas concerning elections, upon the presentation to him of the names of said officers and their grades of office, and so soon as they are commissioned he will tender said regiment to the President of the Confederate States, to be employed under his command, as a regiment of the Confederate States.

Which was read.

Mr. Flanagin offered to amend by adding to the ordinance

ORDINANCE No. 45.

AN ORDINANCE to organize a regiment of volunteer infantry to be called the third regiment.

Be it ordained, That a regiment of volunteers, to be composed of one company from Columbia county, one company from Hempstead county, one company from Johnson county, one company from Arkansas county, one company from Dallas county, one company from Pike county, one company from Hot

Be it further ordained, That no pay shall be received by said regiment until it shall be mustered into the service of the state or Confederate States.

Which was accepted.

Mr. Dollarhide offered to amend:

Amend by striking out one of the companies from Prairie county, and insert "one company from Sevier county."

Mr. Batson then offered the following ordinance No. 46, as a substitute for the ordinance and amendment:

Be it ordained by the people of the State of Arkansas, That the military board of the State of Arkansas may accept such number of volunteer companies as may be deemed necessary, and organize the same into battalions and regiments in such manner as said board may think proper.

On motion of Mr. Gould, the ordinance, amendment and substitute were laid upon the table.

Mr. Flanagan offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That this convention will not, hereafter, consider any matter of detail which may be properly disposed of by the military board or other constituted authorities.

Mr. Hobson moved to amend by saying "that there be no suspension of rules for any purpose whatever."

Which was decided to be out of order.

Mr. Clingman offered the following as a substitute for the

RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That this convention will not hereafter consider any local matter that may be disposed of by any other functionary of this state, except the legislature.

Which on motion of Mr. Smoote, was laid on the table.

Mr. Flanagan's resolution was then adopted.

On motion of Mr. Gould, ordinance No. 30 was taken up and read

Mr. Gould moved to postpone it indefinitely.

After some discussion, the question being stated on indefinite postponement, Mr. Yell called for the yeas and nays, which call being sustained was ordered and had, with the following result:

YEAS—Messrs. Adams of Phillips, Batson, Flanagan, Floyd, Fuller, Gould and Johnson—7.

NAYS—Messrs. Adams of Izard, Austin, Baber, Bush, Campbell, Carrigan, Clingman, Crenshaw, Cryer, Cypert, Cochran, Desha, Dinsmore, Dodson, Dollarhide, Fort, Garland, Grace, Griffith, Gunter, Hanly, Hawkins of Ashley, Hawkins of Sevier, Hill, Hilliard, Hobbs, Kelley, Kennard, Lanier, Mansfield, Mayo, Murphy, Patterson of Jackson, Patterson of Van Buren, Ray, Rhodes, Robinson, Slemons, Smith, Smoote, Spivey, Stallings, Stillwell, Stirman, Stout, Tatum, Totten of Arkansas, Totten of Prairie, Turner, Wallace, Yell and Mr. President—52.

So the motion to postpone did not prevail.

Mr. Lanier moved to amend the ordinance by adding the following proviso:

Nothing in this ordinance, or any other ordinance passed by this convention, or in any law or the constitution of this state, shall authorize the employment of an armed force in the actual service of this state, unless it shall be, first, to meet an emergency which shall be so urgent as to preclude provision being made for it by the Confederate States of America, so long as the state shall be a member of the same, or to provide an essential defence when the Confederate States shall neglect or refuse to provide for it, or to suppress an insurrection or repel an invasion.

Mr. Johnson offered the following

ORDINANCE NO. 47,

Which he introduced as a substitute for ordinance No. 30. and the amendment:

AN ORDINANCE concerning the Militia of this State.

REPORT:

Mr. President and members of the convention:

GENTLEMEN: The committee to whom was referred the duty to prepare an ordinance providing for the transfer of a portion of the military force of the State of Arkansas to the Confederate States of America, and have instructed me to report the accompanying ordinance and resolution for the action of the convention.

Your committee would further report that they have reported no provision for the distribution of the arms and ammunition now in store at the arsenal, for the reason that, as is known to the convention, brigadier general Bradley has not as yet received the portion of the same ordered to be delivered to him, and your committee have no date by which they could be governed in that respect; nor have they reported any provisions as to the collection of the arms of the state, deeming that this matter is peculiarly within the province of the military board, and there they have left for the future action of the convention.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

CHAS. W. ADAMS, Chairman.

Which was received.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Little Rock,
May 22, 1861. }

SIR. In deference to the request of the convention, now in session, as expressed by the preamble and resolutions of that body, transmitted to me this morning, I have the honor to inform you that my proclamation for the convening of the General Assembly of this state will be withheld for the present.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

Hon. DAVID WALKER,

Little Rock, Arkansas.

Mr. Stallings, from the committee on ways and means, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The standing committee on ways and means, to whom was recommitted the account and claims of S. H. Tucker & Co., for clothing and outfit for the 1st Arkansas regiment, which was ordered to march to Lynchburg, Virginia, amounting to the sum of $859 60, have had the same again under consideration. The committee having given the subject their mature investigation, are of opinion that it would be wholly unjust to withhold from the claimant the amount that has been properly certified by Col. James F. Fagan, who has command of the regiment. The articles furnished were indispensable for the comfort of our patriotic, chivalrous soldiers, who, at the first call of their country, came forward at a moment's call to defend the integrity of the South, without any preparation whatever for their comfort. Therefore, your committee insist that it is just, right and proper to allow and pay off the claim of S. H. Tucker & Co.; and that the president of this convention be, and he is hereby directed to certify the same to the auditor of public accounts, requiring him to draw his warrant on the treasury for the amount of the same, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

STALLINGS, Chairman.

Which report was adopted.

Mr. Hanly, from the committee on judiciary, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on judiciary, to whom was referred the ordinance entitled "an ordinance to repeal an act of the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas, approved January 15th, 1861, entitled 'an act to establish nine judicial circuits in this state,'" have had the same under consideration, and instruct me to report that they appreciate and commend the policy which dictated the ordinance in question, it being, as your committee are satisfied, retrenchment in the expenditures of the state, with the view of enabling it to bear the heavy outlays anticipated to result from the war in which we are now engaged, in common with our fellow-citizens of the Confederate States of America; but, notwithstanding this, your committee do not regard the amount that would be saved to the state by the ordinance in question, to be of sufficient value to compensate it for the derangement and inconvenience that would be occasioned by the ordinance under consideration, and therefore, instruct me to recommend to your honorable body the rejection of said ordinance.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HANLY, Chairman.

Which report was read and adopted, and the ordinance thereby rejected.

Mr. Hanly, from the same committee, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on judiciary, to whom was referred the petition or memorial of William Hill, accompanied by a resolution, intended to authorize the president of this convention to grant an unconditional pardon to Francis M. Hill, a convict in the jail and penitentiary house of this state, have had the same under consideration, and instruct me to report that they are satisfied, from the facts which your committee had before them, that the young man, Francis M. Hill, mentioned in the petition or memorial, is deserving the clemency of your honorable body which is asked by the terms of the petition or memorial in question. Your committee have, therefore, instructed me to report an ordinance, empowering the president of this convention to issue letters of pardon to the said Francis M. Hill, and directing therein the keeper of the penitentiary, upon the presentation of such letters of pardon to him, to discharge the said Francis M. Hill from further imprisonment therein. And your committee, fearing lest other cases, deserving like clemency, may exist, have instructed me to report a general ordinance, empowering the governor of this state to pardon any other person held in custody, whether under decree or civil process, emanating from either of the United States district courts, lately in existence in this state, under like circumstances, limitations or restrictions, prescribed in the constitution of this state.

Your committee instruct me to recommend to your honorable body the passage of the two ordinances herewith submitted.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HANLY, Chairman.

Which was received, and the following petition read:

To the Convention of the sovereign people of the State of Arkansas:

The petition of William Hill, a citizen of the county of Pulaski, in said State of Arkansas, respectfully shows unto your honorable body that, at the October term, A. D. 1858, of the district court of the United States, in and for the eastern district of the State of Arkansas, an indictment, in due form of law, was prepared against Francis M. Hill, son of this petitioner, for the offence of robbing the mails of said United States government; that on the 7th day of October, 1858, said Francis M. Hill, appeared in said court, openly confessed his guilt, and threw himself upon the mercy of the court, and was accordingly sentenced to six years imprisonment in the jail and penitentiary house of the State of Arkansas, where he has since been closely confined, and subjected to hard labor; that said Francis M., was but a mere youth at the time of the commission of the crime for which he has been so fearfully punished; a country-raised boy, who was misguided by the enticements of city life, and lead into sin by the temptations of pleasure and folly; that, when charged with the crime, he readily acknowledged it, made no attempt at concealment, but showed every indication of sincere penitence, and mortification at the disgrace, brought by his own folly and sin, upon an affectionate father and mother and innocent sisters, whose tender age prevented their knowing the extent of his degradation, and their own disgrace.

Petitioner further represents that, after the imprisonment of his son, as aforesaid, a memorial, signed by most of the citizens of this county, was transmitted to his excellency, James Buchanan, then President of the United States, setting forth the facts connected with the conviction aforesaid, and was favorably considered by him, being urged by both of the United States senators from this state, and other prominent citizens, who were acquainted with the facts, but his decision in the matter was suspended until he could receive a communication on the subject from Hon. Daniel Ringo, then district judge in said eastern district of Arkansas, and who presided when said judgment and sentence of imprisonment was rendered. Petitioner further represents that the said Hon. Daniel Ringo did, afterwards, address a letter to the president, recommending the pardon of said Francis M. Hill, but amid all the excitement and confusion consequent upon the election of Mr. Lincoln, and the secession of several of the southern states, and the general disarrangement of all governmental matters, this subject was neglected, and no action was taken on Judge Ringo's recommendation.

Petitioner submits, that inasmuch as the people of this state, acting through your honorable body, have dissolved their connection with the old Federal Union, this convention is the only source to which he can now look for that clemency, in behalf of his erring son, which the nature of his case would seem to justify. And, for as much as he has shown every indication of a sincere repentance, and the rigid demands of the law have been amply satisfied, and the community, in which the offence was committed, are now almost unanimously of opinion that the imprisonment for over two years and a half, which he has undergone, has been a punishment at least commensurate with the crime committed, your petitioner would humbly pray your honorable body to pass an ordinance, releasing said Francis M. Hill from the remainder of the term for which he was sentenced; and he presents herewith the petition of numerous good citizens of said Pulaski county, joining in the prayer hereof, etc.

WILLIAM HILL.

We, the undersigned, recommend the above petition to the favorable consideration of the convention, and pray them to grant the pardon therein prayed for.

LITTLE ROCK, ARKS., Jan'y 28, 1861.

To his excellency,

The President of the United States:

SIR—At the October term of the district court of the United States, in and for the eastern district of Arkansas, in the year A. D. 1858, a young man named Francis Hill, was indicted for the crime of stealing from the post-office at Little Rock, certain letters belonging to the United States mail, containing money and things valuable, and being arraigned upon such charge pleaded guilty thereto, and was, by said court thereupon sentenced to imprisonment, at hard labor, in the penitentiary of said state for a term of six years. Since then he has been, and is now, confined in said prison, in execution of said sentence, and has, during the whole period of such imprisonment, as I am informed by the keepers of said prison, behaved well, and exhibited evidences of contrition for his said act.

His parents are respectable citizens of this community, and he, previous to his detection in this act of larceny, maintained a good character, having been, until a short time previous, for years engaged as a clerk or assistant in the post-office at this place, in which capacity he was accommodating, and had the confidence generally of the people. But there had been, before his detection, sundry thefts from the mail, running through a period of some months, which, after his detection, were generally believed to have been perpetrated by him, or him and others in concert; and I have recently been informed that there is good reason to believe that whatever part he may have had in such depredations upon the mail, it was induced mainly by others, with whom he had unfortunately become associated, who were much worse than he, and having gained his confidence were enabled to influence him to this conduct, he being then very young, and of an easy and confiding disposition, so that the moral turpitude of his crime is believed to rest more upon his associates and confederates than upon himself. Besides this, he has never evinced an evil or vicious disposition, and there are many good citizens here who know him well, who, I have reason to believe, desire his release from said imprisonment.

I presided at his conviction, and pronounced the sentence against him, but now believe that in his case the law has been sufficiently vindicated, and that neither society, or the public justice would suffer detriment by his discharge. I therefore unite with those who have heretofore petitioned you to pardon him, in accommodating it, if upon these facts and circumstances you shall deem it proper to relieve him from the further execution of said sentence.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

DANIEL RINGO, U. S. Judge for the Arkansas Districts.

The ordinance accompanying the report was then read:

ORDINANCE No. 53.

AN ORDINANCE for the relief of Francis M. Hill.

Be it ordained by the people of the State of Arkansas in convention assembled, That the president of this convention be, and he is hereby authorized and empowered to grant an uncondi-

2. Be it further ordained, That upon the evidence of the pardon, to be issued by the president aforesaid, being presented to the keeper of the jail and penitentiary house of this state, he is hereby required to discharge the said Francis M. Hill from his custody.

Which was also adopted.

Mr. Stillwell offered the following

The journal of yesterday was read, approved and signed.

On leave, Mr. Turner presented the following memorial of Col. N. B. Burrow, representing that as one of the securities of the late Peter T. Crutchfield, deceased, there was in his, and the hands of certain others as such securities, certain moneys of the United States, etc., etc.

LITTLE ROCK, May 22d, 1861.HON. JESSE TURNER, Delegate to Convention:

DEAR SIR—Allow me through this communication, to inform the honorable convention, of which you are a member, that on the 12th January last, Major P. T. Crutchfield departed this life, leaving to the possession of his official securities, the funds of the United States, held by him prior to that time in his several official characters, as receiver of the Little Rock land district, disbursing agent of the post office department, pension agent, disbursing agent for the U. S. paymasters and Indian agencies west, and U. S. depository, at Little Rock, Arkansas; these funds were held intact, until after the meeting and adjournment of the sovereign state convention, in March last, with the view, on my part, of placing the sum thus on deposit (say one hundred thousand dollars) at the control of the convention—since that time the pressing wants of those who had rendered, in Arkansas, service to the federal government, as well as the necessities of commerce about the city of Little Rock, where the U. S. drafts had accumulated, required payments to be made. Large amounts of U. S. drafts, chiefly for postal service have accordingly been paid by the securities out of the funds which were on hand. The undersigned has paid accounts adjudicated and allowed by the U. S. district court, at Van Buren, Arkansas. There are other like accounts, which have not as yet been adjudicated by any authorized agent, upon which the necessities of those charged with the keeping of the U. S. prisoners, have induced me, likewise, to make advances from my private purse—accounts of officers of the late federal court at Little Rock, Arkansas, are to some extent in the same condition, as I am informed.

In addition to this, the claims of the widow and legal representatives of Maj. P. T. Crutchfield, deceased, for extra services rendered the government in his several onerous official characters remain unsettled. The legislature of Arkansas has heretofore recommended an adjustment of this claim upon a basis satisfactory to the late depository, and those officially cognizant of the great labors performed, and services rendered, have constantly declared their intention to make compensation. It remains yet to be done.

I ask, in behalf of these several parties, that the sovereign convention of Arkansas interpose its authority for the protection of its citizens in this behalf, and appoint some competent arbiter to adjudicate the unsettled claims, which it would seem must be paid out of this fund.

The Hon. Daniel Ringo, late U. S. district judge for the district of Arkansas, is, by reason of the office formerly held by him, specially familiar with the character of all claims of the respective officers of said courts, and the accounts of the courts and dues to jurors and others, and would enter upon the discharge of the duties indicated, as I am informed, if requested thereto by the convention.

Should the convention think proper to appoint Judge Ringo to examine, adjudicate and certify the claims of officers of the late U. S. courts in Arkansas, I ask, in behalf of the legal representatives of Maj. P. T. Crutchfield, deceased, that Judge Ringo be authorized also to examine and adjudicate the claims for allowances for extra services rendered as aforesaid, etc.

On the 17th April last, orders were issued by Mr. Mitchell, comptroller of the treasury, at Washington, to the representatives of the deceased U. S. Depository, to pay over, etc.

On the 3d of the present month, Mr. Chase at the city of Washington, addressed an additional letter to the undersigned, which was not received until after the passage of the ordinance of secession, directing the moneys on hand, to be paid over, for I consider it improper, if not illegal and disloyal for me to obey further, any orders of the U. S. treasurer.

I therefore respectfully ask of the sovereign state convention to assume active control of the whole subject, and possession of the balances on hand, after such payments have been made, as by the convention may be ordered.

There are other securities in the premises; my wife, however, is the daughter, and only child of Maj. P. T. Crutchfield, dec'd., and honor would require me to interpose my whole estate between the other securities and ultimate loss, and therefore, I consider myself chiefly responsible.

Public business, of importance, calls me, for a few days, to the west, and whilst I do not understand that there is any very great or material difference of opinion among the securities, I address this letter in my own name, because I have not time at present to confer more fully with the gentlemen whose names are upon the official bonds of the late U. S. Depository.

The outside keys of the vault which contain the moneys on hand, as well as the keys of the boxes in which it is placed, are in my possession, and will be at the command of the convention upon my return to this city, in a week or ten days.

The precise amount on hand cannot be stated, as the accounts have not been made up, but after paying the claims indicated and outstanding U. S. post office drafts, the balance may be stated at from five to ten thousand dollars.

Respectfully, your ob't serv't.,

N. B. BURROW.

Mr. Stillwell presented the following memorial from Messrs. Tucker, Bertrand, and others, the remainder of such securities, relating to the same object.

To the Arkansas State Convention now in session:

The undersigned, your memorialists, securities of the late Peter T. Crutchfield, U. S. Receiver and Depositary, at Little Rock, respectfully represent, that he died on the 12th of January, 1861, leaving on hand of government moneys about $94,000, and which was from that time considered in the hands of his securities, and for which they were held responsible.

Those securities are, S. H. Tucker, C. P. Bertrand, Peter Hanger, N. B. Burrow and S. H. Hempstead, and who are good for the amount.

The securities, as it was their duty to do, proceeded in April last to pay drafts drawn on the fund, in favor of our own citizens, to the amount of about $58,000, and for which they hold the drafts as vouchers; and much of which was for postal service in our state. Not a dollar was paid to any other than citizens of our state,

There is due to Messrs. Rapley & Hanger, for mail service in Arkansas, an amount sufficient to exhaust the balance of the fund, and for which they are expecting drafts, and the undersigned expect and desire to appropriate the money in that way, and therefore respectfully request the convention to take no action in reference to this balance; assuring the convention that it will be held and faithfully appropriated to that object.

We make this request because we learn that one of the securities (N. B. Burrow,) has, or will ask the convention to take jurisdiction of, and possession of this money; and which is without our consent, and against our protest; and which would very seriously embarrass and injure us, and without any necessity for it. We do not, of course deny the right of one security to express any opinion he pleases as to this fund or its destination; but we cannot concede that any one can make an offer of, or control it, against the wishes of the others, so as in any manner to commit or bind them or in any way affect their rights.

Whatever may be thought or said of the right of confiscation, unto which we do not enter at all; it is very apparent that this balance does not stand upon the same footing as moneys belonging to the United States, because it is in the hands of the securities, and has been, in fact, destined and appropriated towards postal services, rendered by those who are citizens of Arkansas, and are looking to this fund for payment, and are now only waiting drafts upon it.

And if the convention should take jurisdiction over and possession of it, it would prevent the securities from making settlement in reference to it; and lay the securities liable, and without, as we again repeat, the slightest reason or necessity for it.

We therefore pray your honorable body to take no action whatever in reference to this balance, assuring you that it will be held and properly appropriated as above indicated, and in duty bound we will ever pray, etc.

S. H. TUCKER,
P. HANGER,
C. P. BERTRAND,
S. H. HEMPSTEAD.

Little Rock, 23d May, 1861.

one and two of Gould's Digest, amounting to one-third of one per cent. on the assessed value thereof for the said year, and a supplemental tax of one-sixth of one per cent. shall be levied as a state tax on all such objects of taxation for the year 1861.

SEC. 9. No sum due from the state, except interest upon the bonds authorized by this ordinance, shall be paid from the treasury, in par funds, whilst there are any outstanding and unpaid treasury warrants or scrip, unless when there may be funds enough in the treasury to pay all outstanding warrants, which shall be set apart for that purpose, and the residue on hand applied to the payment of such dues.

SEC. 10. The bonds so authorized to be issued, with coupons attached to the same, and treasury warrants with interest due thereon, shall be receivable at par in payment of debts due to the Bank and Real Estate Bank of the State of Arkansas, in payments for any debt due to the state, either in her own right or as a trustee, in payment for the purchase of any lands belonging to the state, and in payment of state revenue.

SEC. 11. funds received by him for the state, or either of said banks, shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, for each purchase so made, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than one thousand dollars; and every such collector, agent or bank officer, who shall fail to indorse the date of receiving, and the name of the person from whom he received any such bond, warrant or coupon as hereinbefore provided, shall for each such failure be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars.

SEC. 12. It shall be the duty of the treasurer immediately to cancel all bonds, coupons and warrants which may be paid into the treasury by collectors and receivers of state funds, or which may be redeemed by him in coin; and no bond, coupon or warrant shall be reissued by the treasurer.

President and Members of Arkansas Convention:

By authority of President Davis, I am raising a regiment of infantry for during the war, intended, I think, for frontier service—Helena is the rendezvous—two large companies in camp, others coming. Confederate States will furnish subsistence after regiment is mustered in—not before. Cannot furnish arms; will you not telegraph Gen. Bradley, to furnish me ten days rations, and muskets enough for regiment; he has over 1,200 surplus muskets. Men need clothing—will you advance $10,000, on same terms, as to first regiment? I intreat you to afford the aid requested. Give us a chance to fight for our country. Please act and answer to-day.

T. C. HINDMAN.

R E P O R T :

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on the landed interest of the State of Arkansas, having fully considered of the importance of the new relations of things that is now to be inaugurated within the state, from the fact, that the State of Arkansas, in her sovereign capacity, having fully invested herself with the full possession and ownership of all the vacant and unsold lands within the limits of the state, that was formerly held and owned by the government of the United States.

Owing to the fact that there are so many seemingly necessary changes to made in our new relations, that we have lately assumed, the committee are of opinion, and are fully convinced, that the fewer changes of the old order of things that has so long existed, would be the better policy at the present time, leaving all that can be to the future action of the Legislature, for their mature deliberation.

As we are fully convinced that this course will go a long ways to quiet and settle in the minds of the people much of the excitement now existing in the troublesome times we are now unfortunately thrust—yet, under all the circumstances, we have come to the conclusion that it would be proper and prudent to report and ask the adoption of the accompanying ordinance in order that the lands may be sold so that the proceeds arising from the sale of said lands can be applied to our defence, as every dollar is now greatly needed for war purposes.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

WM. W. FLOYD, Chairman.

Which was read and received.

The following

ORDINANCE NO. 60,

To the honorable Convention of the people of Arkansas, now in session:

Your memorialist, John Thruston, a citizen of the county of Crawford, in the State of Arkansas, would respectfully represent that he is the owner of a steam-boat recently plying upon the Arkansas river, that said boat was taken possession of at Mulberry landing on said river, on the 28th April, 1861, by Col. Solon Borland commanding detachment of volunteers in the service of said state as will appear by his protest against hereto annexed.

That the said volunteers, while upon said boat, injured and defaced the furniture of said boat, and otherwise damaged her. That the damages sustained amount to five hundred dollars; and your memorialist would respectfully submit to your honorable body that compensation should be made to him for the damages aforesaid.

JOHN THRUSTON,
By WILLIAM GARRETT.

Witness:

JAMES McDUGAL.

STATE OF ARKANSAS, }
COUNTY OF CRAWFORD. }

By this public act of protest, be it made manifest, that on this fourth day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, eight hundred and sixty-one, before me, the undersigned, an acting and duly commissioned justice of the peace, within and for the county and state aforesaid—and residing in the city of Van Buren in said county and state—personally came and appeared John Thruston, master, captain and sole legal owner of the steam-boat “Lady Walton,” who being duly sworn, upon his oath, deposed and said, that on the twenty-eighth (28th) day of April, A. D. 1861, in his said capacity of master and captain of said steam-boat, he contracted, at the port of Fort Smith, with Col. Solon Borland, then in command of certain volunteer troops of the State of Arkansas, at the garrison at Fort Smith, to carry said troops, to the number of two hundred and fifty, from said port of Ft. Smith to the city of Little Rock, in said state for the sum of thirteen hundred dollars, to be paid at said city of Little Rock, upon the arrival of said steamboat at that port. That on said twenty-eighth day of April, A. D. 1861, in his said capacity of master and captain of said steam-boat, to carry out and perform said contract, so entered into as aforesaid, with said Col. Solon Borland—he, the said John Thruston, left the said port of Ft. Smith, with the said troops on board of said steam-boat. The said boat being then light and staunch, well manned and provided, and the engine thereof in good order—and said boat being partially insured; and the said John Thruston further says that he proceeded with said boat on said voyage down the Arkansas river to a point on the north side thereof, called Mulberry landing, about forty-nine miles below the said port of Fort Smith, where, about sunset of said day, the said boat was by him, the said captain and master landed, for the purpose of taking in necessary wood. That while engaged with his crew in taking it on board, it grew dark, that is to say night come on. It was not a cloudy, but star-light night. There was no moon, and the river was quite low and full of snags.

This master further states—That upon consultation with his pilots, (McDougal and Duval) he concluded that it was unsafe to proceed until the moon should rise, and said pilots refused to proceed for this master until such time as the moon should rise. In fact the said pilots gave it as their opinion that it would be very unsafe in the (then) stage of water to proceed with the said boat at all until day-light. That about three hours after the boat was landed, as aforesaid, the said Col. Solon Borland took the said boat out of the control of and from the command of this appearer, and placed another officer, not a member of the said boats crew, or one of her officers, in command thereof, and with her, under the command of his said appointee, continued the voyage in the night time, of the night aforesaid.

This appearer, the said John Thruston, so soon as the boat aforesaid was so taken from his command, as aforesaid, got off of her, and she, the said boat, as aforesaid, proceeded without him on her voyage.

That at the time and place he was deposed, as aforesaid, from the command of said boat, this appearer, John Thruston, had no opportunity to make a formal protest against the act of the said Col. Solon Borland, aforesaid—and therefore he formally does the same at this time.

This appearer further says, that at the time he was so deposed from the command of the said boat, all his officers were aboard and he at his post.

That it would have been unwise and unsafe at the time for him to have proceeded with the said boat on the voyage.

Therefore, the said John Thruston, late captain of the said steam-boat, and at his request, I, the said justice of the peace, do, by these presents, most solemnly publicly protest against the acts of the said Col. Borland, in so deposing the said captain and master from the command of the said steam-boat, for all losses, detriment or damage which are the value of said boat, that hath happened or that may hereafter happen to the said steam-boat "Lady Walton," and her cargo, or any part thereof—hereby declaring that the same have happened as hereinbefore stated, and of right should be borne by the State of Arkansas and not by the said master and owner.

Done and protested at Van Buren, Arkansas.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand officially, as such justice, as aforesaid, this 4th day of May, A. D. 1861. The said appearer, John Thruston, signing after me his name.

JOS. W. SPIVEY, J. P.

JOHN THRUSTON,

Master and owner of steam-boat "Lady Walton."

COUNTY OF CRAWFORD, }

I, Edward A. Scott, clerk of the county court, within and for said county of Crawford, do hereby certify that Jos. W. Spivey, whose signature appears to the foregoing instrument of writing is, and was at the time, an acting and duly commissioned justice of the peace, within and for said county, that his official acts are entitled to full faith and credit, and that his signature is genuine, as I verily believe.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand as such clerk, and affixed the seal of said court, at office, this 4th day of May, A. D. 1861.

ED. A. SCOTT, Clerk.

Mr. Smoote moved to lay the memorial on the table; which motion was lost, and the memorial, upon the motion of Mr. Turner, was referred to the committee on state affairs.

Mr. Yell, from the committee on military affairs, made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on military affairs, to whom was referred a resolution requesting the said committee to report a plan for the efficient organization and arming the militia, have had the same under consideration, and instruct me to report that the two bills reported by them, one for the organization of a military board, and the other for the organization of an active volunteer corps, is in accordance with the requirements of this resolution and supercedes the necessity of any further ordinance on this subject. All of which is respectfully submitted.

YELL, Chairman.

Which report was adopted.

Mr. Yell, from the same committee, also made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on military affairs, to whom was referred the resolution requiring said committee to report an ordinance for the governor or military board to receive all volunteer companies and regiments that might report themselves as ready for service, have had that subject under consideration, and instruct me to report that the requirements in this resolution are all fully provided for in the bill to establish a military board, and the bill to establish an active volunteer corps for the State of Arkansas. All of which is respectfully submitted.

YELL, Chairman.

Which report was also adopted, and the resolution referred to thereby rejected.

Mr. Yell, from the same committee, submitted the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The military committee, to whom was referred the resolution requesting that the governor, by ordinance, be instructed to accept of such organized military volunteer companies as have been tendered to him for service of the state. But to receive no pay until they are mustered into service, have had that matter under consideration, and they have instructed me to report that the bill establishing an active volunteer corps for the state, passed by this convention, fully provides for the matters contained in this resolution. And that there is no need for further action by this convention on the subject. All of which is respectfully submitted.

YELL, Chairman.

Which was also adopted.

Mr. Yell, from the same committee, likewise made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on military affairs, to whom was referred the resolution to instruct the governor of this state to purchase all the sulphur in the state, have had that matter under consideration, and have come to the conclusion that it would not be advisable to require the governor to purchase all the sulphur in the state. The state could not use any considerable quantity of it, unless she undertakes to manufacture powder. And your committee are of opinion that the state is not in a condition to undertake any such enterprise at present, and that all such enterprises will do better and cost less when undertaken by individuals on their own responsibility.

They therefore recommend that said resolution be rejected. All of which is respectfully submitted.

YELL, Chairman.

Which report was adopted—and the resolution consequently rejected.

Mr. Yell, from the same committee, also made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT:

The committee on military affairs, to whom was referred the resolution requesting that two companies of the county of Polk should be furnished with powder and lead, have had that matter under consideration, and have requested me to report that all matters of a military character, and all the munitions of war, are by this convention submitted to the control of a military board, established for that purpose, and that there is no need for a further ordinance on that subject.

YELL, Chairman.

Which was also adopted.

Mr. Yell, from the same committee made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on military affairs, to whom was referred a resolution requiring that all companies that have, or may tender their services to the governor for service, should have arms upon their giving bond for the same, have had that matter under consideration, and have recommended the rejection of the resolution, because the state has not now sufficient arms for the men that are going into active service.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

YELL, Chairman.

This is now provided for by the ordinance adopted this morning.

YELL, Chairman.

Which report was also adopted.

Mr. Yell from the same committee made the following

REPORT:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The military committee, to whom was referred the letter of S. D. Morgan, desiring information on the subject of the minerals and geological survey of the State of Arkansas, have had that matter under consideration and have concluded that such information might be of much advantage to him and probably aid in some way his means of manufacturing powder. They have, therefore concluded that such geological survey should be furnished him.

They have, therefore instructed me to report the following resolution, for your adoption. All of which is respectfully submitted.

YELL, Chairman.

Be it resolved by the convention of the State of Arkansas, That the secretary of state be, and he is hereby required to send one copy of the geological survey of the state to S. D. Morgan, with all other information that he may have on the same subject, to Nashville, Tennessee, at the cost of the state, for which he is authorized to draw on the treasury.

Which report and resolution were adopted.

Mr. Hobbs offered the following

RESOLUTION:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The select committee to whom was referred the resolution to enquire into the condition of the muskets and other arms now in the arsenal at Little Rock, respectfully report that they have made examination of said arms, and refer you to the inventory of ordinance No. 2—statement "C," of May the 7th 1861, which has been transmitted to this body by his excellency, the governor for the number and character of the same.

Owing to the threatened condition of our state, we would recommend no change in said arms for the present, as we found them in excellent condition, except 4,569 that were flint lock muskets and 89 flint lock holster pistols; and the time it would take to make the change from flint to percussion locks would require about ninety days.

Your committee would further recommend that if a suitable opportunity should be offered to change said flint locks to percussion, that the military board, heretofore created by this body, be authorized to make said change.

JOHNSON, Chairman.

Which was read and adopted.

The committee on state affairs to whom was referred the statement of the proceedings of "a meeting of the citizens of Richland township," concerning the taxes due by soldiers in the war, have had the same under consideration, and instruct me to report that in the judgment of the committee, there are two elements necessary beyond all doubt for the prosecution of the interests of the people of the Confederate States, to-wit: men and money, men who offer themselves upon the altar of their country, certainly should have the protection of their countrymen whenever and wherever necessary, and your committee entertain no doubt but that such protection will be given. The private citizen at home will protect from injury, those who are in the service of their country in the field, and need protection at home. Yet, your committee fear that any general law upon the subject would be prejudicial to the highest interests of the state in the present crisis, and therefore have instructed me to report that they do not now recommend any action by the convention upon this subject.

to citizens or corporations in the non-slaveholding states, in such manner as not to impair the rights of attorneys or other agents interested in such claims, and in such manner as to make the collection gradual and as little burthensome to the debtor as may be, have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me to report the following amendments to said ordinance; which are respectfully submitted.

WHEREAS, This convention passed an ordinance entitled "an ordinance to create a military board for the State of Arkansas," and also an ordinance entitled "an ordinance to provide for the organization of an efficient military corps for active service, and for the election of certain officers;" And whereas, it was the true intent of this convention, in passing these ordinances, that they were mutually dependent upon each other, and that both ordinances constituted one entire system; the military board to adjudicate and pass upon all questions and claims, and to make all general orders to render the major general and the brigadier generals, and the active war corps efficient in defending the state; and although the said board were given full power to issue orders for the purposes aforesaid in aid of, and to facilitate the business of said officers, in the defence of the state, and it was for this purpose alone, and that it was never intended that the said board should have any military rank whatever; And whereas, different constructions have already been put upon the true intent and meaning of said ordinances, so much so as to render the ordinance requiring an active military force inoperative and of little or no use; and it is evident that war now exists, and that the State of Arkansas is in imminent danger, and that there is no time now to adjudicate the different constructions placed upon said ordinances; And whereas, it is evident that an efficient corps of soldiers should be immediately called into the field without delay; therefore

Be it ordained by the people of the State of Arkansas in convention assembled, That Major General James Yell, with his staff, to be appointed as in ordinance aforesaid provided, be, and he is hereby called, by this convention, into active service of the state, and to remain in service until such time as the government of the Confederate States have a sufficient number of troops in service in this state to protect the state against danger or invasion; and he is hereby authorized to proceed to call into service a sufficient number of troops to secure the state against danger or invasion, and to arm and equip them with such arms as the state may have on hand, and if necessary, to procure other arms for that purpose; and that the major genholds rank, and has command over all military officers of this state. REPORT:

MR. PRESIDENT—

The committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the accompanying communications of N. B. Burrow, and of S. H. Tucker, C. P. Bertrand, Peter Hanger and S. H. Hempstead, late securities of Peter T. Crutchfield, deceased, formerly receiver and depositary of public moneys of the United States, at Little Rock, have had the same under consideration, and beg leave to report:

That from an examination of said communications, they find that said securities have now in hand the sum of thirty-six (36,000) thousand dollars of United States funds, the same being the balance of ninety-four thousand dollars remaining in the hands of the said Peter T. Crutchfield, at the time of his death. Your committee would further state that they have not been able to perceive anything in the facts or reasoning of said securities, which would authorize them to withhold said sum of thirty-six thousand dollars from the state treasury; on the contrary, they are of opinion that it is subject to seizure, and ought to be appropriated to the payment of liabilities due by the United States to citizens of the State of Arkansas, and for other purposes, and in order that it may be so appropriated, your committee beg leave to recommend the passage of the accompanying ordinance, intended to embrace all holders of public moneys of the United States.

Messrs. Totten of Prairie and Yell asked to be, and were excused from voting.

Mr. Stout filed the following explanation:

I vote to lay the ordinance on the table, because I voted for the ordinance to create the military board, and I am not prepared to say that the board is insufficient for the task imposed on them; I vote aye; I also voted for General Yell, and hope he will, when necessary, be called into service.

So the amendment was laid upon the table; and on motion, the ordinance was adopted.

Mr. Baber, from the committee on enrollments, made the following

SEC. 2. Before any new county shall be constituted, it shall be determined by a majority of the voters of said county, to be taken under orders of the several county courts of said county.

So the motion to lay on the table was lost.

Messrs. Carrigan and Cypert presented the following explanation of their votes.

We vote to lay the resolution on the table, for the reason that we fear if it be adopted we may never adjourn, or that we would all wish to be officers.

Mr. Parks then withdrew his resolution.

Be it ordained by the people of the State of Arkansas in convention assembled, That the governor of the State of Arkansas is hereby authorized, empowered and instructed to release such of the above named sheriffs and collectors from the penalty now prescribed against them by law for such default, who shall, within sixty days from the adoption of this ordinance, pay into the state treasury the full amount of the taxes due from the said counties of Jefferson, Columbia, Ashley, Union and Hempstead, respectively, for the year 1860, and produce to the governor the legal vouchers of such payments; Provided, That neither of the said sheriffs and collectors, who shall fail to pay the full amount of taxes due to the state from the county of which he is sheriff and collector, as aforesaid, for the year 1860, into the state treasury within sixty days from the date of the adoption of this ordinance, shall be, nor shall either of his securities be, in any wise, released by this ordinance, or by any authority given under this ordinance, from any penalty which has or may accrue against him on account of such default or otherwise.

No. 1.

STATE OF ARKANSAS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Little Rock, Jan. 28, 1861. }

CAPTAIN TOTTEN:

Sir—The public exigencies require me to make known to you, that the United States arsenal at this place will be permitted to remain in the possession of federal officers, until the state, by authority of the people, shall have determined to sever their connection with the general government, unless, however, it should be thought proper to order additional forces to this point.

Or, on the other hand, an attempt should be made to remove or destroy the munitions of war deposited in said arsenal.

Any assurance that you may be able to give, touching the observance of these two latter conditions, will greatly tend to quiet the public mind, and prevent a collision between the sovereign people of Arkansas and the government troops now stationed at this point.

Respectfully,

HENRY M. RECTOR,
Commander-in-chief Arkansas Militia.

No. 2.

HEAD QUARTERS, LITTLE ROCK ARSENAL,
Little Rock, Arkansas,
January 29th, 1861. }

SIR: I have to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 28th instant, which was handed to me this morning by your aid-de-camp, J. J. Gaines, esq., and, in answer thereto, to say to your excellency, that my understanding leads me to believe that the troops under my command were ordered here at the request of some of the members of Congress from this state, and several good citizens also,—for what reason, if any, I have not been apprised.

As you will readily understand, I cannot give your excellency any assurances as to what instructions may, in future, be issued regarding this arsenal, and the federal troops now stationed here; but I can assure you that, so far as I am informed, no orders, such as you refer to, in your two propositions, have been issued, nor do I believe, privately and unofficially, that any such orders will be given by the federal government.

I have, furthermore, to remind your excellency that, as an officer of the army of the United States, my allegiance is due to that government in whose service I am, and that I act by its authority and permission, and, until absolved from that allegiance, my honor is concerned in the faithful performance of what I may conceive to be my duty.

I shall forward your communication to the secretary of war, to be laid before the president of the United States, and ask instructions relative to the matters contained in it, and if not prohibited by these authorities, I will cheerfully inform your excellency what these instructions are.

In the meantime, let me say, in conclusion, that I most cordially concur with your excellency in the desire to avoid collision between the federal troops under my command, and the citizens of Arkansas, and shall do every thing in my power, which an honorable man in my position can, or dare do, to prevent so deplorable an event.

I am, respectfully,

JAS. TOTTEN, 2d Artl'y
U. S. Army, commanding Little Rock Arsenal.

To his excellency, HENRY M. RECTOR,

Governor of Arkansas, and

Commander-in-chief A. M.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Little Rock, Ark., }
6th February, 1861. }

Capt. TOTTEN, Commanding

U. S. Arsenal, Little Rock, Arkansas:

SIR—There is now in this city a considerable number of the citizens of this state, who have come here under arms, with the avowed purpose of taking possession of the U. S. arsenal. Reliable information has been received that a large force of citizens are on the march to this place for the same purpose. This movement is prompted by the feeling that pervades the citizens of this state, that, in the present emergency, the arms and munitions of war in the arsenal should be under the control of the state authorities, in order to their security. This movement, although not authorized by me, has assumed such an aspect that it becomes my duty, as the executive of this state, to interpose my official authority to prevent a collision between the people of the state and the federal troops under your command.

I, therefore, demand, in the name of the state, the delivery of the possession of the arsenal and munitions of war under your charge, to the state authorities, to be held until the 4th of March next. This course is the only one which can possibly prevent the effusion of blood and the destruction of the property of the citizens and of the government. I beg leave to assure you that the step which the citizens have seen fit to take, is not prompted by any personal distrust of you, but the jealousy which naturally exists towards the authority of the United States, under the present unhappy condition of the country.

This communication will be handed to you by T. D. Merrick, major-general of 1st division of the Arkansas militia, who will call on you personally, accompanied by his staff, and who will receive from you your response.

Respectfully, your ob't serv't,

[Signed.]

HENRY M. RECTOR,

Governor of Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK ARSENAL, Little Rock, Ark., }
February 6th, 1861. }

To his excellency, HENRY M. RECTOR,

Governor of Arkansas:

SIR—In the present trying circumstances by which the undersigned finds himself surrounded, as a federal officer, he is anxious to learn, officially, from your excellency, before answering your demand for the surrender of the United States arsenal at this place, the following important points, viz:

1st. If the arsenal and all the munitions of war stored therein are left intact, as at the hour of 3 o'clock, p. m., to-morrow, by the United States forces, now in charge of them, will the governor of the State of Arkansas officially take charge of said arsenal and munitions of war, in the name of the United States government, and hold them in that light, until future circumstances shall legally absolve him from the responsibility?

2d. If the United States forces now garrisoning Little Rock arsenal, evacuate said post and leave the munitions of war intact as at the hour of 3 o'clock, p. m., to-morrow, will the governor of the State of Arkansas officially guarantee to said forces an unmolested passage through the state, in any direction the officer commanding said troops may elect, and guarantee, moreover, to said forces the right of carrying with them all the public and private property they brought with them to said arsenal, all which has been purchased for or by them, and all which has been sent to them since stationed at said arsenal, consisting of ordnance and ordnance stores, clothing, camp and garrison equipage, and barrack and mess furniture, as also provisions and all their individual or private property.

3d. If the arsenal and munitions of war stored therein are left intact, as at the hour of 3 o'clock p. m., to-morrow, will the governor of Arkansas, in his official capacity, guarantee to the United States forces, now in charge thereof the right of marching away from said place with all the honor due to them as federal officers and soldiers, who do not surrender their trust, but simply evacuate a post for want of instructions from their superiors in office, and in doubt as to the propriety of bringing on civil war among their fellow-countrymen?

Explicit and detailed answers to each and every one of these questions will have great influence upon the undersigned in his answer to the communication of the governor of Arkansas, which is promised by 3 o'clock, p. m., to-morrow.

I am, very respectfully,

JAS. TOTTEN,

Capt. 2d Artillery, commanding post.

To Capt. JAMES TOTTEN, in charge of

U. S. Arsenal, Little Rock, Ark:

SIR—Your communication of the 6th inst., (yesterday) propounding to myself certain propositions, explicit and detailed answers to which would have great influence upon you in your answer promised the governor of Arkansas by 3 p. m., to-day, was received at about 11 o'clock, this morning.

After mature reflection, I propose to accept your first, second and third propositions, with the following understanding: That, being informed your command brought no cannon with you—so none are to be taken away—you shall have a safe passage out of the state, in any direction you may please, with your command; Provided, however, you do not station yourself within the limits of the State of Arkansas, or on the borders thereof. Whatever your command, either of public or private property, brought with them, you will be permitted to take away.

I have the honor to be,

very respectfully,

LITTLE ROCK ARSENAL, Little Rock, Ark., }
 February 7th, 1861. }

To his excellency, H. M. RECTOR,

Governor of Arkansas:

SIR—Being entirely without instructions to meet the grave responsibilities so suddenly thrust upon me, and the solemn circumstances by which my command is now surrounded, and believing that the administration of the Federal Union would deprecate and condemn any act of mine, which might bring on collision and blood-shed between the United States troops, under my command, and the citizens of the State of Arkansas, and, furthermore, believing that civil war would immediately, and inevitably, result throughout the country, from the effusion of blood at this point, or elsewhere in the United States, connected with the political topics of the day—I regret the necessity which forces me to retire from this arsenal with my command. It is, however, without the sanction of the United States government that I do this, and entirely results from my judgment and discretion, under existing circumstances, and for the reason above stated.

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your excellency's communication of this date, and the lateness of the hour makes it necessary that this response be brief.

It is, however, understood that, in consideration of your excellency's guarantee, that the conditions demanded in my communication of yesterday, shall be complied with, certain amendments referred to in your letter of this date excepted. I shall retire from the arsenal on or before 12 o'clock, to-morrow, m.

Your excellency will please cause to be prepared, or permit me to do so, the final papers embodying the conditions upon which I retire from this arsenal, as already understood between us, which is necessary for my protection with the federal government.

I am, very respectfully,

JAS. TOTTEN,

Capt. 2d Artillery commanding post.

RESOLUTIONS OF LITTLE ROCK COUNCIL.

COUNCIL CHAMBER,

Little Rock, Arkansas,

Feb., 1861, at 3 o'clock, p. m.)

Resolved, As the sense of this council, that if there be any impending danger, or necessity, which requires the seizure of the United States arsenal at this place, that in such case it would become the duty of the governor, as the executive head of this state, to order such seizure to be made, by the organized military power of the state; but, that any unauthorized attempt to seize the arsenal by persons, without orders from the governor, is an insult to his station and authority, and deserves the reprehension of all our people, and is calculated to injure the cause of state rights; and we earnestly recommend the governor to interpose his authority to check any such movement, if unauthorized by him.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be immediately communicated to the governor, and a committee composed of the whole council, be appointed for that purpose; and that a committee of the whole council communicate with the leaders of this movement.

Adopted in Council, 5th February, 1861.

CITIZENS' MEETING OF LITTLE ROCK.

WHEREAS, Many good citizens of this state have come to Little Rock, in obedience to what they supposed to be the orders of the governor, to assist in taking the United States arsenal at this place; And whereas, The governor disavows such orders as being without his authority or sanction; therefore Resolved, As the opinion of this meeting, that it is the duty of the governor to assume the responsibility of this movement, or to interpose his authority and influence to prevent it.

Resolved further, That in case there be, in the opinion of the governor, any danger or necessity for seizing the arsenal, we earnestly recommend him, as the only way to prevent the effusion of blood, to order the same to be done, in his official capacity, and in the name and by authority of the state, and to that end that he make an official demand upon the officer in charge of the arsenal, to surrender the same to the state authorities.

Resolved further, That in our opinion, the governor, as the executive head of the state, may rely upon the sympathy and co-operation of all good citizens, in what he may do by authority of the state and her organized military power.

On motion of Mr. Samuel W. Williams, the foregoing resolutions were unanimously adopted, and the chairman requested to appoint a committee of seven to wait upon the governor and communicate the same to him. Messrs. Geo. C. Watkins, W. B. Wait, C. P. Bertrand, A. J. Hutt, W. E. Woodruff, John Collins, and Dr. W. W. Adams, were appointed, as such committee.

STIPULATIONS BETWEEN GOV. H. M. RECTOR AND CAPT. TOTTEN.

LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS, }
 February 8th, 1861. }

MEMORANDUM this day made and signed by James Totten, Captain of 2d Artillery in the Army of the United States, and Henry M. Rector, Governor of the State of Arkansas.

The paper marked A, signed by us, is the demand made by the Governor, upon Captain Totten, for the delivery of the United States arsenal at this place, to the state authorities. The paper marked B, signed by us, is a copy of the response of Captain Totten to that communication. The paper marked C, signed by us, is the response of the governor accepting, as therein stated, the terms of the paper B.

It is further witnessed, that on this day, at the hour of 12 M., said Captain Totten, with his command, doth retire from said arsenal, and delivers the same, with all its stores, arms, and ammunitions of war, intact, to the governor of Arkansas, pursuant to the tenor and purport of said papers, A. B and C, Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

And the said Capt. James Totten protests that he has thus acted, because in the presence of a greatly superior armed force, and which, he became satisfied, would soon become overwhelming by reinforcements in case of resistance, involving the sacrifice of his command, without regard to the probable loss of life on the part of the assailants.

Because any defence of the arsenal, in the city of Little Rock, whether successful or unsuccessful would necessarily involve, to a greater or less extent, the destruction of property in the city, and the loss of lives of the peaceful citizens and families dwelling therein.

Because, being without instructions from his government, he took, of necessity, the responsibility of doing what he thought proper and best under all the circumstances, desiring to avoid cause of civil war in this government, by the first instance of a hostile and bloody collision. Yet protesting for himself, and in the name of his government, against events beyond his control, and which have actuated him to this course.

Signed in duplicate.

HENRY M. RECTOR,

Governor of Arkansas.

JAS. TOTTEN, Capt. 2d Art'y,

NOTE.—The following papers were presented to the convention by the commissioner from South Carolina, and referred to in his letter to the President of the Arkansas convention.

THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

AT A CONVENTION OF THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, BEGUN AND HOLDEN AT COLUMBIA, ON THE SEVENTEENTH DAY OF DECEMBER, IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD, ONE THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND SIXTY, AND THENCE CONTINUED BY ADJOURNMENT TO CHARLESTON, AND THERE BY DIVERS ADJOURNMENTS TO THE TWENTIETH DAY OF DECEMBER, IN THE SAME YEAR.

AN ORDINANCE to dissolve the union between the State of South Carolina and other states united with her under the compact entitled "The Constitution of the United States of America."

We, the people of the State of South Carolina, in Convention assembled, do declare and ordain, and it is hereby declared and ordained, That the ordinance adopted by us in convention, on the twenty-third day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-eight, whereby the Constitution of the United States of America was ratified; and, also, all acts and parts of acts of the General Assembly of this state, ratifying amendments of the said constitution, are hereby repealed; and that the union now subsisting between South Carolina and other states, under the name of "The United States of America," is hereby dissolved.

Done at Charleston the twentieth day of December, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and sixty.

[SEAL.] Attest: B. F. ARTHUR, Clerk.

D. F. JAMISON, President.

DECLARATION OF THE IMMEDIATE CAUSES WHICH INDUCE AND JUSTIFY THE SECESSION OF SOUTH CAROLINA FROM THE FEDERAL UNION.

The people of the State of South Carolina, in convention assembled, on the 26th day of April, A. D. 1852, declared that the frequent violations of the constitution of the United States, by the federal government, and its encroachments upon the reserved rights of the states, fully justified this state in then withdrawing from the Federal Union; but in deference to the opinions and wishes of the other slaveholding states, she forbore at that time to exercise this right. Since that time, these encroachments have continued to increase, and further forbearance ceases to be a virtue.

And now the State of South Carolina having resumed her separate and equal place among nations, deems it due to herself, to the remaining United States of America, and to the nations of the world, that she should declare the immediate causes which have led to this act.

In the year 1765, that portion of the British Empire embracing Great Britain, undertook to make laws for the government of that portion composed of the thirteen American colonies. A struggle for the right of self-government ensued, which resulted on the 4th July, 1776, in a declaration by the colonies, "that they are, and of right ought to be, FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; and that as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do."

They further solemnly declared that whenever any "form of government becomes destructive of the ends for which it was established, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government." Deeming the government of Great Britain to have become destructive of these ends, they declared that the colonies "are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be totally dissolved."

In pursuance of this Declaration of Independence, each of the thirteen states proceeded to exercise its separate sovereignty; adopted for itself a constitution, and appointed officers for the administration of government in all its departments—legislative, executive and judicial. For purposes of defence, they united their arms and their counsels; and in 1778 they entered into a league known as the articles of confederation, whereby they agreed to entrust the administration of their external relations to a common agent, known as the Congress of the United States, expressly declaring in the first article, “that each state retains its sovereignty, freedom and independence, and every power, jurisdiction and right which is not, by this confederation, expressly delegated to the United States in Congress assembled.”

Under this confederation the war of the revolution was carried on, and on the 3d September, 1783, the contest ended, and a definitive treaty was signed by Great Britain, in which she acknowledged the independence of the colonies in the following terms.

“Article I.—His Britanic Majesty acknowledges the said United States, viz: New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, to be FREE, SOVEREIGN AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that he treats with them as such; and for himself, his heirs and successors, relinquishes all claims to the government, propriety and territorial rights of the same and every part thereof.”

Thus were established the two great principles asserted by the colonies, namely: the right of a state to govern itself; and the right of a people to abolish a government when it becomes destructive of the ends for which it was instituted. And concurrent with the establishment of these principles, was the fact that each colony became, and was recognized by the mother country as a FREE, SOVEREIGN AND INDEPENDENT STATE.

In 1787, deputies were appointed by the states to revise the articles of confederation, and on 17th December, 1787, these deputies recommended, for the adoption of the states, the articles of union; known as the constitution of the United States.

The parties to whom this constitution was submitted, were the several sovereign states; they were to agree or disagree, and when nine of them agreed, the compact was to take effect among those concurring; and the general government, as the common agent, was then to be invested with their authority.

If only nine of the thirteen states had concurred, the other four would have remained as they then were—separate, sovereign states, independent of any of the provisions of the constitution. In fact, two of the states did not accede to the constitution until long after it had gone into operation among the other eleven; and during that interval, they each exercised the functions of an independent nation.

By this constitution, certain duties were imposed upon the several states, and the exercise of certain of their powers was restrained, which necessarily implied their continued existence as sovereign states. But to remove all doubt, an amendment was added, which declared that the powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states, respectively, or to the people. On 23d May, 1788, South Carolina, by a convention of her people, passed an ordinance assenting to this constitution, and afterwards altered her own constitution, to conform herself to the obligations she had undertaken.

Thus was established, by compact between the states, a government, with defined objects and powers, limited to the express words of the grant. This limitation left the whole remaining mass of power subject to the clause reserving it to the states or to the people, and rendered unnecessary any specification of reserved rights.

We hold that the government thus established is subject to the two great principles asserted in the Declaration of Independence; and we hold further, that the mode of its formation subjects it to a third fundamental principle, namely: the law of compact. We maintain that in every compact between two or more parties, the obligation is mutual; that the failure of one of the contracting parties to perform a material part of the agreement, entirely releases the obligation of the other; and that where no arbiter is provided, each party is remitted to his own judgment to determine the fact of failure, with all its consequences.

In the present case, the fact is established with certainty. We assert that fourteen of the states have deliberately refused for years past, to fulfil their constitutional obligations, and we refer to their own statutes for the proof.

The constitution of the United States, in its 4th article, provides as follows:

“No person held to service or labor, in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.”

This stipulation was so material to the compact, that without it that compact would not have been made. The greater number of the contracting parties held slaves, and they had previously evinced their estimate of the value of such a stipulation by making it a condition in the ordinance for the government of the territory ceded by Virginia, which now composes the states north of the Ohio river.

The same article of the constitution stipulates also for rendition, by the several states, of fugitives from justice from the other states.

The general government, as the common agent, passed laws to carry into effect these stipulations of the states. For many years these laws were executed. But an increasing hostility on the part of the non-slaveholding states to the institution of slavery has led to a disregard of their obligations, and the laws of the general government have ceased to effect the objects of the constitution. The States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa, have enacted laws which either nullify the acts of Congress or render useless any attempt to execute them. In many of these states the fugitive is discharged from the service or labor claimed, and in none of them has the state government complied with the stipulation made in the constitution. The State of New Jersey, at an early day, passed a law in conformity with her constitutional obligation; but the current of anti-slavery feeling has led her more recently to enact laws which render inoperative the remedies provided by her own law and by the laws of Congress. In the State of New York even the right of transit for a slave has been denied by her tribunals; and the States of Ohio and Iowa have refused to surrender to justice fugitives charged with murder, and with inciting servile insurrection in the State of Virginia. Thus the constitutional compact has been deliberately broken and disregarded by the non-slaveholding states, and the consequence follows that South Carolina is released from her obligation.

The ends for which this constitution was framed are declared by itself to be "to form a more perfect union, establish justice, "insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, "promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity.

These ends it endeavored to accomplish by a federal government, in which each state was recognized as an equal, and had separate control over its own institutions. The right of property in slaves was recognized by giving to free persons distinct political rights, by giving them the right to represent, and burdening them with direct taxes for three-fifths of their slaves; by authorizing the importation of slaves for twenty years, and by stipulating for the rendition of fugitives from labor.

We affirm that these ends, for which this government was instituted, have been defeated, and the government itself has been made destructive of them by the action of the non-slaveholding states. Those states have assumed the right of deciding upon the propriety of our domestic institutions; and have denied the rights of property established in fifteen of the states and recognized by the constitution; they have denounced as sinful the institution of slavery; they have permitted the open establishment among them of societies, whose avowed object is to disturb the peace and to eloign the property of the citizens of other states. They have encouraged and assisted thousands of our slaves to leave their homes. and those who remain have been incited by emissaries, books and pictures to servile insurrection.

For twenty-five years this agitation has been steadily increasing, until it has now secured to its aid the power of the common government. Observing the forms of the constitution, a sectional party has found within that article establishing the executive department, the means of subverting the constitution itself. A geographical line has been drawn across the Union, and all the states north of that line have united in the election of a man to the high office of President of the United States, whose opinions and purposes are hostile to slavery. He is to be entrusted with the administration of the common government, because he has declared that that "government cannot endure permanently; half slave, half free," and that the public mind must rest in the belief that slavery is in the course of ultimate extinction.

This sectional combination for the subversion of the constitution, has been aided in some of the states by elevating to citizenship, persons, who, by the supreme law of the land, are incapable of becoming citizens; and their votes have been used to inaugurate a new policy, hostile to the South, and destructive of its peace and safety.

On the 4th March next this party will take possession of the government. It has announced that the South shall be excluded from the common territory; that the judicial tribunals shall be made sectional, and that a war must be waged against slavery until it shall cease throughout the United States.

The guaranties of the constitution will then no longer exist; the equal rights of the states will be lost. The slaveholding states will no longer have the power of self government, or self-protection, and the federal government will have become their enemy.

Sectional interest and animosity will deepen the irritation, and all hope of remedy is rendered vain, by the fact that public opinion at the North has invested a great political error with the sanctions of a more erroneous religious belief.

We, therefore, the people of Soth Carolina, by our delegates, in convention assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, have solemnly declared that the union heretofore existing between this state and the other states of North America, is dissolved, and that the State of South Carolina has resumed her position among the nations of the world, as a separate and independent state, with full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do.

AN ORDINANCE

TO DISSOLVE THE UNION BETWEEN THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA AND OTHER STATES UNITED WITH HER UNDER THE COMPACT ENTITLED "THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA."

We, the people of the State of South Carolina, in convention assembled, do declare and ordain, and it is hereby declared and ordained, That the ordinance adopted by us in convention, on the twenty-third day of May, in the year of our lord one thousand, seven hundred and eighty eight, whereby the constitution of the United States of America was ratified, and also, all acts and parts of acts of the General Assembly of this state, ratifying amendments of the said constitution, are hereby repealed; and that the union now subsisting between South Carolina and other states, under the name of "The United States of America" is hereby dissolved.

Attest: BENJ. F. ARTHUR,

Clerk of the Convention.

THE ADDRESS OF THE PEOPLE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, ASSEMBLED IN CONVENTION, TO THE PEOPLE OF THE SLAVEHOLDING STATES OF THE UNITED STATES.

It is seventy-three years since the Union between the United States was made by the Constitution of the United States. During this time, their advance in wealth, prosperity and power, has been with scarcely a parallel in the history of the world. The great object of their Union, was defence against external aggressions; which object is now attained, from their mere progress in power. Thirty-one millions of people, with a commerce and navigation which explore every sea, and with agricultural productions which are necessary to every civilized people, command the friendship of the world. But unfortunately, our internal peace has not grown with our external prosperity. Discontent and contention have moved in the bosom of the Confederacy, for the last thirty-five years. During this time, South Carolina has twice called her people together in solemn convention, to take into consideration the aggressions and unconstitutional wrongs, perpetrated by the people of the North on the people of the South. These wrongs were submitted to by the people of the South, under the hope and expectation that they would be final. But such hope and expectation, have proved to be vain. Instead of producing forbearance, our acquiescence has only instigated to new forms of aggressions and outrage; and South Carolina having again assembled her people in convention, has this day dissolved her connexion with the states, constituting the United States.

The one great evil, from which all other evils have flowed, is the overthrow of the Constitution of the United States. The government of the United States is no longer the government of Confederate Republics, but of a consolidated democracy. It is no longer a free government, but a despotism. It is, in fact, such a government as Great Britain attempted to set over our fathers; and which was resisted and defeated by a seven years' struggle for independence.

The revolution of 1776, turned upon one great principle, self-government—and self-taxation, the criterion of self-government. Where the interests of two people united together under one government, are different, each must have the power to protect its interest by the organization of the government, or they cannot be free. The interests of Great Britain and of the Colonies, were different and antagonistic. Great Britain was desirous of carrying out the policy of all nations towards their colonies, of making them tributary to her wealth and power. She had vast and complicated relations with the whole world. Her policy towards her North American Colonies, was to identify them with her in all these complicated relations; and to make them bear, in common with the rest of the empire, the full burden of her obligations and necessities. She had a vast public debt; she had an European policy and an Asiatic policy, which had occasioned the accumulation of her public debt; and which kept her in continual wars. The North American Colonies saw their interests, political and commercial, sacrificed by such a policy. Their interests required that they should not be identified with the burdens and wars of the mother country. They had been settled under charters, which gave them self-government; at least so far as their property was concerned. They had taxed themselves, and had never been taxed by the government of Great Britain. To make them a part of a consolidated empire, the Parliament of Great Britain determined to assume the power of legislating for the colonies in all cases whatsoever. Our ancestors resisted the pretension. They refused to be a part of the consolidated government of Great Britain.

The southern states now stand exactly in the same position towards the northern states, that the colonies did towards Great Britain. The northern states, having the majority in Congress, claim the same power of omnipotence in legislation as the British parliament. "The General Welfare," is the only limit to the legislation of either; and the majority in Congress, as in the British parliament, are the sole judges of the expediency of the legislation, this "General Welfare" requires. Thus, the government of the United States has become a consolidated government; and the people of the southern states are compelled to meet the very despotism their fathers threw off in the revolution of 1776.

The consolidation of the government of Great Britain over the colonies, was attempted to be carried out by the taxes. The British parliament undertook to tax the colonies to promote British interests. Our fathers resisted this pretension. They claimed the right of self-taxation through their colonial legislatures. They were not represented in the British parliament, and, therefore, could not rightly be taxed by its legislation.—

The British government, however, offered them a representation in parliament; but it was not sufficient to enable them to protect themselves from the majority, and they refused the offer. Between taxation without any representation, and taxation without a representation adequate to protection, there was no difference. In neither case would the colonies tax themselves. Hence, they refused to pay the taxes laid by the British parliament.

And so with the southern states, towards the northern states, in the vital matter of taxation. They are in a minority in Congress. Their representation in Congress, is useless to protect them against unjust taxation; and they are taxed by the people of the North for their benefit, exactly as the people of Great Britain taxed our ancestors in the British parliament for their benefit. For the last forty years, the taxes laid by the Congress of the United States, have been laid with a view of subserving the interests of the North. The people of the South have been taxed by duties on imports, nor for revenue, but for an object inconsistent with revenue—to promote, by prohibitions, northern interests in the productions of their mines and manufactures.

There is another evil, in the condition of the southern towards the northern states, which our ancestors refused to bear towards Great Britain. Our ancestors not only taxed themselves, but all the taxes collected among them, were expended amongst them. Had they submitted to the pretensions of the British government, the taxes collected from them, would have been expended in other parts of the British empire. They were fully aware of the effect of such a policy in impoverishing the people from whom taxes are collected, and in enriching those who receive the benefit of their expenditure. To prevent the evils of such a policy, was one of the motives which drove them on to revolution. Yet this British policy has been fully realized towards the southern states, by the northern states. The people of the southern states are not only taxed for the benefit of the northern states, but, after the taxes are collected, three-fourths of them are expended at the North. This cause, with others, connected with the operation of the general government, has made the cities of the South provincial. Their growth is paralyzed; they are mere suburbs of northern cities. The agricultural productions of the South are the basis of the foreign commerce of the United States; yet southern cities do not carry it on. Our foreign trade is almost annihilated. In 1740, there were five ship yards in South Carolina, to build ships to carry on our direct trade with Europe. Between 1740 and 1779, there were built in these yards, twenty five square rigged vessels, besides a great number of sloops and schooners, to carry on our coast and West India trade. In the half century immediately preceding the revolution, from 1725 to 1775, the population of South Carolina increased seven-fold.

No man can for a moment believe, that our ancestors intended to establish over their posterity, exactly the same sort of government they had overthrown. The great object of the constitution of the United States, in its internal operation, was, doubtless, to secure the great end of the revolution—a limited free government—a government limited to those matters only, which were general and common to all portions of the United States. All sectional or local interests, were to be left to the states. By no other arrangement would they obtain free government, by a constitution common to so vast a confederacy. Yet by a gradual and steady encroachments on the part of the people of the North, and acquiescence on the part of the South, the limitations in the constitution have been swept away; and the government of the United States has become consolidated, with a claim of limitless powers in its operations.

It is not at all surprising, such being the character of the government of the United States, that it should assume to possess power over all the institutions of the country. The agitations on the subject of slavery are the natural results of the consolidation of the government. Responsibility, follows power; and if the people of the North have the power by Congress “to promote the general welfare of the United States,” by any means they deem expedient—why should they not assail and overthrow the institution of slavery in the South? They are responsible for its continuance or existence, in proportion to their power. A majority in Congress, according to their interested and perverted views, is omnipotent. The inducements to act upon the subject of slavery, under such circumstances, were so imperious as to amount almost to a moral necessity. To make, however, their numerical power available to rule the Union, the North must consolidate their power. It would not be united on any matter common to the whole Union—in other words, on any constitutional subject—for on such subjects divisions are as likely to exist in the North as in the South. Slavery was strictly a sectional interest. If this could be made the criterion of parties at the North, the North could be united in its power; and thus carry out its measures of sectional ambition, encroachment, and aggrandizement. To build up their sectional predominance in the Union, the constitution must be first abolished by constructions; but, that being done, the consolidation of the North to rule the South by the tariff and slavery issues, was in the obvious course of things.

The constitution of the United States, was an experiment. The experiment consisted in uniting, under one government, peoples living in different climates, and having different pursuits and institutions. It matters not how carefully the limitations of such a government be laid down in the constitution—its success must at least depend upon the good faith of the parties to the constitutional compact, in enforcing them. It is not in the power of human language, to exclude false inferences, constructions and perversions, in any constitution; and when vast sectional interests are to be subserved, involving the appropriation of countless millions of money, it has not been the usual experience of mankind, that words on parchments can arrest power. The constitution of the United States, irrespective of the interposition of the states, rested on the assumption that power would yield to faith—that integrity would be stronger than interest; and that thus, the limitations of the constitution would be observed. The experiment has been fairly made. The southern states, from the commencement of the government, have striven to keep it within the orbit prescribed by the constitution. The experiment has failed. The whole constitution, by the constructions of the northern people, has been absorbed by its preamble. In their reckless lust for power, they seem unable to comprehend that seeming paradox—that the more power is given to the general government, the weaker it becomes. Its strength consists in the limitation of its agency to objects of common interest to all sections. To extend the scope of its power over sectional or local interests, is to raise up against it opposition and resistance. In all such matters, the general government must necessarily be a despotism, because all sectional or local interests must ever be represented by a minority in the councils of the general government—having no power to protect itself against the rule of the majority. The majority, constituted from those who do not represent these sectional or local interests, will control and govern them. A free people cannot submit to such a government. And the more it enlarges the sphere of its power, the greater must be the dissatisfaction it must produce, and the weaker it must become. On the contrary, the more it abstains from usurped powers, and the more faithfully it adheres to the limitations of the constitution, the stronger it is made. The northern people have had neither the wisdom nor the faith to perceive that to observe the limitations of the constitution was the only way to its perpetuity.

Under such a government, there must, of course, be many and endless “irrepressible conflicts” between the two great sections of the Union. The same faithlessness which has abolished the constitution of the United States, will not fail to carry out the sectional purposes for which it has been abolished. There must be conflict; and the weaker section of the Union can only find peace and liberty, in an independence of the North. The repeated efforts made by South Carolina in a wise conservatism, to arrest the progress of the general government in its fatal progress to consolidation, have been unsupported, and she has been denounced as faithless to the obligations of the constitution, by the very men and states who were destroying it by their usurpations. It is now too late to reform or restore the government of the United States. All confidence in the North is lost by the South. The faithlessness of the North for a half century, has opened a gulf of separation between the North and the South, which no promises nor engagements can fill.

It cannot be believed that our ancestors would have assented to any Union whatever with the people of the North, if the feelings and opinions now existing amongst them, had existed when the constitution was framed. There was then no tariff—no fanaticism concerning negroes. It was the delegates from New England, who proposed, in the convention which framed the constitution, to the delegates from South Carolina and Georgia, that if they would agree to give Congress the power of regulating commerce by a majority, that they would support the extension of the African slave trade for twenty years. African slavery existed in all the states but one. The idea that the southern states would be made to pay that tribute to their northern confederates, which they had refused to pay to Great Britain, or that the institution of African slavery would be made the grand basis of a sectional organization of the North to rule the South, never crossed the imaginations of our ancestors. The union of the constitution was a union of slaveholding states. It rests on slavery by prescribing a representation in Congress for three-fifths of our slaves. There is nothing in the proceedings of the convention which framed the constitution to show that the southern states would have formed any other Union; and still less, that they would have formed a Union with more powerful non-slaveholding states, having majority in both branches of the legislature of the government. They were guilty of no such folly. Time and the progress of things have totally altered the relations between the northern and southern states, since the Union was established. That identity of feelings, interests and institutions, which once existed, is gone. They are now divided between agricultural and manufacturing and commercial states, between slaveholding and non-slaveholding states. Their institutions and industrial pursuits have made them totally different peoples. That equality in the government between the two sections of the Union which once existed, no longer exists. We but imitate the policy of our fathers in dissolving a union with non-slaveholding confederates, and seeking a confederation with slaveholding states.

Experience has proved that slaveholding states cannot be safe in subjection to non-slaveholding states. Indeed, no people can ever expect to preserve its rights and liberties, unless these be in its own custody. To plunder and oppress, where plunder and oppression can be practiced with impunity, seems to be the natural order of things. The fairest portions of the world elsewhere, have been turned into wildernesses; and the most civilized and prosperous communities have been impoverished and ruined by anti-slavery fanaticism. The people of the North have not left us in doubt as to their designs and policy. United as a section in the late presidential election, they have elected as the exponent of their policy, one who has openly declared that all the states of the United States, must be made free states or slave states. It is true, that amongst those who aided in his election, there are various shades of anti-slavery hostility. But if African slavery in the southern states be the evil their political combination affirms it to be, the requisitions of an inexorable logic must lead them to emancipation. If it is right to preclude or abolish slavery in a territory, why should it be allowed to remain in the states? The one is not at all more unconstitutional than the other, according to the decisions of the supreme court of the United States. And when it is considered that the northern states will soon have the power to make that court what they please, and that the constitution never has been any barrier whatever to their exercise of power, what check can there be in the unrestrained counsels of the North to emancipation? There is sympathy in association which carries men along without principle; but when there is principle, and that principle is fortified by long existing prejudices and feelings, association is omnipotent in party influences. In spite of all disclaimers and professions, there can be but one end by the submission of the South to the rule of a sectional, anti-slavery government at Washington; and that end, directly or indirectly, must be the emancipation of the slaves of the South. The hypocrisy of thirty years, the faithlessness of their whole course from the commencement of our union with them, show that the people of the non-slaveholding North, are not, and cannot be safe associates of the slaveholding South, under a common government. Not only their fanaticism, but their erroneous views of the principles of free governments, render it doubtful whether, if separated from the South, they can maintain a free government amongst themselves. Numbers with them is the great element of free government. A majority is infallible and omnipotent. "The right divine to rule in kings," is only transferred to their majority. The very object of all constitutions, in free popular government, is to restrain the majority. Constitutions, therefore, according to their theory, must be most unrighteous inventions, restricting liberty. None ought to exist; but the body politic ought simply to have a political organization, to bring out and enforce the will of the majority. This theory may be harmless in a small community, having identity of interests and pursuits; but over a vast state—still more over a vast confederacy, having various and conflicting interests and pursuits, it is a remorseless despotism. In resisting it, as applicable to ourselves, we are vindicating the great cause of free government, more important perhaps to the world, than the existence of all the United States. Nor in resisting it, do we intend to depart from the safe instrumentality, the system of government we have established with them requires. In separating from them, we invade no rights, no interest of theirs; we violate no obligation or duty to them. As separate, independent states in convention, we made the constitution of the United States with them; and as separate independent states, each state acting for itself, we adopted it. South Carolina, acting in her sovereign capacity, now thinks proper to secede from the Union. She did not part with her sovereignty in adopting the constitution. The last thing a state can be presumed to have surrendered is her sovereignty—her sovereignty is her life. Nothing but a clear express grant can alienate it—inference is inadmissible—yet it is not at all surprising that those who have construed away all the limitations of the constitution, should also by construction, claim the annihilation of the sovereignty of the states—having abolished all barriers to their omnipotence by their faithless constructions in the operations of the general government, it is most natural that they should endeavor to do the same towards us in the states. The truth is, they having violated the express provisions of the constitution, it is at an end as a compact. It is morally obligatory only on those who choose to accept its perverted terms. South Carolina deeming the compact not only violated in particular features, but virtually abolished by her northern confederates, withdraws herself as a party from its obligations. The right to do so is denied by her northern confederates. They desire to establish a sectional despotism, not only omnipotent in Congress, but omnipotent over the states; and as if to manifest the imperious necessity of our secession, they threaten with the sword to coerce submission to their rule.

Citizens of the slaveholding states of the United States! Circumstances beyond our control, have placed us in the van of the great controversy between the northern and southern states. We would have preferred that other states should have assumed the position we now occupy. Independent ourselves, we disclaim any design or desire, to lead the councils of the other southern states. Providence has cast our lot together, by extending over us an identity of pursuits, interests and institutions. South Carolina desires no destiny separated from yours. To be one of a great slaveholding confederacy, stretching its arms over a territory larger than any power in Europe possesses—with a population four times greater than that of the whole United States when they achieved their independence of the British Empire—with productions, which make our existence more important to the world than that of any other people inhabiting it—with common institutions to defend, and common dangers to encounter—we ask your sympathy and confederation. Whilst constituting a portion of the United States, it has been your statesmanship which has guided it, in its mighty strides to power and expansion. In the field, as in the cabinet, you have led the way to its renown and grandeur. You have loved the Union, in whose service your great statesmen have labored, and your great soldiers have fought and conquered—not for the material benefits it conferred, but with the faith of a generous and devoted chivalry. You have long lingered in hope over the shattered remains of a broken constitution. Compromise after compromise, formed by your concessions, has been trampled under foot by your northern confederates. All fraternity of feeling between the North and the South is lost, or has been converted into hate; and we of the South are at last driven together by the stern destiny which controls the existence of nations. Your bitter experience of the faithlessness and rapacity of your northern confederates, may have been necessary to evolve those great principles of free government, upon which the liberties of the world depend, and to prepare you for the grand mission of vindicating and re-establishing them. We rejoice that other nations should be satisfied with their institutions. Contentment is a great element of happiness, with nations as individuals. We are satisfied with ours; if they prefer a system of industry, in which capital and labor are in perpetual conflict—and chronic starvation keeps down the natural increase of population—and a man is worked out in eight years—and the law ordains that children shall be worked only ten hours a day—and the sabre and bayonet are the instruments of order—be it so. It is their affair, not ours. We prefer, however, our system of industry, by which labor and capital are identified in interest, and capital, therefore, protects labor—by which our population doubles every twenty years—by which starvation is unknown and abundance crowns the land—by which order is preserved by an unpaid police, and many fertile regions of the world, where the white man cannot labor, are brought into usefulness by the labor of the African, and the whole world is blessed by our productions. All we demand of other people is, to be let alone, to work out our own high destinies. United together, and we must be the most independent, as we are among the most important of the nations of the world. United together, and we require no other instrument to conquer peace than our beneficent productions. United together, and we must be a great, free and prosperous people, whose renown must spread throughout the civilized world, and pass down, we trust, to the remotest ages. We ask you to join us in forming a confederacy of slaveholding states.

REPORT AND RESOLUTIONS

From the Committee on Relations with the Slaveholding States, providing for Commissioners to such States..

The committee on "relations with the slaveholding states of North America," beg leave to report that they have carefully considered the three several propositions contained in the resolutions referred to them, which were submitted in convention by three several members from St. Phillip's and St. Michael's. All the resolutions referred to the committee look to the purpose of confederate relations with our sister states of the South, having common interests with us, and every cause, as we trust, to indulge towards us common sympathies and to contract cordial relations. In such a purpose the committee entirely and unanimously concur, and they recommend that every proper measure be adopted to accomplish such an end. Upon this subject so much unanimity prevails, and has long prevailed in this state, that an argument thereupon would be wholly superfluous. All seem to agree that the first step proper to be taken for the purpose of promoting and securing the confederation we seek, is the appointment of commissioners, by the authority of this convention, to such states of the South as may call conventions to consider and determine their future political relations.

The committee advise that such steps be taken by this convention, hoping and believing that our sister states of the South will correctly interpret our action in taking the initiative as arising, by no means, from any presumptuous arrogance, but from the advance position which circumstances have given to this state in the line of procedure for the great design of maintaining the rights, the security and the very existence of the slaveholding South.

It has been a subject of anxious consideration with the committee, whether the commissioners, whose appointment they recommend, should be instructed to tender any basis of a temporary or provisional government to the states to which they may be accredited.

The instrument called the constitution of the United States of America, has been suggested as a suitable and proper basis to be offered for a provisional government.

The suggestion has been commended to the committee by various considerations, which cannot now be set forth in full or at large. Among these are:

That the said instrument was the work of minds of the first order, in strength and accomplishment.

That it was most carefully constructed by comprehensive views and careful examinations of details.

That experience has proved it to be a good form of government for those sufficiently virtuous, intelligent and patriotic to cause it to be fairly and honestly construed and impartially administered.

That the settled opinion of this state has never been adverse to that plan of government of confederate states on account of anything in its structure; but the dissatisfaction is attributable to the false glosses, and dangerous misinterpretation, and perversion of sundry of its provisions, even to the extent, in one particular, of so covering up the real purposes of certain legislation, (meant to protect domestic manufactures in one section), as to estop the supreme court in its opinion, from judicially perceiving the real design.

That it presents a complete scheme of confederation, capable of being speedily put into operation; familiar by long acquaintance with its provisions, and their true import to the people of the South, many of whom are believed to cherish a degree of veneration for it, and would feel safe under it, when in their own hands, for interpretation and administration, especially as the portions that have been, by perversion, made potent for mischief and oppression in the hands of adverse and inimical interests, have received a settled construction by the South. That a speedy confederation by the South is desirable in the highest degree, which, it is supposed, must be temporary at first, (if accomplished as soon as it should be), and no better basis than the constitution of the United States is likely to be suggested or adopted for temporary purposes.

That the opinions of those to whom it is designed to offer it, would be conciliated by the testimony the very act itself would carry, that South Carolina meant to seek no selfish advantage, nor to indulge the least spirit of dictation.

That such form of government is more or less known to Europe, and, if adopted; would indicate abroad that the seceding southern states had the foresight and energy to put into operation forthwith, a scheme of government and administration competent to produce a prompt organization for internal necessities, and a sufficient protection of foreign commerce directed hither, as well as to guarantee foreign powers in the confidence that a new confederacy had immediately arisen, quite adequate to supercede all the evils, internal and external, of a partial or total interregnum.

That its speedy adoption would work happily as a revivifying agency in matters financial and commercial, between the states adopting it, and between them as a united power and foreign commercial nations, and at the same time would combine, without delay, a power touching purse and sword, that might bring to a prudent issue the reflections of those who may perchance be contemplating an invasion, or to an issue disastrous to them, the attempted execution of such unholy design.

Such are some of the considerations, very rapidly stated, which address themselves to this subject. It is contended that some limitation of the power to levy duties, and that to regulate commerce, (and perhaps other provisions of the said constitution), may be desirable, and are in fact so, to some of the committee, yet these modifications may be safely left to a period when the articles of a permanent government may be settled, and that, meantime the constitution referred to will serve the purpose of a temporary confederation, which the committee unite in believing ought to be sought, through all proper measures, most earnestly.

It is also submitted, that if the tender of the said constitution, even as a provisional government, should, in the opinion of the convention, be accompanied by a condition that it be subject to specific limitations, expositions of ambiguities, or modifications, the committee would respectfully refer to the convention itself such matters; and this is done, not because the committee would not willingly consider and report upon such subject, but because they deem it due to the convention and the public interest, that they should now lay before the convention the substantial propositions contained in the following resolutions, which the majority of the committee recommend to the convention as fit to be adopted, viz:

Resolved, First. That this convention do appoint a commissioner to proceed to each of the slaveholding states that may assemble in convention, for the purpose of laying our ordinance of secession before the same, and respectfully inviting their cooperation in the formation with us of a southern confederacy.

Second. That our commissioners aforesaid, be further authorized to submit, on our part, the federal constitution, as the basis of a provisional government for such states as shall have withdrawn from their connection with the government of the United States of America; Provided, That the said provisional government, and the tenures of all officers and appointments arising under it, shall cease and determine in two years from the 1st day of July next, or when a permanent government shall have been organized.

Third. That the said commissioners be authorized to invite the seceding states to meet in convention, at such time and place as may be agreed upon, for the purpose of forming and putting in motion such provisional government, and so that the said provisional government shall be organized and go into effect at the earliest period previous to the 4th day of March, 1861, and that the same convention of seceded states shall proceed forthwith to consider and propose a constitution and plan for a permanent government for such states, which proposed plan shall be referred back to the several state conventions for their adoption or rejection.

Fourth. That eight deputies shall be elected by ballot by this convention, who shall be authorized to meet in convention such deputies as may be appointed by the other slaveholding states who may secede from the Federal Union, for the purpose of carrying into effect the foregoing resolutions; and that it be recommended to the said states that each state be entitled to one vote in the said convention, upon all questions which may be voted upon therein; and that each state send as many deputies as are equal in number to the number of senators and representatives to which it was entitled in the Congress of the United States.
